SOMEONE SNITCHED

Hub Asked To Remove U.N. Flag From Its Pole

The United Nations flag — to some a symbol of international peace and understanding, to others "a rag" which stands for the downfall of the American way of life — no longer flies in San Anselmo.

The blue and white banner was unceremoniously retired this week from the city hall flag pole where it had fluttered below the Stars and Stripes for about a month, a reminder to all of the city council's recent decision to "mundialize."

"Mundialization," as explained by its proponent, Norman B. Leech, executive director of World Federalist Youth-USA, means acknowledgement of world citizenship and responsibility.

(For San Anselmans, it meant flying the U.N. flag along with the American flag and being paired with a sister city chosen from another country.)

The first step toward "mundialization" came to a screeching halt this week when U.N. officials complained that the flag was being improperly flown and insisted that San Anselmo either straighten up and fly right or take down the flag.

In a letter to the city, the officials said they were "pleased to learn" of the council's decision to fly the flag but said it couldn't be flown on the same staff with another flag, in this case, both the American and the California Bear flags.

"It has been brought to our attention that three flags are being flown from the same flag staff in a manner inconsistent with regulations governing the use of the United Nations flag," the letter said.

Citing chapter and verse of the regulation book, the letter said the flag must be on its own staff, be the approximate size of other flags displayed and be flown at the same height.

"The city doesn't have the money budgeted for another flag pole," City Administrator Alfred C. Kaeppel said yesterday, "so it will remain down."

While the flag has been removed, the spirit it represented remains, Kaeppel said, adding the city has no intention of buying another pole.

Meanwhile, Mayor Kenneth L. Anderson, a supporter of mundialization, said a private move is afoot to raise money for another staff. (A pole similar to one already at city hall would cost about $600.)

As to how the U.N. became aware of San Anselmo's erring ways, Kaeppel siad, "Maybe someone snitched on us."

The "snitcher" apparently was Susan M. Tennler, lieutenant governor of the United Republicans of California, who has fought mundialization from the outset.

She acknowledged yesterday that she had sent a telegram to the United Nations "informing them that San Anselmo was in direct violation of regulations for flying the flag."

"And I demanded action," she added firmly.

Mrs. Tennler, who lives in Greenbrae, said she sent the telegram about two weeks ago and at the same time she notified the Department of Justice.

FLAG SHELVED — San Anselmo Fire Chief Francis A. Sousa, charged with the care and keeping of the city's United Nations flag, puts away the banner. The world group asked the city not to fly it on the same pole with the American flag.

EOC Gives Parent Panel Control Of Head Start

By DAVID DIETZ

Directors of Marin's antipoverty agency, climaxing a hearing marked by confusion, contradiction and conflict, voted overwhelmingly last night to turn over operation of the county's Head Start program to a group made up largely of parents.

Effective Sept. 1, responsibility for the preschool project now handling 95 children in Marin City and Novato, will shift from the county schools office to a nonprofit agency known as Marin Head Start Inc., the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council board decided.

The 19-1 vote, with one abstention, followed nearly five hours of discussion before a large crowd of parents, Head Start staff and federal officials in the old San Rafael courthouse annex. Board member Adelaide P. Wilson was the lone dissenter, while Charles A. Brown declined to vote.

Left unresolved by the decision was what space the new group will use to maintain Head Start classes in Marin City and Novato and open a new facility in Fairfax. EOC staff and county schools representatives told the board the schools office has a special lease on Manzanita Center for Marin City Head Start and that the Novato Children's Center couldn't be used because it already is overcrowded with children from other specialized preschool programs operated by the schools office.

The status of Joseph Denhart as Head Start director was left in doubt as well, although he also heads the two other specialized programs run by county schools, state preschool and children's center. Marin Head Start will have power to hire its own director and teaching staff.

Parents were split last night on the timing of the changeover, which was proposed by the Head Start Parent Policy Council. While several council members saw Marin Head Start as a much-needed "grass roots" organization and a "total family program," other parents said the switch should wait until the 1972-73 fiscal year and complained the decision to seek the change was made without involvement of many of the parents.

Because of the objections, EOC board member Chester Villalba proposed a motion to submit the issue to a vote of the parents, but it was rejected, 15-5. Board member Timothy Kelly, expressing the belief that Head Start would be in "good hands" with the parents, said the plebiscite proposal was an "evasion of the duties of this board."

The board was empowered to act on the changeover because it delegates authority to run Head Start and handles federal funding for the project.

In addition to the split among parents, EOC staff and committees differed on the issue and

Red Negotiators Remain Firm On Prisoners, Pullout Deadline

PARIS (UPI)—The Communist delegations to the Paris peace talks clung today to their promise only to "discuss" the release of U.S. prisoners if President Nixon sets an early deadline for U.S. troop withdrawal. In doing so they ignored widespread reports they were ready to be more flexible on the issue.

They also ignored a request by U.S. Ambassador David K.E. Bruce that they clarify "here today" recent hints they may be willing to compromise over some war and peace issues including that of war prisoners.

Some of the rumors were that the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong might release the POWs within 30 days after a troop withdrawal date was set. Both Hanoi negotiator Xuan Thuy and Viet Cong negotiator Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh ignored these reports and repeated previous statements.

Emerging from the 4-1-2-hour session Bruce told newsmen there was "no reponse" to his request for clarification' and there was "no progress" at the talks.

Saigon Ambassador Pham Dang Lam added, "We were able to establish that there is no change in the position of the other side concerning all the problems."

In his prepared speech Thuy said:

"If the U.S. government sets a reasonable deadline for the total withdrawal from South Vietnam of U.S. forces and those of the other foreign countries in the U.S. camp, discussions will be held on the questions of insuring safety for the U.S. withdrawing troops and on the question of releasing captured military men.

"The Nixon administration is unwilling to accept this proposal."

Madame Binh echoed the Hanoi diplomat, although she slightly reworded the standing Viet Cong formula for its demand. She said that in return for a withdrawal deadline, "we are ready to examine (it) immediately with the other parties...so that all the other questions may be discussed as soon as possible, including the liberation of all captured military men..."

Despite the earlier reported remarks of the Hanoi officials today's statements by the Communist negotiators showed no official sign of new flexibility in their long-standing demands in the deadlocked talks.

Bruce coupled his demand with a protest against the recent Communist shelling of Da Nang in South Vietnam, charging it amounted to a new breach of the understanding to refrain from attacks on civilian targets that led to the stoppage of U.S. air raids on North Vietnam in 1969.

Addressing himself to Thuy, Bruce urged him to spell out in detail his position on "statements made by spokesmen from your side to journalists and others outside the framework of these talks."
work of these talks."

Bruce appeared to be referring to an interview in which Thuy hinted the issue of prisoners of war could be solved while the present Saigon regime is still in power if the United States set a deadline for its military pullout, and another interview in which former U.S. Defense Secretary Clark Clifford said the Communists would release the American prisoners if the withdrawal date was set for Dec. 31.

"Some of these statements as reported are unclear and even inconsistent. Some appear to differ from or expand on the position you have put forward to us here," Bruce said.

"We would of course be interested in any confirmation and clarification of these statements which you can provide here today."

Reagan Concedes Defeat On Welfare Reform Bills Drive

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan conceded defeat today in a three-month campaign to push his welfare "reform" bills through a reluctant Democratic-controlled Legislature.

But the governor vowed to continue pitching for some "responsible welfare reform," even if it is not his own.

Reagan's three-bill pet package was killed Wednesday by the Democratic-dominated Senate Health and Welfare Committee.

Then the committee, with Republican backing, approved a separate proposal by its Democratic chairman, Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson of Beverly Hills.

"This is not welfare reform," Reagan charged, referring to the Beilenson bill. "It is a blatant attempt to force a gigantic tax increase on the people."

Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, termed the governor's statement "the most incredibly deceiving and outrageous miscarriage of truth I have ever seen in politics."

The defeat of Reagan's bills did not necessarily spell doom for all of his "reform" proposals. Some can be implemented without legislative consent.

The governor estimates that of the $157 million in state savings his program would generate, about $90 million would come from the legislation and another $67 million from administrative action.

The Reagan administration Wednesday announced adoption of one new welfare regulation designed to prevent 20,000 unemployed parents from being eligible for Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC), at a savings of $39 million.

The defeated bills generally would have required more "family responsibility" in supporting relatives on welfare, reduced the outside income and assets a person can have and still be eligible for welfare, tightened eligibility for aid to the totally disabled, increased the amount counties pay into AFDC but reduced it for other programs, strengthened penalties for fraud, and denied welfare to illegal aliens.

Probably the most controversial feature was a "closed end" maximum AFDC budget. Now there is an "open end" budget, in which the state keeps paying out money no matter how much has been appropriated.

The County Supervisors Association opposed the Reagan bill, largely because it feared the "closed end" budget feature would shift more welfare costs cnto local property taxpayers. Reagan denied this.

Sen. Clair W. Burgener, R-San Diego, sponsor of the governor's legislation, said that although "the actual bills are dead and I don't think they can be revived," he will attempt to amend some "cost controls" into Beilenson's package when it is heard by the senate finance committee.

Without a "closed end" budget or some other "cost controls," Burgener said, Beilenson's bill would result in "a monumental and rather massive tax increase." He said even the present welfare system would be preferable.

Beilenson's bill includes some of Reagan's proposals, but also provides a flat 15 per cent payment increase to all AFDC recipients at a cost of $25.3 million to the state. It also would require the administration to establish a program to employ 25,000 adult recipients, including mothers.

Beilenson said, however, that overall his program would save $9 million in state funds.

This was hotly disputed by Reagan, who read a prepared statement before television cameras declaring that Beilenson's bill "could cost the hard working men and women of this state nearly $1 billion more in federal, state and local taxes."

"I think frankly the governor doesn't know what he's talking about," Beilenson said.

Reagan also said that although the committee "killed this administration's welfare reform program" he would "continue to push for responsible welfare reform which serves the interests of all the people."

Reagan's bills were killed on a split voice vote, with the committee's six Democrats apparently voting "no" and the five Republicans "yes."

Beilenson's proposal was supported by Democrats and at least two Republicans—senators Milton Marks of San Francisco and Peter H. Behr of Mill Valley.

The two Republicans later explained in a joint statement they felt Beilenson's bill was "a proper start" toward breaking the legislature's welfare deadlock and said "partisan politics" must end.

Beilenson's bill was amended with a provision requiring a one-year state residency requirement to become eligible for welfare, but committee members acknowledged they doubted it was constitutional.

Cosmonauts Send Back First Weather Reports

MOSCOW (UPI)—Three Soviet cosmonauts aboard the "flying hotel" Salyut space station sent the first weather reports from a manned scientific station in space today, a milestone toward making earth safer from hurricane and cyclone damage.

"Orbital stations can quickly warn the earth about dangerous weather developments in different parts of the world," the news agency Tass said.

"A meteorologist in space can determine, specifically, the degree of development and direction of cyclones and hurricanes."

Study of atmospheric formations and the earth's snow and ice covers are part of Salyut's flight program, Tass said.

RED CHINA TRADE BARRIER LIFTED

Nixon Nod To Wide-Ranging Exports In Bid To Erase 20 Years' Embargo

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon, in an effort to rebuild contacts with China that were ruptured more than 20 years ago, today authorized U.S. businessmen to export to the Chinese mainland a long list of goods ranging from wheat to roadbuilding equipment.

The action ends a virtual embargo on trade with China, imposed shortly after the Communists took over the mainland in 1949.

Items that may be sold freely to China without specific approval include most farm, fish and forestry products; tobacco; fertilizers; coal; chemicals, including fertilizer; rubber and textiles; some metals; agricultural, industrial and office equipment; household appliances; some electrical appliances; automobiles; consumer goods; roadbuilding equipment, and some relatively unsophisticated computers.

In addition, the President said, items not on the freely exportable list may be shipped provided they are approved by the Commerce Department on a case-by-case basis.

The step was a major one in Nixon's campaign to restore some relations with Communist China. It has less commercial significance, because all non-Communist exports to China in 1969, the last year for which figures are available, totaled only $1.3 billion — the equivalent of about two weeks of average U.S. exports.

The President, in putting wheat, flour, and other grains on the unrestricted list, also lifted controls on the exports of those products to the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe.

When President John F. Kennedy authorized wheat shipments to the Soviet Union in the early 1960's, he imposed special requirements that each sale be approved by the Commerce Department and at least half of the shipments be in U.S.-owned vessels. These are the restrictions that Nixon revoked.

In addition to freeing some export restrictions, Nixon also authorized all imports from China to enter the United States under the same tariff and quota restrictions that apply to goods from most Communist countries.

There has been no indication from China that Peking is prepared to make extensive purchases from the United States.

There had been some speculation that China might want to buy diesel locomotives to modernize its aging and predominantly steam-power railroads. But railroad equipment was not on the list of unrestricted exports.

If China is to buy very much from the United States, she will have to be able to export goods of nearly equivalent value because Chinese currency is not freely convertible. The Chinese would have to earn through exports the hard currency to pay for imports.

China's exports to non-Communist countries have been predominantly food and textile products. Substantial imports of either into the United States could be expected to generate opposition from American farmers and textile mills.

Nixon has been trying for two years to reduce the flow of low-cost clothing from Japan, Taiwan, Hong Kong and Korea. Imports from China could aggravate that problem.

Probably the most important item on the list of permitted exports to China is wheat. The

Egypt Charges U.S. 'Partner' Of Israel

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat bitterly attacked the United States today and accused it of participating in Israeli occupation of Arab land. He said the United States has become a partner in Israel's aggression against the Arab world.

Sadat's speech came shortly after official Israeli sources in Tel Aviv raised the possibility of an unbreakable impasse over efforts to reopen the Suez Canal. There were reports Israel would harden its stance in view of the fact Egypt was not wavering in its position.

Sadat was speaking to the nation in a radio and television broadcast from Cairo and the text of the speech was carried in advance by the Middle East News Agency.

"The continued American military and financial support to Israel, while it occupies our land, amounts to actual American participation in the occupation of our territories and the aggression against the sovereignty of our country," Sadat said.

It was the first time that Sadat had accused Washington of being Israel's "partner" since he became president last October. Political sources said the attack on American Middle East policy reflected Sadat's pessimism over the American political effort to reach a peaceful settlement.

Cairo's semiofficial newspaper Al Ahram said only today that war will be inevitable unless a peaceful solution to the Middle East crisis is found this year.

The Israeli sources said the latest Egyptian policy note to the United States contained no "significant differences" from Cairo's public demands for a limited cease-fire, an Egyptian crossing of the canal and a complete withdrawal from occupied land.

"Israel will continue its contacts with the United States on this subject," the official said. "There is further need for patience and time."

Israeli leaders including Foreign Minister Abba Eban have said the canal issue provides the best, and perhaps only, chance for an agreement between Egypt and Israel in order to head off another war.

Predictions of a stiffening of the Israeli policy dominated the Israeli press today in reaction to Prime Minister Golda Meir's foreign policy speech to the Knesset Wednesday.

Almost without exception the newspapers forecast the government would seek firmer U.S. guarantees on any partial peace now that Egypt has signed a 15-year treaty with Moscow providing for a continuing supply of Soviet arms.

The Cairo reports were equally pessimistic.

'Roll' Before Air Collision Is Told By Crash's Sole Survivor

DUARTE, Calif. (UPI)—One minute before a Marine jet fighter and a commercial airliner collided in flight killing 50 persons near here, the military craft executed a 360-degree roll, the sole survivor of the collision told investigators Wednesday.

Brad Dunbar, spokesman for the National Transportation Safety Board team investigating Sunday's collision, reported that Marine Lt. vpcustopher Schiess, 24, radar officer of the craft who parachuted to safety, said the roll was performed at about 15,500 feet.

Dunbar said Schiess' full statement would not be released. No other details were disclosed.

The collision occurred at about 12,000 feet in a much-traveled air corridor used by commercial flights out of Los Angeles International Airport. The Air West DC9 was being controlled by radar while the Phantom F4 xighter bomber was on a "see and be seen" or visual flight operation.

Maj. Michael Fibisch, public affairs officer at El Toro Marine Air Station where the crashed fighter was based, declined to remark on Schiess' statement.

However, he did say that aerial acrobatics, such as a 360-degree roll, in commercial air corridors are "definitely not" permissible.

Such acrobatics are permissible in some areas such as over the ocean and "outside of any air routes" but "quite a recognized distance away from any trafficked area," he said.

Earlier in the day in a signed statement, a 15-year-old boy said he saw the Marine fighter doing stunts just before it collided with the Air West jetliner.

Jeff Whittington, 15, was one of 60 eyewitnesses to the collision being interviewed by safety team members, whose task is to determine what caused the crash and who was responsible.

Whittington said he and a friend saw the military jet "do a spiral and a loop and disappear behind the ridge where they crashed."

"I saw the left wing of the fighter strike the center of the fuselage of the Air West," he said. "The military jet went straight down."

Efforts to recover bodies of the victims have been hampered by heavy fog at the crash scene —the 3,600 foot level of rugged Mt. Bliss in the San Gabriel mountains 40 miles from Los Angeles.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Imprisoned Priest's Illness Secret

DANBURY, Conn. (UPI) — The Rev. Daniel Berrigan was reported "resting comfortably" at Danbury Hospital today but doctors kept secret the reason for his emergency removal from federal prison.

Berrigan

Berrigan, 49, originally named as a co-conspirator in the alleged kidnap plot against presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger, was rushed from the Danbury federal correctional institution Wednesday after difficulties in the dentist chair.

Warden John Norton said it was "felt advisable to remove Father Berrigan" from the hospital after he complained of having trouble breathing and a high pulse rate.

Hospital doctors said the antiwar priest has been kept under close observation and was "resting comfortably" but declined to reveal their diagnosis of his condition.

Daniel Berrigan was named as a co-conspirator in the case which authorities say his brother Philip, 47, masterminded. A later indictment did not mention Daniel.

Police Strike Fines

NEW YORK (UPI)—City officials, who just weathered a two-day strike by municipal employes, announced Wednesday 21,000 policemen would be fined for their six-day walkout in January.

In addition, the 8,000 city workers who struck Monday and Tuesday will receive notices in their pay Friday that they might be penalized for violating the Taylor Law, the state law prohibiting strikes by public employes.

But New York's public labor problems apparently were not over.

The state's Civil Service Employes Association announced Wednesday 150,000 of its members ranging from hospital employes to racing commission personnel would walk off their jobs next week unless 8,250 persons fired for budgetary reasons were reinstated.

Pilot Voucher Bill For Schools Passes

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly Ways and Means Committee has approved a bill setting up a federally financed pilot program in four elementary school districts to test the voucher system.

Under the plan, parents would receive vouchers equal to the amount spent the preceding year in their district that could be used to finance a student at any private or public school in his home district.

Mercy Mission

CALCUTTA (UPI) — More British air force jets landed today laden with doctors, nurses and millions of doses of anti-cholera vaccine in the struggle to keep the disease from spreading among the 5 million refugees from the war in East Pakistan.

An international mercy airlift brought another half-million doses of the vaccine along with other medical and relief supplies Wednesday.

Cholera has taken at least 4,000 lives so far according to government spokesmen.

Reporter Barred

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The White House denied Judith Martin of the Washington Post press credentials Wednesday to cover the marriage of Tricia Nixon because Miss Martin crashed the 1968 wedding reception for the President's other daughter.

The Washington Post said it would not assign any other reporter to cover the Saturday marriage of Miss Nixon to Edward Finch Cox.

Lye-Limit Ban Set On Drain Cleaners

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration has ordered a ban on liquid drain cleaners containing more than 10 per cent lye. The ban is effective in 60 days unless a manufacturer objects and is granted a delay.

An agency spokesman said most if not all liquid drain cleaners already have been modified to meet the lye limit. The FDA said 271 children accidentally swallowed liquid drain cleaner in the past four years, of which 114 were hospitalized and three died.

Wildlife Die-Off

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) —Scientists checking the carcasses of dead alligators and fish in the murky waters of Lake Apopka predict "the worst is yet to come."

State biologist Fred Waldinger, chairman of the Lake Apopka Restoration Committee, says he expects a massive die-off of shad, a rough fish, as a continuation of a mysterious wildlife kill that began eight weeks ago.

At last 20 dead alligators have washed ashore in the 33,000-acre lake, now known as one of the most polluted in the state but once considered one of the finest sports fishing spots in the country.

Russian Ship Held

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI—A U.S. marshal stood watch aboard a Russian freighter today to keep it in San Francisco bay until a judge acts on a Massachusett lobsterman's $377,055 lawsuit against the Soviet government.

A writ of attachment, issued Wednesday by the U.S. district court clerk, was taped to the helmsman's wheel on the bridge of the 552-foot Suleyman Stalaskiye.

It ordered the freighter to remain docked at the port of Oakland until Federal Judge George B. Harris acts on the damage suit filed by Prelude Corp. of New Bedford, Mass.

"We have left a federal keeper, Maurice Cooney, on board," deputy U.S. Marshal Clifford H. Cline said Wednesday night after handing the ship's skipper, Capt. Anatole Rogachev, a copy of the writ and taping another to the wheel.

"The ship will not sail," the marshal added.

Kennedy Claims Escalation Rein

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says a ceiling voted by the Senate on the number of men who may be drafted during the next two years should prevent President Nixon from again escalating the war in Indochina.

The Senate voted 78 to 4 Wednesday for Kennedy's amendment setting the ceiling. The Massachusetts Democrat said the move "virtually ties the hands of the President to escalate the war in Southeast Asia."

It would be the first such limit set on draft calls in almost three decades.

If it clears congress, the ceiling would restrict the President to drafting no more than 130,000 men during the 12 months beginning July 1, and 140,000 during the following year. It would take an act of congress to change the ceiling.

During the peak Vietnam war years —1966 and 1968 —draft calls were running between 300,000 and 340,000 each year. But they have been falling off and are less than 172,000 for the present year.

The House has passed a two-year draft extension, which the Nixon administration wants, but the House bill contained no limit on how many men may be drafted. The conflict, and others, will be decided in negotiations between the House and Senate.

Opponents of the draft had sought a lower ceiling —160,000 over the next two years —but that proposal was defeated 54 to 25.

Congress has not imposed a ceiling on the draft since 1941. In that year Selective Service laws were passed which gave open-ended draft authority to the White House and subsequent laws have continued the precedent.

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., long-time backer of military interests in Congress, had originally backed an escape clause under which the ceiling would have been lifted in the case of a national emergency.

But Stennis told Kennedy Wednesday he felt the contingency clause was no longer needed because the President could draw from the reserves or offer inducements to volunteers in the event of an emergency.

Police Chief Brands Report 'Hatchet Job'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Police Chief Al Nelder has indignantly denied charges that his officers were sleeping on duty, cadging lunches off restaurants, and strewing girly magazines about station houses.

He labeled a 138-page report on his department by the citizens committee on crime a "hatchet job."

Mayor Joseph Alioto, who named the 28-member committee, complained Wednesday its report was based on two-year-old information, compiled before he appointed Nelder chief last year.

"It is filled with ambiguities and generalizations," Nelder told newsmen. "The qualification and abilities of the staff persons who conducted the committee investigation on the police leave much to be desired."

The report was the eighth by the committee, which previously recommended police stop prosecuting public drunkeness, small gambling operations, and "discreet" prostitution, pornography and homosexuality.

The committee said it "found itself continually shocked by what it saw" during its investigation of the police. The complaints included officers sleeping on duty, eating lunch or dinner as "guests" of restaurants, and slovenly district stations where girly magazines were stren about and discourteous officers wore improper or shabby uniforms.

State Schools Office To Seek School Bond Change

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California should remove from its Constitution the requirement that school bonds win two-thirds majorities at the polls before being approved, in the opinion of state schools chief Wilson Riles.

Riles said he wants the state Board of Education to "set the wheels in motion" for such an amendment after its lawyers study a decision by the U.S. Supreme Court which upheld the legality of the two-thirds rule.

"We would like to put before the people a revision of the constitution to make it a majority," Riles said Wednesday. "We're talking about the next session of the legislature."

The state superintendent of public instruction, disappointed by the decision and by the continued failure of bond issues to win approval, announced he would bring his proposal to the board today.

The high court ruled Monday that it does not violate the U.S. Constitution for states to require, as does California, that more than a majority vote must be won before school bonds can be approved. The decision had the effect of invalidating a California Supreme Court decree voiding the state's two-thirds requirement.

California voters have in recent times been reluctant to approve school bonds.

"The people are saying 'no'" to school bonds, Riles has observed. "but I don't think they're saying 'no' to education. They're saying 'no' to continually relying on the local property tax as a method to finance schools."

He and the state board are supporting legislation to increase state aid to school by $400 million and levy a statewide property tax of $3.75 per $100 of assessed valuation to help poorer districts.

Eventually, Riles has said, he hopes to see schools backed entirely by funds other than property taxes.

Antiwar Protest Lands Captain In Hot Water

LONDON (UPI)—A U.S. Air Force captain who joined with 150 other American servicemen in a Memorial Day protest of U.S. involvement in Indochina has been charged with violation of the military code.

A spokesman said Wednesday the Air Force would begin a full investigation "as soon as practicable" to determine Capt. Thomas Culver's role in the protest at the U.S. embassy.

Culver, a lawyer in the Judge Advocate General's office at Lakenheath Air Base, has been confined to the base since the May 31 war protest.

The servicemen approached the embassy silently in groups of five and six with pages of a letter to an embassy official signed by more than 900 comrades stationed in Britain.

The servicemen wore civilian clothing. Organizers of the action said it was a legal expression of their concern about the war and not a demonstration, which military regulations forbid overseas.

Corona's Attorney Brings Sanity Issue Into Case

YUBA CITY, Calif. (UPI)— The attorney for Juan V. Corona has raised the issue of the man's sanity for the first time since Corona's arrest in the slayings of 25 itinerant farm workers.

Defense attorney Ron Van Den Heuvel said Wednesday he was considering asking for a mental competence hearing for Corona, the 37-year-old farm labor contractor charged with killing 10 of the transients whose bodies were found buried along the Feather River.

The attorney had a psychiatrist, Walter Bromberg of Sacramento, Calif., examine Corona in his jail cell last week. Bromberg was a defense witness in the 1964 trial of Jack Ruby for killing Lee Harvey Oswald, the assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

Van den Heuvel also said he might ask for a continuance of a scheduled June 16 preliminary hearing if he needs more time to examine all the prosecution evidence turned over to him by court order.

Yuba Judicial District Judge John J. Hankins announced the preliminary hearing would be open to the press as long as van den Heuvel had no objection. However, the judge said coverage would be on a pool basis, with only 10 reporters admitted.

Coroner's deputies reported the identification of the 24th body found in the Sullivan ranch peach orchard. A fingerprint check showed he was Sam Bonifide, who had no known address.

Investigators said a ledger seized as evidence at Corona's home contained an entry "Sam Banfiede May 6, 1971." It was the sixth name of a confirmed victim found among the 34 names in the book.

Pair Pleads Guilty To Sit-In Charges

Two men arrested in a May 5 sit-in at the San Rafael office of the U.S. Selective Service pleaded guilty today in Marin Municipal Court to misdemeanor charges of failing to disperse.

Richard Alan Raznikov, 24, and Gary Mathew Bjork, 18, both of San Rafael, had earlier pleaded innocent to the charge, as well as to a charge of wilfully obstructing a public place.

After their pleas, Deputy Dist. Atty. Vernon F. Smith moved that the obstruction charge be dismissed, but Judge David Menary Jr. said he would not act on the motion until Sept. 10.

He also set that date for sentencing of the pair.

Raznikov — a law student and unsuccessful candidate for mayor of San Rafael — and Bjork changed their pleas just prior to the start of a trial for the first group of a total of 33 persons facing similar charges in connection with the sit-in.

Jury selection began today before Judge Peter Allen Smith for the trial of Thomas Louis Oleari, 22, and Bryan Thomas Geddy, 23, both of Fairfax; William Gaston Begelow, 19, of Tiburon, and Lillian Lee Cunningham, 19, of San Rafael.

Mary Blair Willard, 22, of Kentfield, who was scheduled to be tried with this group, was reported hospitalized and will be tried later.

Defense attorney Carl Shapiro estimated the trial will take five days.

Prior to beginning jury selection, Judge Smith heard a discussion of subpoenas served by the defense on several newspapers.

George J. Silvestri Jr., deputy counsel, representing the College of Marin Times, moved to quash Shapiro's bid for all photos taken by the Times staff at the sit-in.

Granting Shapiro's request, Silvestri said, would have "a chilling effect on freedom of the press."

At the request of Independent-Journal attorney Gary T. Giacomini, Shapiro agreed to have quashed a subpoena seeking all I-J coverage of the sit-in and subsequent court actions.

Shapiro reserved the right, however, to serve on the I-J a subpoena demanding all photos of the sit-in taken by the I-J.

Judge Smith said he would settle the question of the subpoenas later.

Two other persons arrested in the sit-in pleaded guilty to the failure to disperse charge last Friday.

Wendi, Anne Kallins, 19, and Wilmar Eugene Frieson, 21, both of Mill Valley, are also to be sentenced Sept. 10.

SPACE

quipped during a "cosmovision" telecast from the 65-foot-long complex.

Tass said the cosmonauts performed medical-biological experiments today and "transmitted their first report on atmospheric processes" to the Soviet weather service.

"The standard of comfort is high here," Tass said. "There are vacuum cleaners, water heaters, devices for warming food, refrigerators —in other words it is a modern flying hotel where even a library of the cosmonauts favorite books is maintained."

The elaborate fittings suggested plans for a relatively long stay by the cosmonauts, who went aboard Salyut Monday from the Soyuz 11 shuttle ship that had carried them aloft one day before.

Also indicating plans for a long stay was the fact that the cosmonauts cut off power to Soyuz 11, which remained docked into the nose of Salyut. Cosmonaut Alexei Yeliseyev, speaking of Moscow television, said that "all the systems of Soyuz 11 are switched off except those necessary to control its status. It receives power from the Salyut."

Soyuz 11 is the cosmonauts' only means of returning to earth.

The Soviets, as usual, gave no advance information on the space station project. But scientific sources predicted that another ship—probably Soyuz 12 —will go aloft to deliver a relief crew within a week or two.

The sources said Salyut can handle more than one ship at a time and a space colony may be put together with Salyut as its base. Eventually, they said, the Soviets will build permanent orbital structures housing large crews, a virtual "cosmograd," or space city.

The current project however, was intended basically as a test for the Salyut, the prototype Soviet space station.

"The chief task in the present flight is to master the station, to answer questions of importance for the designers of Salyut," space scientist Boris Raushchenbakh said in a Tass interview.

"This is the first time the station has been 'tried on'," he said. "We hope it will be adequate for space exploration in earth orbit.

Another Inmate Fails To Return

A San Quentin inmate who went looking for a job yesterday failed to return to the prison last night, Associate Warden James W. L. Park said today.

Thomas W. Friske, 28, who had been in San Quentin since 1968 for second degree robbery, was on the work furlough program, Park said. He was looking for a job so that he would be working when paroled on Aug. 9.

Friske was described as five feet six inches tall, slender build, weighing 126 pounds with blond hair, blue eyes and ruddy complexion. He has a snake tattooed on his left forearm.

Director Hurt In Cycle Crash

PARIS (UPI)—French film director Jean-Luc Godard today was in the intensive care unit of Laennec Hospital, seriously injured in a motorcycle accident.

The 41-year-old Godard underwent two hours of surgery late Wednesday. Doctors later described his condition as "satisfactory." They said he would remain under intensive care for at least 48 hours.

Godard was a passenger on the motorcycle which hit a small truck at an intersection in the center of Paris. Godard and Christine Marcelier, 26, who was driving, were thrown under a bus. Fireman needed 15 minutes to extricate them.

TRADE

Chinese have bought substantial amounts of the grain in recent years, primarily from Canada.

Also on the list for exports is construction equipment, which some opponents of liberalized trade with China, mainly in the Defense Department, had opposed on grounds it could be used by China to aid North Vietnam's war efforts.

The White House said the items released from trade controls were recommended by the National Security Council's committee of departmental undersecretaries.

Other goods for unrestricted sale to China included:

Manufactured fertilizers except those closely related to explosives; wood, lumber and cork; paper and pulp; textile yarns; medicine and drugs; most common metals; office machines such as typewriters, checkwriters, adding machines and duplicators; computers of the low-grade analog and digital types.

Machinery for textiles, papermaking printing, food processing and glassmaking; power-operated non-electric hand tools; electrical equipment in general use such as generators, transformers, circuit breakers, storage batteries, and telephone equipment; home-type radio and television receivers, refrigerators, freezers, water heaters and washing machines; passenger cars and motorcycles; toilets and other plumbing equipment; watches and clocks and air conditioning equipment.

The administration took the new trade tack in the face of charges it was using an "Alice in Wonderland approach" to diplomacy.

Administration officials cautioned Nixon's announcement on liberalizing trade restrictions was unlikely to result in any dramatic forward surge in commerce. They said it may be several years before a clear trend is evident.

The officials freely admitted the easing of trade restrictions was largely a symbolic effort at this stage.

Trade was unlikely to surge forward immediately for two reasons, the officials said:

—The Communist Chinese have been silent about trading with the United States. This contrasts with relatively frequent complaints from Moscow that the United States has followed a restrictive trading policy toward the Soviet Union.

—The goods which Communist China might export to the United States are limited. Before the 20-year-old trade embargo came into force, American businessmen bought hog bristles in China for paint brushes, tung oil which is useful for certain types of paint, and artistic handicrafts. The market for such items in the United States today is small.

Informational Police Sessions

The Belvedere Police Department has begun a series of informational meetings at residents' homes aimed at acquainting the community with its police force and with methods of crime prevention.

Chief John W. Jaeger said he attended a three-hour session last night at the home of Robert Moe, 9 North Point Circle, and spoke to some 19 residents of the neighborhood on how to prevent burglaries while they are on vacation.

The chief said he hopes to hold a series of such informal, unstructured meetings at which residents may discuss law enforcement and crime prevention with him and other members of the department.

START

Head Start staff reported it had voted 16-6 against Marin Head Start taking over this fall.

Stanley Friese, deputy superintendent for county schools, told the board he believed his office was better equipped to handle Head Start, but noted there was the belief among school officials that the program ultimately should be removed from his office.

Friese also said severing Head Start from the other two preschool programs would adversely affect all three because of a wide range of resources the county schools office was able to muster for the programs.

Leading spokesman for the transfer was Donna Abrams of Larkspur, chairman of the parent policy council. "We feel, who knows more about education than the parents themselves?" she said. "This is one of the few examples where low income people are not only served by the structure around them, but administer it."

Marin Head Start has proposed few major changes in the county's current operation, except for the opening of Fairfax classes. Its budget would be slightly less than the county's $146,000 spending program.

Parents would occupy most seats on the board of the new agency, with the rest taken by "community resource people." Nathaniel Johnson, president of the Sausalito School District board, and Wallace K. Shepherd, executive director of the Marin County Housing Authority and Redevelopment Agency, have indicated a willingness to sit as "resource" members.

The new group's bid for control of Head Start was sparked by 1970 federal guidelines which require parents to take a policy-making role in Head Start, rather than just an advisory one. In effect, the guidelines give parents control over hiring, but Friese told the board the county schools office could not delegate such authority under the state education code.

When differences over program operation grew, the parent policy council went to the EOC to seek a change.

Convicted GIs Back To Germany

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Army said today it will send back to Germany two black soldiers, convicted of attempted rape by a German court, who escaped to the United States and turned themselves in to the Pentagon.

The Army said it was taking the action because the federal Supreme Court in Germany denied their appeal of a threeyear prison sentence.

An Army spokesman said Pfc. Nathaniel Holmes Jr., 22, and Pfc. Bernard Tucker, 21, have been placed in custody at Ft. McNair in Washington and will be flown to Germany Friday.

Water Bonds Sold

Marin Municipal Water District directors yesterday awarded the sale of $4.5 million in bonds to Wells Fargo Bank with a low average interest rate bid of 5.46365 per cent.

The bonds are part of a total $11.5 million package approved by voters in November for improvements to district systems.

Cost of the Wells Fargo bid will be $4,701,470 at interest rates of 6.5 per cent from 1972-76; 5.5 per cent from 1977-81; 5 per cent from 1982-85; 5.25 per cent from 1986-88; 5.3 per cent in 1989; 5.4 per cent for 1990-91; 5.5 per cent for 1992-93 and 5.6 per cent from 1994-97.

Other bidders and their average net interest rates were United California Bank, 5.4775 per cent; Bank of America, 5.4790 per cent; Morgan Guaranty Trust Co., 5.5533 per cent and Security Pacific National Bank, 5.6403 per cent.

The bonds are part of a proposed $21,553,600 district improvement program which is expected to be completed in 10 years.

Bonds will be repaid through future district revenue without a tax levy and without an additional increase in water rates, according to Stone and Youngberg, the district's financial consultants.

Marin Municipal Water District also:

OUT TO BID — Approved specifications for improvement work in the Ross-San Anselmo area and put the project out to bid. Bids will be returned at 9 a.m. July 13. Estimate of cost is $250,000.

METERS — Awarded bid for displacement meters to Rockwell Manufacturing Co. with a second low bid of $57,648 and for compound meters: two-inch, Rockwell, $7,569; three-inch, Hersey-Sparling Meter Co., $2,850 and four-inch, Hersey-Sparling, $952. Low bid of $57,628 by Singer-American Meter Controls was rejected on recommendation by staff that the Rockwell meter was the better product.

THROWN OUT — Threw out nine bids for the Sausalito area bond program when the two low bidders found mistakes in computation which would increase the cost; project will be rebid.

PLANT ENLARGEMENT — Received plans for enlarging the San Geronimo water treatment plant to provide for 32 million gallons per day. The plant now provides about 20 million gallons per day. Project cost is estimated at approximately $1.2 million. Staff will review plans and report back to the board.

HEARING — Set a public hearing on alternate methods for sludge disposal at the Bon Tempe treatment plant for 8 p.m. July 14. The board received a report on five methods by Kennedy Engineers of San Francisco. They recommended construction of sludge drying beds in the vicinity of the plant as the best method at the lowest cost. Staff will study the plans and report back to the board.

MEETING — Changed its next meeting date from June 23 to June 30.

Paraplegic Killed By Electric Cord

GILROY (UPI) — A paraplegic died when his body became intertwined with an electric cord. Officials of the Driftwood Convalescent home said that was what caused the death of Isidro Misquez, 54, Tuesday night.

A nurses' aide, Yvonne Mayberry, tried to save the victim. She received a shock, but suffered no serious injury.

District Contributes To Aqueduct

Marin Municipal Water District directors yesterday voted to contribute $250,000 toward purchasing land rights on the Russian River for the proposed Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct.

Because the other two districts involved — Sonoma Water Agency and North Marin Water District — are going ahead with the $47.7 million project with or without the Marin district, directors must keep up with their share of current expenses in order to keep the door open to joining the project if and when a method of financing is approved.

Directors voted unanimously to spend the money, which will be taken from district surplus funds, as the district's share of the anticipated $500,000 cost of acquiring rights-of-way on the west bank of the Russian River between Mirabel Park and Wohler Bridge.

A saving clause was added to the joint powers agreement between the three districts, however, that would enable the Marin district to recover either their share of funds spent to acquire the land (about $125,000) or the equivalent amount in property in case the proposed financing is denied. (The other $125,000 will be spent for title reports, appraisals and legal fees.)

Without that clause, the Marin district could lose the entire $250,000 if one of three possible methods of financing the district's $21.6 million share of the project cost is not approved.

Two of the possibilities are pending in the Legislature now: one bill would allow the district to borrow its share of the cost from the Sonoma Agency and then repay the agency from anticipated revenue over 20 or 30 years.

The second — proposed in case the first bill is rejected — would permit creation of a master agency over the three water districts.

The board recently endorsed both bills, introduced by Assemblymen Frank P. Belotti, R-Eureka, and Carley V. Porter, D-Los Angeles, in order to "keep the back door open" in case voters turn down the request for funds in november, which is the third possible method of financing the project.

However, Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, has proposed an amendment to the bills that would require voter approval before either method could be utilized.

If one or both of the bills is passed with the amendment, directors would not know until November whether or not the project's financing would be approved by voters.

The joint powers agreement now will have to be approved, with the proposed clause, by the other two water districts. Both previously had signed the agreement.

College Board Endorses North Campus Cluster

The Marin Community College District board has endorsed a proposal that the north campus be three colleges in one.

According to Dr. Ernest H. Berg, president of the proposed campus, the board also authorized creating a North Campus Council of teachers, students and nonteaching employees to aid him in developing the concept.

The intercollege or cluster concept supported by the board Tuesday was one of 10 presented by Berg.

The separate schools of study would deal with social-economic studies, creative studies and physical-natural science studies, he said.

A breakdown shows business, social and behavorial science subjects under social-economic studies; English, speech, drama, art, music, philosophy and like subjects under creative studies, and geology, biology, chemistry, physics and like subjects under physical and natural science studies.

Each school of study would also offer its own course of general education subjects designed to meet the needs of its students, Berg said.

Further, each school would have an integrated vocational education program related to its fields of study thus doing away with a separate vocation education program.

"I'm excited about it," said Berg. "It's a unique plan that has not been tried before to my knowledge."

On related matters, Berg said he told the board the north campus must be named soon in order to apply for accreditation.

Such accreditation is needed, he said, if the campus is to open in July on an interim basis as proposed.

The board will take up the matter of a name at a later date. At its last meeting it authorized the college to open — without facilities — on an interim basis using existing evening classes in the Novato area as a nucleus. Facilities are due to open in 1974.

IN A MEDIEVAL MARKET

Miller Creek students can set up shop just about anywhere. Bartering for candles in this hollow tree was just one of their experiences during a Medieval Fair yesterday at the San Rafael school. The fair, produced by five social studies classes, culminated the students study of the Renaissance. Each child made a project for the occasion and many came in original costumes.

$2,865 Added To Budget

San Rafael city councilmen, attempting to prune budgets of three city departments last night, instead wound up adding $2,865 to the total.

The session with heads of library, police and planning departments still left the fiscal 1971-72 budget $19,095 below the total of $4,801,970 proposed by City Mgr. James H. McCown, who had forecast a 3.7-cent tax increase to finance it.

Yet to be reviewed are budgets of parks and recreation department, city treasurer, clerk, attorney, finance officer, and miscellaneous, all of which are to be taken up next Tuesday beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Also yet awaiting action is the capital improvements budget, not included in the $4,801,970 total.

The council sliced $4,729 from the library budget recommended by the city manager, setting it at $186,130 — just about the amount the 12-cent library tax levied last year will raise on the new assessment ratio. Last year, more was spent for the library than raised by its special tax levy.

The reduction was principally in an item for preliminary architectural design for library expansion, as prelude to a possible bond issue. The library board had asked $7,000, on advice of its consultant. Mayor C. Paul Bettini and Councilman Fred E. Jensen noted preliminary plans for the proposed city recreation center (for which a bond issue was defeated last June) had cost only $1,500, so sliced the amount to $3,000.

A $12,000 item for installing rest rooms in the library had been deleted by the city manager, to be included instead in the capital improvements budget.

The council made a series of deletions and additions to the police budget. It would up at $1,036,922, or $15,415 above the city manager's recommendation, by addition of one man in the juvenile and two in the patrol division, as requested by Police Chief Joseph J. Brusatori.

The addition in the juvenile division, Brusatori said, is needed because Sgt. Gerald Green is devoting a major share of time to his work as community relations officer. The additional patrolmen will make possible manning five beats constantly, and putting a uniformed officer on the marine patrol on week ends instead of depending on volunteer help for that activity.

Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner made a long plea for addition of a planning technician and a secretary in his department. He got the secretary. Councilmen John A. Miskimen and Lawrence J. Mulryan leaned toward giving him the technician instead, but Mayor Bettini and Councilmen Jensen and Harry A. Barbier agreed that by adding the secretary, he could free Asst. Planner Joan Castrillion from much routine work that now takes up her time.

City Manager McCown had recommended the secretary only. His $96,323 total for the department was raised to $98,323 by providing more money for purchase of materials needed for updating the city general plan and qualifying for federal subventions.

Assistant Chief For Police Dept.

Thomas L. Stephenson soon will become assistant chief of the San Rafael Police Department, filling a post vacant since Joseph J. Brusatori was elevated to chief on the retirement of Charles J. Chiesa.

Lincoln M. Borba will step up from lieutenant to captain in charge of the patrol division on Stephenson's promotion.

Filling the assistant chief position was urged by Mayor C. Paul Bettini and agreed to by all other city council members during review last night of the police department's budget for next fiscal year. When the mayor asked Chief Brusatori if he had men in mind for the promotions, he promptly replied that Stephenson, now captain, would become the assistant chief and Borba, first on the list in a promotional exam for captaincy two years ago, would step up to captain.

San Rafael police also will get their own mounted patrol, patterned after the Marin Sheriff's Mounted Patrol, city councilmen agreed.

Four members of the department, headed by Lt. James W. Carlton, asked authorization for the patrol. Police Chief Brusatori said eight horsemen outside the department already are eager to join.

The patrol will have a publicity and ritualistic function, appearing in parades and at public events. Members will provide their own horses, saddles, and uniforms. The council agreed the city will provide $350 to cover United States, California and San Rafael flags to be carried in the public appearances of the group.

Nixon Cousin Says She Hasn't Received A Reply

Kathy Timberlake, 24-year-old dropout who has been existing in Cotati on meager welfare handouts, said yesterday that she has not received a reply to the letter she wrote her second cousin, President Nixon.

Although she has not had an answer to her plea for help, Miss Timberlake said she is sure the president received her airmail letter which was marked "family-personal."

"Possibly a letter to the welfare people would help my existence. Maybe you can help me; it's not too much to ask," she had written.

After sending copies of the letters to newspapers, Miss Timberlake sought refuge temporarily in the Sonoma County Community Mental Health Center.

During the onslaught of reporters on Miss Timberlake's tiny apartment, her roommate moved out. Yesterday, however, her sister, Kerry, 19, who had been living in San Rafael, moved in.

"Kathy is really desperate," Kerry said. "She doesn't want to die . . . I'm certain about that but she is really depressed about her situation."

Kathy receives $27 a month in county aid but she is seeking aid for the totally disabled. "After months of trying, I finally obtained an appointment with a psychiatrist for next week," she said yesterday.

"He will submit a report and then it's just a matter of them deciding whether I'm eligible for aid."

Body Of Man Is Found In Park

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK (UPI)—The body of an adult male was discovered in the Merced River near the Cascades in Yosemite National Park Wednesday afternoon.

Park officials said the body was clad only in cutoff levis and had been in the water several weeks. It was discovered by a passing bicyclist.

Rangers said they knew of no missing persons fitting the description of the victim. The body was taken to Merced where an attempt was made to establish identification.

Reclaimed Glass

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—More than 50 million glass bottles and jars have been reclaimed during the first year of operation of the Southern California Glass Reclamation Program.

Budget Approved By Water Panel

The Petaluma Water Commission yesterday approved a fiscal 1971-72 budget of $509,680 for an increase of $42,039 over 1970-71.

The budget included purchase of water, $188,306; department administration and general costs, $126,905; well pumping, $18,397; water treatment, $15,111; transmission and distribution, $96,966, and customer records, $63,995.

The largest increase of $26,684 came in the cost of materials, supplies and construction services.

The budget proposal has been approved by City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer and will be considered later this month by the city council.

Refund Offered On Lockheed Airbus Orders

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said today the McDonnell-Douglas Corp. has offered to reimburse the $200 million loss three U.S. airlines would suffer if Congress allows Lockheed to go bankrupt.

The airlines—Trans World, Eastern and Delta—would lose down payment money they have given Lockheed for its Tristar jumbo jet if the aircraft manufacturer went bankrupt.

At a hearing of the Senate Banking Committee, Proxmire said he understood that McDonnell-Douglas would give the airlines a refund if they buy McDonnell-Douglas' DC10 in place of the Lockheed Airbus.

Aquaduct Hearing June 23

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Proposed legislation which would make the Marin Municipal Water District's share of the Sonoma-Marin Aquaduct subject to voter approval will be considered on June 23.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, has proposed amendments to two bills by Assemblyman Frank P. Belotti, R-Eureka, in order to have an election on the district's share of the $47.7 million aquaduct.

Bagley said yesterday that his amendments met with Belotti's approval but that a hearing on the bills and the amendments had been postponed while the legal language is worked out.

Bagley's amendments as proposed might contradict a section of the California constitution, according to advice from legislative counsel.

Bagley said that he and Belotti would work out amendments that would be in accord with the Constitution so that the water district may go to the voters with the proposal.

He said the law may at present forbid district directors from holding a referendum.

One of the bills (AB 2433) would allow the district to borrow from the Sonoma County Water Agency and then pay off from revenues. The other (AB 2422) would create a Marin-Sonoma Master Water Agency.

Popsicle Price War In Capital

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Tourists padding the steamy sidewalks among the memorials and monuments in Washington these days are in for an extra treat: a popsicle price war.

Price cutting among the street vendors has driven prices down to old-fashioned levels. A big chocolate ice cream sandwich which used to sell for 25 cents is down to a dime, as are most other ice cream bars, popsicles and the like.

It all started when some independent vendors moved in on territory that pretty much had been exclusive to one company. The original vendors sliced their prices and the intruders matched them.

Ceilidh (Celebration) To Aid Scotland Trip

Money for trips to Scotland by College of Marin thespians and the Prince Charles Pipe Band will be raised by a "ceilidh" at the college June 19 and 20.

Ceilidh, pronounced "kaylee," is a Gaelic word meaning "a gathering of friends and neighbors; a house party or special celebration, a night of Scottish music, songs and dancing."

The Kentfield ceilidh, to be presented in the college's fine arts theater at 8:30 p.m. June 19 and 20, will feature the music, songs and dancing.

Featured performer will be folk singer Pat Foster, who will present Scottish selections from his large repertoire of folk music.

Also featured will be balladeer Connie Ayers, who appeared recently at the Dominican College folk music festival in San Rafael.

The Royal Scottish Country Dancers of Marin will appear in dances of the "crofters" and the "lairs and ladies." And the prize-winning Prince Charles Pipe Band will offer its own music of the highlands and its own dancers.

Money raised will be split between the College of Marin Drama Department and the Prince Charles Pipe Band. The drama department will take its westernized version of Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew" to the Edinburgh Festival in August. The pipe band is building up a fund for its 75 pipers, drummers and dancers to travel to Scotland in 1973 to participate in the world champion Highland Games.

Tickets are on sale at the college bookstore and by pipe band members, and will be sold at the door.

Rana Catesbeiana? Yes, Jumping Contest July 3

Marin Residents with theories on what makes a frog jumpy — be it strict training, a special diet or the proper upbringing — will get a chance to test them out in a frog-jumping contest July 3 in Mill Valley.

Raw material for the contest — Rana Catesbeiana, or the common bullfrog — will be available for the catching in Warner Creek in Boyle Park, where live frogs will be released on the three Saturdays before July 3, beginning Saturday at noon.

Those unwilling or unable to go frog-hunting may buy one by sending $1 to Frogs Unlimited, 210 Melrose Avenue, Mill Valley, including name and telephone number.

Entry blanks for the pioneer frog jump are available at the Mill Valley Community Recreation Center, 180 Camino Alto, Mill Valley. First, second and third prizes will be awarded.

4-H Award Rite Set For Tuesday

Between 300 and 400 youngsters who have participated in 4-H programs this year will gather at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the San Rafael High School auditorium for an awards ceremony.

In addition to awards for leadership and citizenship, there will be recognition for outstanding achievement in projects ranging all the way from automotive, beef, bees and breadmaking through sheep, swine veterinary science and woodwork.

There also will be four "all-star" awards for youngsters judged the most outstanding 4-H members this year in the county.

There are 4-H clubs not only in rural areas of the county but also in urban areas for youngsters from 9 to 19 years old, according to 4-H leaders.

Jamboree Scouts To Plan Trip

Preparations for the 13th International World Boy Scout Jamboree will be made Saturday and Sunday by 36 Marin scouts and four scoutmasters at Tamorancho above Fairfax.

They are organizing troop No. 1243 for the jamboree which will be held on the south slopes of Mount Fujiyama in Japan, starting July 31.

The scouts, who are strangers to each other, will learn how to set up camp and work together in preparation for the nine-day jamboree. Scoutmaster Robert A. Joy will show the boys what they should do when they reach Japan.

The boys will also receive instructions on cooking and camping in Japan. They will receive instructions on what to do when they tour Japan for 11 days following the jamboree.

Suez Canal Bill To Aid Reopening

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Reps. William Moorhead, D-Pa., and William Broomfield, R-Mich., would like to see U.S. counterpart funds used to help clear the Suez Canal when, and if, the international waterway is reopened.

In a letter to Secretary of State William P. Rogers, Moorhead and Broomfield pointed out today that the United States holds more than $262 million in Egyptian pounds, money that can be spent only in Egypt and only on specified projects.

They have introduced legislation authorizing the President to utilize the money for clearing of the canal should Egypt and Israel reach agreement on reopening it.

DAPPER DRAGON

Marin Terrace School students Evri Kwong, 8, Craig Martin, 9, Cornelia Cuikl, 8 and Denise Daniels, 8, put the finishing touches on their celebrity dragon. This prehistoric paper mache character starred in "The Captured Cats" a play written by second and third graders at the Mill Valley School. Assisted by teachers Robert Friedman and Joyce Gustafon, the students built the seven-foot-tall, 18-foot-long animal as part of a creative drama project.

Big Slice For Streets Sought

The emphasis is on street projects in the proposed $843,365 capital improvement program for Novato 1971-72.

City Mgr. Charles A. Brown has presented a preliminary budget containing $697,365 for public works and $146,000 for parks and recreation development.

Park and recreation commissioners had proposed a five-year $1 million program financed by an override tax rate of 30 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

In his budget, Brown said the city didn't yet have the tax base to support the proposed long range program and "it became clear the city council cannot justify the additional burden on taxpayer at the present time."

He proposed that when the city has a "sizeable tax base," there be a $2.5 million bond proposal for street projects and a $1 million bond proposal for parks and recreation.

The five major public works projects proposed are;

Ignacio Connection — Extension of Ignacio Boulevard from Montura Way across San Jose Creek to San Jose Boulevard and reconstruction of the divided portion of San Jose Boulevard through Rafael Village, $134,960.

Novato Boulevard Intersection — Widening, channeling and installing signals at Novato Boulevard and Diablo Avenue, widening and channeling South Novato Boulevard at Yukon Way, straightening the curve on South Novato Boulevard, south of Stone Drive and widening and channeling at Stone Drive, $90,000

Center Road — Reconstruction of Center Road from Lu Sutton School to Wilson Avenue, $90,000.

Resurfacing — Completion of the street resurfacing program, $133,000.

Freeway Work — Realignment of San Marin Drive and drainage on Reichert Avenue as part of the Highway 101 bypass project, $65,100.

Minor projects include reconstruction of Tamalpais Avenue from Center Road to Novato Boulevard and replacement of Warner Creek Bridge, $38,000, and reconstruction of Bugeia Lane, $50,000.

The proposed capital improvements program for parks and recreation calls for further development at Pioneer Memorial Park, totaling $40,000. Proposed are completion of electrical work, a tot lot including irrigation and turfing and an apparatus area.

Other proposed expenditures are Novato Creek demonstration project along Novato Creek, west of Tamalpais Avenue, $36,000; San Marin Park land acquisition and site preparation, $40,000; Novato Creek Park, $15,000; development at Marion and Olive Schools playgrounds, $10,000, and development of paths, irrigation and play area at San Marin Highlands, $4,000.

Park-Rec Board Calls For Land Purchase Help

The Marin County Park and Recreation Commission voted yesterday to ask the board of supervisors for help on long-range financing for land acquisition and department projects.

The decision came after Deputy County Counsel Thomas G. Hendricks dashed the commission's hopes of seeking voters' approval for a long-term override tax for parks and recreation. Commission chairman Albert Boros explained he and other commissioners gained an impression such a special tax vote might be possible, at a joint meeting May 25 with the supervisors.

"My response has to be negative," Hendricks explained. He said the law permits county supervisors to levy a special tax for recreation —subject to revocation the next year or by later boards — or a bond election could be held. Another alternative would be formation of a regional parks district with taxing powers, he said.

Urged by Boros and Commissioner Polly Smith to act quickly, the commission unanimously instructed Pierre W. Joske, parks and recreation director, to write the supervisors for aid before the start of budget discussions next week.

The Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission also:

OPEN SPACE — After receiving a brief explanation of the county planning department's draft of an open space plan, agreed that it will increase the need to update the county parks and recreation master plan.

DEER PARK — Approved amending its agreement with the Fairfax School District, to include additional Marin Municipal Water District land in the area to be jointly developed as park and playground area for Deer Park School.

WELFARE — Heard Joske report that the county administrator's office had asked whether he could use 130 to 180 welfare recipients as full-time park crewmen, at no expense to the parks department.

BALTIMORE CANYON — Heard Joske report that negotiations were progressing for a hiking trail right-of-way through the Kent property, and may be possible for the Tiscornia property.

JOINT SESSION — Learned that the commission will meet with the Marin County Planning Commission at 9:15 a.m. June 28.

NORTH MARIN TRAILS — Decided to inspect on its next field trip, site of the proposed trail from Marinwood to Novato. George Barnwell, chairman of the Novato Trails Council, wrote requesting addition of an equestrian trail parallel to the bike-hiking trail already included in the 1971-72 proposed budget.

SOUTH MARIN TRAIL — At the request of Elizabeth Terwilliger of Mill Valley, instructed Joske to check with Corte Madera officials on the possibility of a bicycle trail from Mill Valley to the vicinity of Marin Joe's.

PHOENIX LAKE — Delayed action on Mrs. Terwilliger's request for commission support in her campaign to win Marin Municipal Utility District relaxation of the rule requiring $500,000 in insurance for any group seeking to use canoes or rowboats on the lake.

DUCKS — Declined to support Mrs. Terwilliger's proposal that a peninsula jutting into the Civic Center lagoon be made into an island so ducks could nest unmolested by persons, dogs or raccoons. The area is earmarked for county fair use, Joske reported.

BRIDGE — Unanimously voted support in principal for Mrs. Terwilliger's campaign to persuade the national Park Service to put an inexpensive footbridge across Redwood Creek, on the Dipsea Trail on the fringes of Muir Woods.

WEST MARIN — Referred to its trails committee a letter from the Inverness Improvement Association calling for paving the shoulders of all Point Reyes National Seashore roads for bicycle paths.

McNEARS BEACH — Was told by Joske that the concession at the county park will be ready to open Saturday.

WINDFALL — Heard a report by Raymond H. Nesbitt, executive officer of the State Wildlife Conservation Board, that a one-time "windfall" makes the outlook bright for any land and waterways acquisition grants the Marin commission may request for fiscal 1971-72.

Canoe Course Offered Soon

La Tercera Park Plan To Council

Peliminary plans for the development of LaTercera Park were approved yesterday by the Petaluma Recreation, Music and Parks Commission.

The plans were submitted by Donald Campbell, a landscape architect and member of the Petaluma Valley Homeowners Association, at no cost to the city.

Commission secretary Lana Sutton said the plans for the park adjacent to La Tercera School include a picnic area, separate play facilities for preschool and elementary-aged youngsters, an open space free play area and a horseshoe court.

The commission forwarded the plans to the city council with a recommendation for acceptance.

In other action, the commission agreed to permit the Petaluma Swim Club to use the municipal swim center from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. on weekdays. Mrs. Sutton said time had previously been set aside for family swimming, but that attendance has been low. She said family swimming could be changed to 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Army Man Found Guilty Of Graft

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (UPI)— M. Sgt. William E. Higdon was found guilty today on a count of larceny and another of graft in connection with irregularities in the operation of a servicemen's club in Vietnam.

A court-martial panel of five officers convicted Higdon of accepting a $7,200 payment from Envoy International, representing the Leggitt & Myers Tobacco Co., and of accepting a $723 payment for monthly invoices from International Consultants, a refrigeration firm which had a contract with Higdon's club.

He was found innocent of charges he accepted a $5,000 check in return for awarding the contract and innocent on a general allegation he took $20,000 in other kickbacks.

The panel, which deliberated from 10:15 a.m. Wednesday until 10:40 a.m. today, returned to the discussion of the penalties against Higdon after announcing its verdict.

More Yanks Than Europeans To Canada

OTTAWA (UPI)—A sharp decline in the number of emigrants from Great Britain and Europe in the first quarter of 1971 left the Unived States as the prime source of emigrants to Canada.

Figures released Wednesday by the Department of Manpower and Immigration showed a total of 27,889 persons immigrated to Canada during the first three months of 1971, a drop of 2,884 from the same period last year.

Reagan Tightening The Welfare Rolls

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Reagan administration pressed ahead unilaterally today with a proposal to block the welfare rolls to an estimated 20,000 unemployed parents at a cost savings of $39 million a year.

State Social Welfare Director Robert B. Carleson announced adoption of a new regulation tightening up eligibility requirements for unemployed parents in the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program.

The new regulation, to take effect July 1 as part of Gov. Ronald Reagan's welfare "reform" program, stipulates that a man can work up to 30 hours a week and still be classified as "unemployed" for welfare purposes. Previously, he could work 35 hours. Approximately 3,900 families would be affected.

(The impact on Marin County welfare rolls cannot be determined until the department of public social services receives details of the state rules changes from Sacramento, said Asst. Director Don Sanford, calling portions of newspaper reports "ambiguous."

(Sanfod said customary hearings on such rules changes have neither been held nor announced by the state welfare director. However, he said, the county was expecting to receive agendas for two such hearings today or tomorrow. The hearings are set for June 17 and 22, Sanford said.)

Another provision, to become effective Jan. 1, will require that any parent receiving or eligible for unemployment insurance benefits no longer will be eligible for AFDC payments.

The department said this feature is expected to affect 13,500 cases each year by dropping unemployed parents from AFDC or preventing them from coming onto the rolls in the first place.

A spokesman said latest figures available show there were 71,524 unemployed parent cases receiving AFDC in March.

The new regulation, some features of which conform California to federal requirements, also require that an unemployed parent to be eligible for AFDC must be jobless for 30 consecutive days before getting aid. This would affect approximately 2,700 cases.

Additionally, the new rule will terminate aid to a recipient when he receives an "offer of employment expected to produce full-time work in the following month." It wasn't known how many persons will be affected by this revision.

Aid currently is cut off only when the parent receives wages for at least 35 hours work with the expectation of full-time employment in the next month.

Carleson said termination of AFDC grants to those receiving or eligible to receive unemployment benefits was delayed until Jan. 1 to "minimize hardships" on families who now rely on AFDC to supplement their unemployment benefits.

Some features of the governor's welfare overhaul program can be implemented by administrative regulation without legislative ratification while others must be approved by the lawmakers.

Tires, Jack Stolen

Five tires and a floor jack valued at $415 were taken from Bill's San Marin Texaco service station, 200 San Marin Drive, between 10 and 10:50 p.m. yesterday, Novato police reported.

19 GIs Killed In Lowest Viet Toll Since 1965

SAIGON (UPI) — Nineteen U.S. servicemen were killed in action in Indochina last week in the lowest combat death toll in nearly six years.

But the toll of wounded remained relatively high—261 Americans wounded in action last week, compared to 229 wounded the previous week, the U.S. command said.

The combat death toll was the lowest since Oct. 23, 1965, when 14 Americans were killed in action for the week.

54 Acres Annexed To San Rafael

Annexation of 54 acres on the north side of Puerto Suello Hill to the City of San Rafael was unanimously approved last night by the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission.

The land is owned by Edward Scettrini, who applied for the annexation approval. One home is located on the property.

The commission also:

TERRA LINDA — Voted for deletion of garbage and refuse collection from the powers of the Terra Linda Community Services District. The collection should be left to the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District, the commission recommended.

ALTO STRIP — Put off deciding until the July meeting how much the City of Mill Valley should pay Richardson Bay Sanitary District for sewage facilities taken over in a 60-acre annexation by the city. The commission asked executive director John F. Barrows for more data.

CENTER ROAD — Unanimously approved annexation of one acre on Center Road east of St. Francis Avenue, to the City of Novato.

NOVATO — Put off to July, decisions on two proposed annexations to the Novato Sanitary District to give the city a chance to seek parallel annexations. One is a 2.5-acre parcel on Vineyard Road at Wild Horse Valley Road; the other a 43-acre parcel at the end of Trumbull Avenue.

Low Bid Received In Gnoss Field Project

Teicher Construction Co. of Sacramento yesterday submitted a low bid of $28,871 for resurfacing the runway at Gnoss Field.

Four bids, ranging to $44,400 were opened. They will be submitted to the Marin County Board of Supervisors for contract award Tuesday.

New Courthouse Group Is Formed

A San Rafael real estate man disclosed today he has assembled a new group of Marin property owners, merchants and civic leaders to bid for purchase of the long-idle Courthouse Square.

Broker Robert A. Roumiguiere, speaking on radio KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board," said he hoped an offer would be made to the county board of supervisors within a month.

Roumiguiere was one of three Marin businessmen who bid $767,000 for the property last year, but an option expired and the group, which included former Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen and Independent-Journal publisher Wishard A. Brown, forfeited $10,000.

Roumiguiere said after the program that disclosure of the identity of members of the new group would be premature. But he did say the members have plans for boutiques, eventually a high-rise office building and perhaps an indoor ice rink.

Some of the proposals, he said, are "on the drawing board."

Roumiguiere said he hoped his group's bid would generate other offers. Development of the square, he emphasized during the program, is vital to maintaining a healthy business climate downtown.

His disclosure of a new offer came during a discussion of what would now become of the square in the wake of the May 25 fire which destroyed the century-old courthouse building.

Although located in the city, the square is the property of the county.

Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino said the only issue resolved by the fire was whether the courthouse would have to be razed. The county, he said, would proceed shortly with demolition because of the fire damage.

Both Roumiguiere and another panelist, Sig K. Herzog, chairman of the courthouse committee of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce, believed the city would have to invest in parking facilities at the site to speed sale and development.

But City Mgr. James H. McCown said the city's parking district was short of revenue. Formation of a special assessment district to handle parking needs was proposed by a listener.

The program, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be repeated at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

Cuba Captures U.S. Boats And Jails Crewmen

MIAMI (UPI)—Havana radio reported today the Cuban government has seized two U.S. vessels and turned their five American crewmen over the the revolutionary tribunal for trial on charges of illegal entry into Cuba.

The radio report, monitored in Miami, added that a third U.S. vessel, a tugboat pulling a barge which put into "a port in Oriente province two days ago with eight U.S. crewmen aboard," was being investigated as "very suspicious."

The broadcast directly linked the boat seizures with the case of four Cuban fishing boat skippers who were found guilty in federal court at Key West Wednesday for fishing illegally in U.S. territorial waters. The four were sentenced to pay fines of $10,000 each and serve six months in jail.

Firemen Seek A Shorter Week

Novato firemen are seeking a reduction in their work week from 70 to 67 hours, according to Fire Chief Jack Kidder.

The district board will discuss firemen's wages and hours at a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. June 21 at fire district headquarters, the chief said.

Directors last night approved promotion of fireman Curtis Richardson from probationary status with a pay hike from $690 to $774 a month.

Tiburon Fire Board Adopts Final Budget

A final budget of $282,234 for 1971-72 was adopted last night by the Tiburon Fire Protection District board, a $659 increase over this year's $281,575 budget.)

Secretary Wellman H. Topham said directors anticipate either maintaining the tax rate at this year's 87 cents per $100 assessed valuation or dropping it slightly.

The budget includes two new firemen, Topham said, one to be hired Aug. 1 and one Oct. 1. The addition of new personnel will bring the district payroll to 13.

Major budget categories for next year (with this year's figures in parentheses) are: salaries, $179,971 ($147,119); maintenance, $30,900 ($27,110); capital outlay, $26,363 ($32,346), and operating reserve, $45,000 ($75,000).

Theft Of Impact Wrench Is Reported

An impact wrench valued at $130 was reported stolen yesterday by the Holtzinger Bros. construction company, Corte Madera police said today.

Officers said the wrench apparently was stolen from the garage area of the firm at Highway 101.

Hamilton Commander Will Leave

Col. Lee A. Sarter Jr., commander of Hamilton Air Force Base since September 1969, is scheduled to leave that post in August.

Reports that Colonel Sarter has been reassigned to Ent Air Force Base, Colo., were confirmed today by Capt. Joseph W. Corfield, public information officer.

Colonel Sarter is to be succeeded by Col. Vermont Garrison, commander of the 4780th Air Defense Wing at Perrin Air Force Base, Tex.

A potential assignment for Sarter is chief administration officer of Air Defense Command Headquarters at Ent, but his new post pasn't been definitely set, Captain Corfield said.

During his stay at Hamilton, Sarter has served as commander of the 78th Combat Support Group and the First Combat Support Group, and then the 4661st Air Base Group, when units were renamed.

He previously served at Hamilton in 1948 and from 1952-56.

Colonel Garrison, a native of Kentucky, flew combat missions in World War II and Korean War, and at one time led the Air Force acrobatic team, predecessor of the Air Force Thunderbirds.

Dixie Seeks Bids On Schools Work

Dixie School District trustees last night called for bids on major construction projects at Oakview and Miller Creek schools.

The projects, with a total estimated cost of $1,272,383, will begin July 16 and are to be completed by June 30, 1972.

A large gymnasium, showers and lockers, stage and drama facilities, an industrial arts shop plus additional parking space are scheduled for Miller Creek School. In addition, the entire area around the buildings will be landscaped and paved and existing classroom units and the library will be carpeted.

Six classrooms, four of which will have movable walls, will be added to Oakview School. In addition a large library-media center, an administration unit and a teacher's room will be built.

Oakview School will also receive new parking facilities, an overhead corridor connecting its existing buildings, and paving and landscaping.

In other action the trustees employed 10 library assistants to work during the five weeks of summer school, opening the library to the public; offered contracts to three teachers who will be on sabbatical next year and employed regular term teachers and 40 teacher aides to work in the summer school program.

Driver's Forehead Cut In Accident

A 40-year-old Mill Valley man was treated yesterday at Marin General Hospital for a cut forehead sustained in a single-car accident on Corte Madera Avenue in Corte Madera.

Officers said Robert Pope Hovey of 528 Northern Avenue told them he was traveling south on Corte Madera when his auto's throttle jammed forcing him to lose control. He struck an embankment at about 10 p.m. in the 200 block of the avenue, officers said.

Firemen Engage In Training Session

Novato and Hamilton Air Force Base firemen today engaged in a training session at the base, burning an old barracks.

The exercise , which results in clouds of smoke, was cleared by the Bay Area Pollution Control District, according to Capt. Joseph W. Corfield, public information officer.

Park Land Goals Are Endorsed

The Larkspur Parks and Recreation Commission last night endorsed and passed on to the city council goals and policies for park land acquisition and development and a more integrated citywide recreation program.

According to Harlan Barry, recreation director, the five goals and 12 policies eventually will become part of the city's general plan.

He said the goals outline the commission's views on greater park land acquisition, the degree to which park lands should be developed, and future recreational needs of the city.

The policies deal with specific uses, he said, such as designating use of the old Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way as a bicycle path.

In other action, the commission approved its joint summer recreation program with the Town of Corte Madera. The Larkspur program — a playground program for preschool through junior high school children — will begin June 28.

The commission also directed Barry to investigate the legal implications of designating the City of Larkspur as a wildlife santuary as suggested by the Town Meeting group.

Minor Injuries In 101 Accident

A 25-year-old Mill Valley man suffered a cut forehead yesterday in a two-car accident on northbound Highway 101 in San Rafael, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Robert P. Pektus, of 240 Redwood Highway, was treated at Marin General Hospital after the 1:50 p.m. accident.

Officers said Pektus's car rammed the rear of a car driven by Blake Conley, 52, of 1 Oceano Place, Novato. They said Conley was stopped in a line of traffic backed up from construction on the freeway.

Billboards Removal Legislation Planned

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to remove some 5,000 billboards along highways throughout the state is about to be introduced by Se. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael.

Three-quarters of the cost of their removal is supposed to be met with federal funds, but these funds would not be available without legislation adopting federal guidelines for the program.

The fedeal government's timetable calls for removing all the billboards within five years, yet federal funds for this and next fiscal year total only $375,000.

Behr's office said federal funding presumably would be increased after next fiscal year — if the timetable is to be met.

Federal guidelines for the removal program reiburse billboard owners for 30 months of lost income after their removal.

The program will apply to interstate and primary highways outside industrial and commercial zones.

The legislation was asked by the state Department of Public Works. It is an urgency measure that would go into effect immediately, thus requiring approval by two-thirds vote in each house.

Permissive Police

LONDON, Ont. (UPI)—A resolution proposing that U.S. draft dodgers and radicals be barred from Canada was rejected at the annual convention of the Canadian Association of Chiefs of Police. The police also turned down a proposal that rock festivals be outlawed, or the military, instead of police, be called to handle them.

Guilty Plea To Marijuana Count

Richard W. Golden, 22, of San Rafael, has pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court to a charge of possessing marijuana.

Golden, who earlier had pleaded inocent to the charge, changed his plea just as a jury trial was to begin.

Judge Henry J. Broderick set sentencing for June 29.

Golden was arrested Feb. 9 after a search of his apartment revealed a six-pound cache of marijuana, Marin County sheriff's deputies said.

New Prime Minister For Afghanistan

KABUL, Afghanistan (UPI)—Dr. Abdul Zahir, Afghanistan's ambassador to Rome, was appointed prime minister Wednesday, a communique from the royal place said.

Zahir succeeds Noor Ahmed Etemadi, who resigned on May 16 because of a constitutional dispute with parliament.

Collier Revises Tax Revision Bill

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Sen. Randolph Collier, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, has revised his tax revision plan to provide $974 million to balance the 1971-72 state budget.

At Collier's request, the Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee Wednesday removed a one-cent sales tax increase from the measure and a provision which would have used the added funds to give schools an additional $500 million.

Originally, the plan had raised $1.001 billion.

Jury Indicts Three In Two Separate Burglaries

Three men have been indicted by the Marin County Grand Jury in connection with two separate burglaries.

Ordered to appear in superior court for arraignment Monday were Stephen Alan Schultz, 24, of no known address; Ross Sheffield Murphy, 20, of 75 Eliseo Drive, Greenbrae, and John Robert Oates, 21, of 8 Alexander Avenue, San Rafael.

Schultz was arrested monday when Marin County sheriff's deputies set up a stake-out near merchandise which had been stolen from the residence of Richard T. Pisani of 40 Bret Harte Road. CELEBRATIONS FOR the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Mappus of Tiburon began Saturday with a party in their honor hosted by their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Mappus Jr. of Petaluma. Sunday they were honored by Faith Lutheran Church members, Monday they received a card of congratulations from President Nixon, and Tuesday was the actual day of the anniversary.

Nixon Sends Congratulations On Couple's 50th Anniversary

Among the surprises Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph L. Mappus of Tiburon have had in connection with their 50th wedding anniversary is a message of congratulations and best wishes from President Nixon.

Mrs. Mappus says she has no idea how the President knew it was their anniversary and was especially surprised when the engraved card arrived because she and Mr. Mappus are Democrats.

Another surprise for the couple, whose anniversary was Tuesday, was a prayer in their honor during services at Faith Lutheran Church on Sunday and a luncheon served in the parish hall of the church after the service.

Celebration of the anniversary began Saturday evening at a buffet supper given by the couple's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph L. Mappus Jr. of Petaluma, at the Tiburon Lodge.

Rudy and Mamie Mappus were both born in Charleston, S.C., where they were married on June 8, 1921. They lived in Washington, D.C., for many years and Mr. Mappus had a window display business. They moved to Marin 12 years ago to be near their family, including grandchildren Rudolph III of Davis, Barbara, 20, and Valerie, 19, both of Petaluma.

Mr. Mappus operated Rudy's Liquor Store in San Rafael until retiring two years ago. He enjoys gardening and playing the organ, and both of the Mappuses are active in the church. Mrs. Mappus worked for a doctor in Washington, D.C., and for her brother in San Francisco, retiring five years ago. She is a member of the American Association of Retired People.

The Mappuses have seen much of the world, visiting nine countries in Europe and Asia in 1964. They went around the world by ship in 1966, visiting countries in the Pacific and the Orient. In 1967 they decided they wanted to see more of the United States and took a train trip, spending most of the time on the East coast and in the South.

"We are planning some kind of trip for the end of this summer," Mrs. Mappus says. "We just can't make a decision on where we want to go."

50 CANDLES, 50 GUESTS

Elizabeth Will Give Philip A Glittering Birthday Party

By MARGARET SAVILLE

LONDON (UPI)—Fifty guests in the gilded dining room. Fifty candles on the cake.

Buckingham Palace will light up tonight as it has few times for private affairs in recent years to celebrate the 50th birthday of the first gentleman of the land, Prince Philip.

Queen Elizabeth has often decked herself in jewels and presided over glittering state functions in the same salon, opening up into the great gold and white ballroom, in the line of duty.

THIS TIME it is pure pleasure, her own idea, not Her Majesty's Government's, to mark the half-century of her husband.

"I hate to be fussed over" Prince Philip said. But the Queen decided on a party and had the enthusiastic support of her two oldest children, Prince Charles and Princess Anne.

Out of Buckingham Palace went invitations to the great names and titles of the inner circle of the court —numbered to make a total of 50 with the adults of the Windsor family. The chosen 50 will dine and then toast Philip in champagne while footmen carry in the birthday cake on a silver tray as a dessert course.

AFTERWARD THE diners will move to the ballroom and join 250 other guests. There will be dancing most of the night to the music of Joe Loss, who has been a bandleader for more than 40 years and was chosen because he plays everything from the Beatles to Johann Strauss.

In hopes the night will be fine and warm, lights will be strung among the trees in the palace gardens and small spotlights will pick out the famous flower beds of roses, geraniums, stocks and other scented annuals. Couples will be able to stroll in the biggest private garden in London between dances.

The Queen is keeping her gift to her husband a secret until his anniversary morning but many of their friends think it will be a new sail boat. He sadly misses the one he sold last year as a personal, economy measure. Recently he has borrowed boats for his favorite water sport.

Buckingham Palace is making one thing very clear —the Queen is paying the estimated $7,200 cost of the party out of her own private pocket. This is to counter any possible criticism about royal extravagance while a parliamentary committee is meeting on her request for an increase in her official funds to meet the rising costs of being a Queen.

THIS IS the official portrait of Great Britain's Prince Philip, the Duke of Edinburgh, who is 50 years old today. The birthday will be celebrated tonight at a party for 50 guests at Buckingham Palace.

Receptions Are Less Elaborate

NEW YORK (UPI)—A caterer whose clients include Astors, Duponts and Rockefellers says even large wedding receptions are becoming less elaborate and more informal.

Many are held in tents, even in midwinter, said F. George Coker in an interview here. He said outdoor receptions are much more popular now because homes are not as large as they used to be.

The use of tents is less formal—but the shelters themselves can be as elegant as your budget allows. Coker said companies that specialize in renting, installing and striking tents provide equipment that includes floors and even carpeting. Winterized ones have plywood sides instead of plastic or canvas, which can be drafty.

Inside the tents, everything from the linens to the wedding cakes are changing.

TWENTY YEARS ago, all linens were white. Coker said today's brides prefer brightly-colored printed and plain ones.

Square tables are out, round ones are in, and the tablecloths on them are floor length.

"There are all sorts of wedding cakes today," Coker said. "Years ago, it used to be dark fruitcake. A couple of weeks ago we had a request for a pineapple upside down cake—not even iced as a wedding cake.

The caterer, whose father founded 50 years ago what now is George J. Coker & Son, Inc., said there's a current tendency to save money by trimming the guest list and selecting a less elaborate menu.

He said the largest wedding reception they'd ever catered had 1,500 guests, but parties of 300 are more common now.

Asked to suggest a menu appropriate for a seated buffet in June with 400 guests, he came up with this:

TWO CHAFING dish foods, possibly chicken divan and beef burgundy or veal sweetbreads in white wine sauce; salmon, cold Smithfield ham, filet of beef in aspic; salads of bibb lettuce with vinaigrette dressing and mousse of avocado with crabmeat; a large wheel of brie cheese, hot rolls,raspberry bombe with fresh raspberries, tea, iced tea and coffee.

"This can be streamlined, but I think you need variety to make it interesting," he said. "People want just a taste of wedding cake," he added. He said a party of 400 would need cake for only 200.

Coker said champagne remains traditional for wedding receptions but that stemware with deep, tulip-shaped bowls is becoming more popular now than that with saucer-shaped bowls.

Kathy Plyer of San Francisco was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Kathy Sommers of Sacramento and Debbie Berg and Jill McGillis of Novato.

The bridegroom chose as his best man Barry Lear, and ushers were John Bliss, brother of the bride; Scott Stewert and Lyle Radtke, all of Novato.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Form A 'Mother's Coffee' Aimed At Outlawing Snacks To Children

DEAR HELEN:

Our 8-year-old has a tendency to overweight, so we try to watch her diet, without making a big issue over it.

But everything we do at home (or omit) is counteracted by neighbors who feed her desserts, cookies, ice cream, snacks. Outside of putting a placard on her saying "don't feed me" how can we educate well-meaning friends? — MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER:

The following letter came from a different city, but it might show you that neighbors, too, have food problems. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I don't like to look stingy to my children or their friends, but this "feeding the multitude" has got to stop. Whenever I make cookies or have something special, the word spreads along the block, especially to two chunky twins who appear like magic, just as our children take the first bite.

They also show up right at dessert time, looking hopeful and hungry. And because they're "best friends" with ours, they stay for meals a lot, which is all right if I plan extras, but embarrassing when the children all take these casual eating habits for granted. Ours don't snack at their house.

How do you start an austerity program and still keep friends? — RUNNING OUT

DEAR MOTHERS ALL:

Two unwritten laws of childhood are: "Whoever looks hungry, feed 'em," and "Look hungry!"

If neighborhood mothers join forces to discuss their various problems, much of this overfeeding and over-eating might be eliminated. You'd better believe the chubby kid who appears at the drop of a cookie isn't always "sent begging" by a don't-care family. Nor is the parent who hands out sweets always appreciated as Mrs. Bountiful.

Why not plan a "mother's coffee" and work up some laws of your own? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My husband is wonderful to me — between affairs. But he can't stay away from other women more than a couple of years at a time. He gets serious over a girl, tells me everything they do and say — and I'm supposed to understand "because it's a man's nature."

We both know that if I stand by and wait, he'll get over the new love, and then it will be almost like a honeymoon for us — until the next time.

This has been going on for 10 years. The affairs seldom last more than two months. I've read that "swinging" (wife-swapping) is sometimes the answer when a man feels it's his right to refresh marriage with adventures, but my husband thinks this is "sick." (So do I!) It would be the end for us if I found a lover, too.

Should I resign myself to sharing him two or three months out of 24 — hoping as he grows older he'll stop falling so regularly "in love," or should I leave the best man in the world — when he's faithful?

At least he's truthful. If I make a fuss he might start sneaking around. — BAFFLED WIFE

DEAR WIFE:

So long as you're only "baffled," and not crushed, then perhaps you've achieved the "modern" detachment that will let you live with this situation. In some countries, it's the accepted way. (But not in Bottel country!) — H.

Tricia's Recipe Produces Cake 'Hard As Rock'

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI)—Patricia Gins, food editor of the Albuquerque Tribune, says she used the White House recipe and baked the cake to be used for Tricia Nixon's wedding.

She said the batter was so sticky it clogged the motor of her electric beaters and the outside of the cake, after cooling overnight, was "as hard as a rock."

"It's a lot of cake," Miss Gins said.

THREE KEY IDEAS

New Leader Of AAUW Branch Outlines Purposes Of Group

Installed this week as president of the Marin Branch, American Association of University Women, was Mrs. Joseph Frank Turina, who served as vice president in charge of programs last year.

Anise M. Turina, who joined AAUW when she moved to Marin in 1963, says the association's purpose is "practical educational work."

"This purpose includes three emphases," she says. "A program to enable college women to continue their own intellectual growth, to further the advancement of women and to discharge the special responsibilities to socitey of those who have enjoyed the advantages of higher education.

"IN MARIN branch the purpose is to unite the alumnae of colleges and universities to concentrate and increase their influence in the community for the solution of social and civic problems. Our members participate in the development and promotion of the policies and programs of AAUW nationally and contribute to its growth and influence and cooperate in state division and reginal work."

AAUW's continuing areas of interest are in community problems, cultural interests, education, world problems and legislation and Marin branch has study section in each of these areas. There are also sections covering hobbies and interest groups.

A fellowships program is supported through funds raised at bridge luncheons, fashion shows and bazaars.

"Marin branch plans to raise money by sponsoring local plays and by having a variety show performed by members,"

MRS. JOSEPH F. TURINA
AAUW branch president

says Mrs. Turina, "to support the AAUW fellowships program with an endowment approaching $3 million, making awards of nearly $250,000 to more than 80 American nd foreign women graduate scholars annually."

WOMEN WITH degrees from recognized colleges and universities are eligible to join AAUW, and increasing membership is the goal of the branch.

Mrs. Turina was born in Superior, Ariz., and attended the University of Arizona on a scholarship. Following graduation witha teaching degree she took a job with the U.S. Army in Germany in 1949 as a service club director and travelled throughout Europe and the Near East.

She met her husband, an Army officer, in Germany, and they were married in Superior in 1954. Their daughter, Susan, was born 15 years ago in Fort Benning, Ga., and a son, Ted, 13, was born in Taipei, Taiwan, while Captain Turina was stationed there. He retired from the Army in 1960 and is now a district manager for State Farm Insurance Company in San Francisco.

Mrs. Turina is also a member of the Central Marin League of Women Voters, has been a church officer at Christ Presbyterian Church in Terra Linda for six years, is a member of the Terra Linda High School Parent-Teacher Association board, the Retired Officers Wive's Club, Marin Investment Group, Vallecito Junior High School Parent-Teacher Club and has served as area chairman for Cancer Crusade.

GOLF, BOWLING, bridge, cooking, entertaining, reading and redecorating, painting and maintaining the family home are her hobbies. She attended Golden Gate School of Law in San Francisco in 1965 and 1966 and plans to return to law school.

"I will probably start working about the time that most people retire from a job," she says.

Other new officers of Marin branch AAUW are Mmes. Stephen Knox, first vice president (program); John R. Haeuser, recording secretary; J.C. Stovall, financial secretary; Carl Lischeske and Thomas A. Anderson, directors-at-large.

Continuing officers are Mmes. Nevin W. George, second vice president (membership); John R. Everingham, corresponding secretary; and John R. Verzi, treasurer.

LBJ's Daughter To Report On Tricia's Wedding

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Lynda Bird Robb will cover Tricia Nixon's wedding from the vantage point of a guest.

Mrs. Robb, daughter of former President Lyndon B. Johnson and a White House Bride in 1967, will be a commentator on two special Walter Cronkite reports on the wedding on CBS this weekend.

But Mrs. Robb, who also is an occasional magazine writer, has not applied for credentials along with the 600 other newsmen and cameramen who must have passes to cover the nuptials on Saturday, an inquiry to the White House disclosed.

Tricia has invited both Lynda Bird and her sister Luci Nugent and their husbands to the Rose Garden wedding.

With the home seamstress producing everything from lingerie to slipcovers on her sewing machine, any product that simplifies her project is likely to be cheered. This is the reasoning behind a new all purpose thread of 100 per cent spun polyester.

New Balloon Altitude Record

LONGMONT, Colo. (UPI) — A Boulder, Colo., man rode a hot air balloon to an altitude of 31,000 feet in the chilly early morning hours Wednesday and apparently set a new world altitude record.

The flight, by Karl H. Stefan, 54, surpassed the 28,765-foot record hot air balloon flight reiorded by Tracey Barnes, a friend of Stefan's, in 1966 over New Jersey.

A representative of the Federation Aeronautic Internationale, Ted Holmes Jr., of Denver, certified a sealed barograph on the balloon gondola before Stefan took off from the Longmont airport at 7 a.m.

Art Booths Will Pay Percentage

Arts and crafts booths at the 1971 Marin County Fair at the Civic Center will be charged 20 per cent of gross receipts with no flat fee or minimum, fair manager Marcelle McCoy explained today.

A news story last week said exhibits and crafts would be charged $100 per booth, but this is incorrect. Only the commercial booths will be charged a flat $100 for the four-day fair, from Oct. 8 through 11.

Concession booths will pay 20 per cent of gross or $75, whichever is larger. Arts and crafts booths will have no minimum rate but will merly pay 20 per cent of gross receipts.

The annual county fair, formerly held at the Art and Garden Center in Ross, will be held at the Civic Center Fairgrounds fo the first time this year.

Wyss A Surprise In Opera Program

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

SAN FRANCISCO — Although there was some brilliant singing at times from the guests, the real surprise at the Opera House last night was Niklaus Wyss, San Francisco Symphony Orchestra's boyish-looking assistant conductor.

Billed as the first of two evenings of "great moments from opera," Wyss came into his own as a young conductor after a few rough spots in the first half of the all-Verdi program.

Together with the two "dramatic" guests — soprano Eileen Farrell and tenor James McCracken — and the orchestra, Wyss achieved some remarkable results in the arias from Verdi's "La Forza del Destino" following a sterling reading of the opera's soaring and melodic overture.

Miss Farrell, no stranger to Bay Area stages and still with a beautifully shaded voice at 50, showed the purity and control that has made her famous in "Pace, Pace Mio Dio," from Act IV, Scene Two of "La Forza."

However, it was McCracken, "Mr. Otello" in world opera circles, who brought wild bravos from the near-capacity audience for his sterling singing and warmth in "Oh Tu Che In Seno Agli Angeli," from Act III, Scene One of the same opera.

The graying stocky tenor has become one of San Francisco's favorites over the past years and during season's San Francisco Opera scored another triumph for his "Otello."

He and Miss Farrell, looking slimmer than I have seen her in many years, teamed up for the recitative, romance and duet from Act One from "La Forza" to end the program.

Some in the audience may have been bothered by Miss Farrell's use of the score in some of her presentations but she is not a regular operatic star with a full repertory.

It was a shame I think that there weren't more arias from "Otello." The guests presented only the love duet from Act One, leaving a taste for more of the magic, at least an aria by McCracken.

The first half of the program, with exception of the concluding overture to "I Vespri Siciliani," which nearly galloped off with Wyss at the start, the program was devoted to "Aida" in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the first performance of the opera.

Both guests seemed a little cold in their first solo offerings — "Celeste Aida" (McCracken) and "Ritorna Vincitor" (Miss Farrell), but closed strong in the famous duet "Pur Ti Riveggo" (the Nile scene).

Wyss had had to substitute for maestro Ozawa near the start of the past symphony season and in that debut was uneven, but last night he had some of the "big league" finesse and seemed pleased as Punch with his guests and orchestra. And, even more interesting, he conducted the tricky scores by memory.

On the whole the orchestra played handsomely. The "La Forza" overture was like a rich dessert.

Miss Farrell and Wyss will team up again Saturday night at the Opera House for the week's second special — an all-Wagner program.

Met Appoints Musical Director

NEW YORK (UPI) —Rafael Kubelik, 56-year-old Czech conductor, has been appointed musical director of the Metropolitan Opera beginning in the 1973-74 season, it was announced today.

The appointment, a new post for the opera company, was made by Goeran Gentele, who will succeed Rudolf Bing as general manager in the 1972-73 season. He said he and Kubelik will share "artistic responsibility" in planning repertory and new productions.

Kubelik is music director of the Bavarian Radio Symphony, the chief orchestra of Munich.

Antirodeo Bill Introduced To Combat Cruelty

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Charging animals are being mistreated in rodeos, a New York congressman has introduced a bill that would make it illegal to ship horses and cattle used in the events in interstate commerce.

The bill also would make it illegal to ship interstate such rodeo devices as electric prods used to make animals bolt from chutes, and bucking straps.

In some rodeos, Rep. William F. Ryan, D-N.Y., said, "animals are victimized by devices specifically used to torment and inflict pain, just so that the viewing public will get their money's worth."

"Cruelty cannot be condoned," Ryan said. "It is particularly unconscionable when it is inflicted upon animals solely for the purpose of entertainment."

Senator In Crash Proving Road Danger

WESTERLY, R.I. (UPI) — Republican State Sen. Francis Gencarelli was so concerned about a dangerous curve on Rte. 9 he drove two state Transportation Department officials to Westerly Wednesday to look at it first hand. He made his point.

As the car reached the curve it was struck by another auto trying to pass on the inside. There were no injuries.

MUSIC

The San Francisco Symphony will present its second special concer, "Great Moments In Opera," at the Opera House Saturday night. Soprano Eileen Farrell, who was one of the special guests on Wednesday night in the first program, will be soloist in an all-Wagner program.

Henri Mancini, the noted Hollywood composer, will return to the San Francisco Symphony podium Wednesday and Friday of next week. His two programs last year drew large crowds to hear such compositions as "Peter Gunn," "Pink Panther," "Days of Wine and Roses," and "Moon River." He will again present these selections plus the overture to "Tommy," "Portrait of Simon and Garfunkel," and a medley from "Jesus Christ, Superstar."

On the pop musical front Mother Earth and the Doobie Brothers plus special guest John Baldry will appear at San Francisco's Fillmore West in a concert Monday night.

Chief Justice Gives Courts A Lesson

In gentle words, the chief justice of the United States Supreme Court this week read a lesson to judges of lower courts.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger wrote the opinion by which a 7-2 majority of the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that it is not unconstitutional to require more than a simple majority vote to saddle future taxpayers with indebtedness.

At issue was a West Virginia case. That state's Supreme Court of Appeals had held that requirement of a 60 per cent affirmative vote for passing a bond issue violated the "one man, one vote" principle laid down in earlier U.S. Supreme Court decisions.

Similar cases in California, Missouri and Idaho are before the U.S. Supreme Court. The ruling in the West Virginia case no doubt will be applied to all.

THE GENTLY WORDED lesson for the lower courts was contained in Chief Justice Burger's finding that the West Virginia court's reliance on a 1969 U.S. Supreme Court decision held unconstitutional a state law that permitted only property owners to vote in a revenue bond election. This, held the U.S. Supreme Court, constituted discrimination.

Lower courts — including the California Supreme Court — interpreted this to mean that "one man, one vote" must apply to bond elections, and that a simple majority is all that could be required for their passage.

Their reliance was "misplaced," as Justice Burger so carefully put it, because the U.S. Supreme Court did not hold in its 1969 decision that "one man, one vote" applied to bond elections. It held that a considerable class — non-property owners — were disfranchised by the property-holder law, and that they were denied the ballot because of something extraneous to the issue. That is, whether or not one owns property does not bear on a revenue bond issue.

It should be noted that a revenue bond issue is not the same thing as a non-revenue bond issue such as those for public buildings, school sites, etc. The former is to be retired from revenues; the latter constitues an outright lien on the taxpayer's property.

LOWER COURTS, HOWEVER, did not go into this distinction. Nor did they take note that the string of U.S. Supreme Court "one man, one vote" decisions dealt entirely with representation — that every vote should count equally in securing the citizen elected representatives — not with the saddling of debt upon one citizen by the vote of another.

Chief Justice Burger spelled it out this week:

"There is nothing in the language of the Constitution, our history or our cases that requires that a majority prevail on every issue.

"We conclude that so long as such provisions don't discriminate against any identifiable class, they don't violate the equal protection clause."

Many people — including trustees of Marin Junior College District — will be unhappy with the decision, for it negates bond issues they hoped to float. But if they — and judges of the lower courts — read carefully the U.S. Supreme Court's former rulings, they should not be surprised.

CAPITOL REPORT

Behr Becomes 'Expendable' In Reapportionment

By RUS WALTON

SACRAMENTO — This is the year of reapportionment, the year to draw new boundaries for California's legislative districts — 40 state senatorial, 80 assembly and 43 congressional. It is that every-10-years phenomenon which follows the federal census and it pretty well determines the political make up of the state legislature for the decade to come.

The party in power at the time of reapportionment seeks maximum advantage in the changing of the boundaries, tries to create as many "safe" districts for itself and its candidates as possible.

But this year reapportionment may not be the one-sided, meatgrinder affair Democrats have come up with in the past. For two reasons.

FIRST, UNDER THE one-man, one-vote dictum, the courts have made it clear that they will probably reject any redistricting if the population totals between districts vary by more than two or three per cent.

Second, reapportionment bills are subject to veto the same as any other legislation and Gov. Ronald Reagan has made it clear he will veto any bill which he feels is out of line. It takes a two-thirds majority to override a veto. To get two-thirds in the Assembly, the Democrats would need at least 11 Republicans voting with them; in the Senate it would take at least six. That's not in the cards. Not with Governor Reagan saying that he will go into any district during the 1972 primary where the Republican incumbent jumped party lines and voted with the Democrats.

RELATIVE POPULATION shifts dictate that the counties from San Francisco north will lose one state senatorial seat, and that the counties south of Los Angeles will gain. This presents the Democrats with a double problem.

How to draw the lines for any new senate seat in southern California without practically handing the Republicans a new senator is a toughie.

In northern California the Democrats' problem is only slightly less difficult. There are only four Republican state senators in the area north from San Francisco Bay. One of these, John Negedly, represents Contra Costa County. Redistricting should present no threat to him.

Of the remaining three Republicans, the Democrats would just as soon keep Milton Marks, in San Francisco. Why not? Marks votes with the Democrats as often as he votes with the Republicans, especially on key issues. Just let Miltie keep his seat and tell them how to vote.

THAT LEAVES Sen. Fred Marler, an outstanding Republican from Redding, and Peter Behr, a freshman senator representing the counties of Marin, Napa, and part of Solano.

Odds are the Democrats will try to draw the districts so that Marler and Behr are thrown together, with the hope that the two would face each other in a Republican primary battle in 1972. It's either that or put Marler in a district where he would run against either one of two old-guard Democrats — Randy Collier (Yreka) or Steve Teale (West Point). Marler could probably defeat either Democrat in a general election.

LOS ANGELES will lose three Assembly seats because of the population in Orange, San Bernardino, San Diego and Ventura counties.

The Republican assemblyman at the top of the Democrats' "hit" parade is Floyd Wakefield, Long Beach. Wakefield is an outspoken, hard-nosed conservative who authored the state's anti-bussing law. The liberals consider that a cardinal sin. But in addition — horror of horrors! — Wakefield is working to rescind the recent legislative and executive salary increases which were part of the 1966 Proposition I-A package. That, of course, makes Old Floyd just about as popular in the capitol as a fox in Colonel Sanders' chicken house.

Appreciation To Many For Help After Fire

We wish to thank so many for their concern and help shown to us after our fire in our home last April.

The genuine expression of concern on the part of our neighbors, Mrs. Easom, Mrs. Myers, the Moons, the Rudnicks, Mrs. George, the Sosics, the Keanes, the Swanfeldts, the Gianettis, and the Pareto family made us feel a real part of the community.

We especially want to thank the San Rafael Fire and Police Departments for their fine job of saving our property and their concern for us after the fire.

We really like the people of San Rafael and are looking forward to moving back into our home soon.

It's Birth Control Or Death Control

What business does the state legislature have in making laws concerning abortion? Termination of pregnancy is a decision made by the pregnant woman in consultation with her physician. It is a medical decision, not a moral one.

Every year in America 750,000 unplanned babies are born to married women. In addition 300,000 babies are born out-of-wedlock. Estimates of dangerous, illegal abortions range from 200,000 to 1,000,000 per year. The tragedy of the unwanted pregnancy can be prevented through effective use of contraception, or when that fails, through legal abortion.

Opponents of legal abortion, such as Marie DePizzol, are proponents of compulsory pregnancy, child abuse, criminal abortion, and much human suffering. Furthermore, Marie DePizzol seems to believe human kind can continue to increase in number indefinitely without harmful effects. Does she really believe the earth is an unlimited breadbasket?

If man doesn't voluntarily limit population, Mother Nature will do it for us. As Paul Ehrlich says, a vote against birth control is automatically a vote for death control. Which do you prefer, Mrs. DePizzol?

Public Can Curb Bike Theft Wave

Step forward, Mr. "Honest Citizen," and let someone start the wheels going to end the current theft of expensive bicycles in Marin County. Without a buyer's market the ring of "bike burglars" now operating might be discouraged (or hopefully prosecuted).

To have a young son work and save for a 10-speed, only to have it removed, while locked, from the schoolyard, is frustrating. To have a bike removed from your own premises, when you're but a few feet away, shows definite skill on the part of the culprits. Aren't we, Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Public, equally as skillful? Out of every 50 persons approached to buy an expensive bike for a "low price" — no questions asked — there must be just one who will pass on some revealing information to the local police. Cycling is a healthy activity, enjoyed by all ages, so let us keep our eyes and ears open — and combine forces with the authorities to stop the "hot bike" fad.

Sheriffs' Circus: Invitation To All

May we take this opportunity to answer the recent letters from Mr. Irving Chapman, and Mr. (Leo B.) Harth of the Better Business Bureau, that were published in the letters to the editor column during May.

In regards to the giving of total figures for money received and money given to charity as requested by Mr. Harth of the Better Business Bureau of San Francisco, this information was on file with the San Rafael Police Department, as requested by them, for the issuance of a permit to meet the San Rafael City ordinance as required by telephone solicitors.

Miller-Johnson Circus has all necessary business licenses to conduct a legitimate business. Information was gathered by the Better Busienss Bureau of San Francisco as regards our statement "that over $25,000 has been given to local charities". Mr. Harth in his letter stated this to be a fact, and is satisfied that this is true. . .

We appreciate the Downtown merchants' stand on telephone soliciting for charity. However we the Marin County Deputy Sheriff's Association are sponsoring a circus, which brings to the county a full 2½ hours of good clean family entertainment for a total of $5 per family. A simple NO from a possible customer is all it takes to avoid buying a ticket. Donated tickets are given to various local groups such as Little League groups, the MARC home, Boys Clubs and any other groups of kids that we come across.

We feel fortunate that upon the completion of the circus that this legitimate business then gives us 25 per cent of the gross sales, that we in turn can spend here in Marin County helping other local charitable groups. . .

This is a fine circus with great animal acts, clowns, high wires, etc., and enjoys a good reputation with law enforcement groups throughout the United States. So for the general public, the Downtown Merchants and all other youngsters at heart, hope you get the opportunity to attend this year's performance at the Marin Catholic High School Football field on Saturday or Sunday, June 12 and 13. To all who have not purchased a ticket or received a donated one, tickets will be on sale at the door. Costs are higher at the gate, but we still receive 25 per cent of all monies collected at the gate. . .

Gates of 'Socialist Paradise' Hard To Open From Inside

WASHINGTON — The ordeal of the Jews in the Soviet Union must trouble the conscience of the world. The recent trials —trials in name only — on charges of plotting to hijack a plane to freedom were meant as intimidation to scare others into submission.

They ask merely for the right to emigrate to Israel. But that is, in itself, a slur on the socialist paradise. Once one religious or ethnic group was allowed to leave, the floodgates would be open and no one in authority could say when the exodus might stop.

To press the demand for an exit visa, as a number of Jews have done, is bringing reprisals. The obstacles put in the way are formidable, and it takes both courage and persistence to get the coveted pass to freedom. During the past year about a thousand Jews have come out.

IN JERUSALEM recently I talked with several of the new emigres. One was Dr. Esther Eiwenstat, a Ph.D. in linguistics who had been professor at a linguistics institute in Moscow. She speaks fluently at least six languages.

When she first made application for an exit visa she was asked why she wanted to leave the Soviet Union. You have a good job, you are rather well paid, you have an apartment. What more do you want? Religious freedom is the answer that Dr. Eisenstat and the other emigres give.

Progressively over the years the opportunity for worship in the Jewish faith has contracted. Synagogues have been closed. Books printed in Yiddish or Hebrew have all but disappeared. Rabbinical and Talmudic teaching, the substance of the faith, must be done almost surreptitiously.

At the same time the price for a permit to leave has been steadily increased. The exit visa itself, if the applicant wants to go to a "capitalist" country, is about $400. Another $400 is the charge for surrendering Russian citizenship. The total comes to about $1,000, and that is a large sum in a country where savings are not only hard to come by but are a kind of vote of no-confidence in a system in which the state is all-powerful.

DR. EISENSTAT, who went on a lecture tour across the United States shortly after establishing herself in Israel, is a realist. She doesn't believe that the current drive will result in any immediate relaxation of the bar on emigration. She is convinced the extremist tactics followed by Rabbi Meir Kahane and his followers will have an adverse effect both in the Soviet Union and the United States

The small signs of dissent in the Soviet Union —coming from intellectuals, writers, poets, playwrights —give rise to speculation that authoritarian controls are easing. The theory frequently put forward is that, with the advanced education required in a highly technological society, freedom of thought is bound to widen. The state will have to let down some of the bars.

It is a dubious theory. Intellectuals pay for their dissent, usually expressed in the publication abroad of manuscripts smuggled out of the country, with prison terms in Siberia or exile remote from Moscow. These are small chips off the monolith, and the Kremlin keeps its hold through a far-reaching system of secret police and informers who are themselves subject to blackmail.

Yet Mrs. Eisenstat and the others who have managed to get out believe that world opinion does play a part. After the outcry over the death sentence imposed in the Leningrad trial, that sentence was commuted to life imprisonment. While no one iwll predict when a relaxation may come, an interim settlement of the dispute would have a favorable effect. Israeli figures estimate the number of Jews in the Soviet Union at 2,500,000.

THE DESIGNATION JEW goes on the individual's identity card, a kind of internal passport, if one or both parents are of Jewish origin. The origin of the mother is the determinant. In a bold decree the Israeli government recently offered citizenship to any Jew expressing a desire to emigrate, regardless of whether he could come to the Jewish state.

Since 1917 many minorities in the vast conglomerate of the Soviet Union have paid with harsh injustice for their separateness. But with the centuries-old tradition of the pogrom as a political instrument under the czars, the Jews have paid most dearly.

WINDOW ON THE WORLD

Political Parties Wither In Indonesian Election

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Indonesia will hold its first general election in 16 years on July 3, and not one of the country's nine political parties is expected to emerge a winner. Instead, the winner will be something called the Sekber Golkar which the government says is not a party at all.

The Sekber Golkar is a loose confederation of labor unions, intellectual organizations and other basically nonpolitical groups which by something less than coincidence also includes government civil workers.

Government workers are forbidden from maintaining political affiliations but are ordered to join the Golkar.

WITH AN UNLIMITED treasury, army support and government workers down to village chiefs on its side, the Golkar indeed becomes a formidable opponent.

Opponents claim the village chiefs have been ordered to produce a certain number of votes or lose thier jobs.

Big loser in the election which is to name provincial and city councils and 360 members of the house of representatives, is expected to be the Nationalist party of the late former president, Sukarno.

Especially in teeming central Java, the Nationalists formerly were easily the most influential among the political parties.

But the bloodbath which followed the attempted Communist coap in 1965, convincing many that politics was an unhealthy occupation, plus the years of political silence that followed, could mark the beginning of the end for the Nationalists despite strenuous efforts by its remaining leaders.

IN ADDITION to public apathy, other factors also work in favor of the government in these elections which are to prepare the people for a return to civil rule.

Declared one Indonesian politician:

"The simple Javanese gives his loyalty to respected personalities, not to political ideas."

That means that the peasant who once looked up to Javanese nobility now looks up to the military government and will vote the way he thinks the government wishes.

OTHER FACTORS are the rules under which the campaign is being waged.

These rules forbid criticism of President Suharto or the government's program. They also forbid criticism of the way the program is being carried out.

Also banned are any words or deeds that might contribute to a comeback of the Communist party or any attempt to exploit Sukarno or a candidate's association with him.

One exception to general apathy among the voters despite a wealth of campaign posters and speakers addressing themselves mostly to children too young to vote, is a new group of angry young men calling themselves the Golput or "White Group."

Angered by government tactics they are telling uneducated Indonesians that "not to vote is your right."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By JEFF GREER

Air Force Lights Glare Atop Other Mountains Besides Tam

Marin County isn't the only place where Air Force lights glare brightly from a mountaintop.

Sunday night I had dinner at the airport outside Klamath Falls, Ore. The restaurant is atop the operations building at Kingsley Field, which is a joint Air Force and civilian operatioc such as Marin County officials have proposed for Hamilton Air Force Base.

Darkness comes late to Klamath Falls this time of the year. In the twilight I could see a string of bright blue-green lights on a peak southwest of the city. "It's a radar station," my host explained.

A contractor, he had just finished installing the lights. I told him about the Mill Valley Air Force Station atop Mount Tamalpais.

"They don't bother anybody here — there are no close neighbors," my host explained. "But it is hard for drivers to see the road when they're going up the mountain at night to get to work."

ECOLOGY IS a vastly overworked and misunderstood word, but seemingly everyone is paying it lip service. The doing sometimes doesn't match the talking, though.

A gruesome example is freeway construction work immediately west of Black Butte, where Interstate 5 winds around the base of beautiful Mount Shasta. The bulldozers have ripped the heart out of one of the most enjoyable stands of sugar pine, incense cedar and other conifers that a weary traveler ever paused under.

No more will anyone be able to glean the foot-long sugar pine cones that made such elegant Christmas decorations.

THE WEEKEND'S JOURNEY did bring a more pleasant surprise, though. The little City of Mount Shasta is having a sort of June snooze, with the skiiers departed and the summer tourists not yet arrived. But the town's ajingle with half-dollar coins. It's been so long since we'd seen any 50-cent pieces in Marin County that we were startled to get them in our change wherever we shopped in Shasta City.

Brand-new, 1971 Kennedy halves, they were.

STATE SEN. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, came in for a few unkind words from the Marin County supervisors Tuesday. They showed instant hostility when asked to endorse the senator's bill requiring that one of every two regular meetings of any board of supervisors should begin at 6 p.m.

"Let's see, that would get us through at about 7 a.m.," Supervisor John F. McInnis remarked.

Grace Hughes of Marin Alternative suggested that meetings with crucial hearings on the agenda might begin at noon, finish routine matters first and get down to the nitty-gritty in early evenings, to give the public a chance to attend.

McInnis objected this would be no service to the citizen who had to go to work the next day.

And besides, Supervisor Michael Wornum declared, "the legislature has a helluva nerve" trying to tell local government when to meet.

Group Considering, Reducing Meetings

The Loma Verde Homeowners Association members are considering reducing the number of meetings, now 12 a year, under the association's bylaws.

This was correctly reported yesterday in the Independent-Journal but the headline left the impression that the meeting number had already been cut.

Dear Sir,

I am writing in regard to employment with your firm. I have a B.S. from USC and Ph.D. in physics from the California Institute of Technology.

In my previous position I was in charge of research and development for the Harrington Chemical Co. We did work in thermonuclear energy, laser beam refraction, hydrogen molecule development and heavy water computer data.

Several of our research discoveries have been adapted for commercial use, and one particular breakthrough in linear hydraulics is now being used by every oil company in the country.

Because of a cutback in defense orders, the Harrington Co. decided to shut down its research and development department. It is for this reason I am available for immediate employment.

Hoping to hear from you in the near future, I remain

DEAR MR. KASE,

We regret to inform you that we have no positions available for someone of your excellent qualifications. The truth of the matter is that we find you are "overqualified" for any position we might offer you in our organization. Thank you for thinking of us, and if anything comes up in the future, we will be getting in touch with you.

Judge David Menary Jr. of Marin Municipal Court gave Outley credit for time already spent in jail.

Angel Island Citizen Panel Proposed To Legislature

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Development or improvement plans for Angel Island State Park would be subject to approval by a new 19-member citizens council under a bill introduced by Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco.

The bill, SB 1587, also would appropriate $?00,000 for development, improvement and restoration of facilities on the island park.

The measure would require tha "any proposed governmental action which would have a significant effect on the environment" of the park be subject to review and approval of the council.

It would have 15 voting members, of which five each would be appointed by the governor, Senate Rules Committee and speaker of the Assembly. These members would have to live in either Marin or San Francisco and "have a demonstrated interest in, and knowledge of, the protection, management, and improvement of recreational areas and historic sites and the improvement of California's environment."

The four nonvoting members would be the secretary of the Resources Agency, and State director of parks and recreation, navigation and ocean development and of conservation.

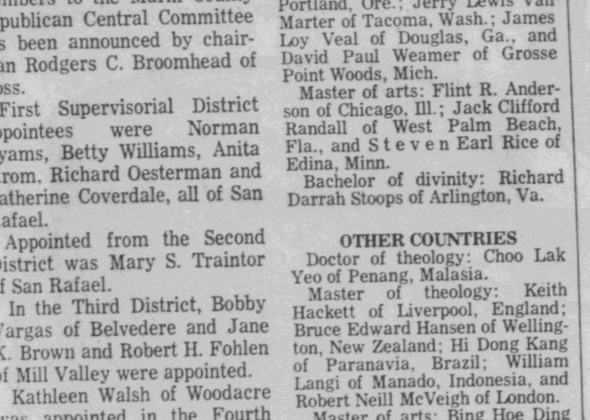
Citroen. The car that looks more beautiful after you drive it.



It's the other way around with most cars. That dazzling showroom beauty looks so different from the driver's seat.

Not a Citroen.

Simply because Citroen was built by a small group of brilliant heretics who did not care about conventional design. They sought the very basic; the finest, safest, best engineered car in the world. They sought items such as: an aero-dynamically designed body, independent four-wheel suspension, front wheel drive and automatic jacking.

Let's just leave it at this; next time you're trying to judge the beauty of a car, drive it first. If you find all these features: chances are you've been driving a Citroen.

GRANT TO ANGELA BRINGS PROTESTS

$10,000 Fund By Presbyterian Panel Challenged; Marin Churches Involved

By MARY LEYDECKER

The $10,000 grant given to Angela Davis by a committee of the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., has stirred a storm of protest among Presbyterian churches throughout the country, including at least two so far in Marin County.

Meanwhile a group of black pastors from the denomination have pledged in New York that they will reimburse the church for the entire grant.

The gift was disclosed recently at the Presbyterians' annual general assembly in Rochester, N.Y., where it was reported that the $10,000 had been given for her defense by the Council on Church and Race from a $100,000 fund set aside for legal aid to poor people.

The governing body of St. Luke Presbyterian Church in San Rafael has adopted a strong stand against the grant, the Independent-Journal learned yesterday.

Also protesting the gift was the session (ruling board) of Sleepy Hollow Presbyterian Church, and First Presbyterian in San Rafael is expected to join them.

"We protest the support of individuals who engage in or advocate violence and whose purposes are contrary to the precepts of the Gospel," the St. Luke session wrote in a statement.

The governing board also said that they opposed supporting the "presumption that a just and fair trial is unobtainable in our normal judicial processes in the U.S."

The members of St. Luke's also argued that giving the $10,000 put the United Presbyterian Church in the position of assisting "the propaganda thrust that Miss Davis is a political prisoner."

(Miss Davis and San Quentin inmate Ruchell Magee are charged with murder, kidnaping and conspiracy in connection with the shoot-out last August at the Civic Center.)

The session of St. Luke's also voted that future contributions to the national church be directed to mission projects.

The Sleepy Hollow church merely adopted a motion saying that while it supports the legal defense fund, it protests the grant to Miss Davis.

A member of First Presbyterian in San Rafael, expected to adopt an even stronger resolution against the grant than the other two churches, said yesterday that the grant had come about indirectly because of a move by the Marin City Presbyterian Church.

In January the Marin City Presbyterians adopted a resolution asking a fair and just trial for Miss Davis, but did not request money for her.

(Miss Davis is being represented by six private attorneys and has never asked for appointed counsel in court.)

Meanwhile, according to United Press International, Mrs. Ralph M. Stair, newly elected moderator of the United Presbyterian Church, said in Wisconsin this week that she had received a letter from black ministers in New York who said they would repay the money June 15.

The black pastors said in the letter they felt they had a "moral obligation to take some appropriate action on the issue."

Molotov Cocktail At Bank

A burning Molotov cocktail was found nestled against the East Petaluma branch of Bank of America at 2:15 a.m. today.

Police said Will McLoud, 37, of Sonoma, a San Francisco Chronicle distributor, saw the flame on the east side of the building at 1420 East Washington Street and alerted police.

Officers said the wick was still burning at the base of the center window when they arrived. The wooden window frame was scorched by the heat.

Police said there was no evidence that the object had been thrown at the building, but had probably been carefully placed among flowers. The object was described as a pint bottle of Hickory Pit Barbecue Sauce half-filled with gasoline.

This is the second consecutive day of attacks on banks in Petaluma. Three gunshots were fired through three windows at the Bank of Marin on Kentucky Street early yesterday morning.

The "Star Spangled Banner" was made the official National Anthem in 1931.

Junior Livestock Queen Selected

Annette Bunce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bunce, Olema, was chosen last night, to reign over the West Marin Junior Livestock Show, June 19 and 20, as show queen.

The 18-year-old senior at Tomales High School, beat out four other contestants, selling more than $2,500 in tickets to the show.

Show princesses are Elaine Zetterquist, 17-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zetterquist, Inverness Park, who sold $1,300 in tickets, and Patricia Lyman, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. Lyman, Ocean Parkway, Bolinas. Miss Lyman sold $896 in tickets.

Miss Bunce, a former 4-H member will receive a $500 scholarship and the three contestants will receive a trip to Disneyland. She will hand out trophies and parade prizes at the two-day show.

Innocent Plea To Bad Check

Roger Gaillard Harrington 32, of San Rafael, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of passing a bad check.

A jury trail was set for the week of Aug. 30.

Mill Valley Opens Budget Talks By Voting Pay For Councilmen

The Mill Valley City Council opened hearings last night on a proposed $2,175,000 municipal budget for 1971-72 and voted to begin paying councilmen $150 a month starting next year.

The pay proposal, which was defeated both by city voters and by councilmen themselves last year, squeaked by on a 3-2 vote, with Mayor George E. Wickham and councilman Robert H. Andersen voting against it.

By voting to begin the monthly salaries, councilmen said they were not committing the new council elected next April to the pay proposal, but merely providing them the opportunity if they so desire.

Inclusion of this item in the budget, councilmen said, will enable the matter of council salaries to be a campaign issue or a ballot measure in April. If approved, salaries would begin May 1.

Without last night's council action, salaries could not begin until 1974 under state law, which provides that no council may vote pay for itself. The salary issue still must be confirmed by a passage or an ordinance at a subsequent meeting.

The council approved $275,963 in departmental budgets last night and deleted $10,190, according to City Mgr. William H. Cunningham.

Cut were $7,500 for council salaries (Cunningham had included $9,000 to begin salaries next month), wages and capital outlay totaling $1,690 from the finance department and $1,000 from the nondepartmental budget.

Approved were the following budgets: City Council, $3,150; contingency, $35,000; city manager, $31,199; city clerk, $18,433; finance $52,025; city attorney, $13,400; general government, $31,144; nondepartmental, $86,812, and promotion $4,800.

The council will hold its next meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday at City Hall to consider community development, parks and recreation and library budgets. The meeting will be preceded by a closed session at 7:30 p.m. to discuss contract negotiations with city employees.

Three Die In Home Explosion

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A woman and two children were killed today in an explosion at their southeast Los Angeles home.

Police said they received a "family dispute" call just prior to the blast, and arson detectives were investigating the cause of the explosion.

The victims, a woman a boy and a girl, were found in the rear of the home. They were not immediately identified.

City firemen estimated about $20,000 damage was done to the house by the fire after the explosion.

Shoreline Trustees Rescind Pay Hike

The Shoreline Unified School District board last night cut its tentative budget for 1971-72 and rescinded a 4 per cent hike in the salary schedule.

Supt. Charles A. McCully said the tentative budget was to $1,128,216, down $68,024, because tax revenue will be less than expected. Assessed valuation increased eight-tenths of 1 per cent where 8 per cent was expected, he said.

McCully said the 4 per cent cost-of-living raise approved May 11 would have cost about $28,000. It would be reinstated if the district gets assistance from Marin County or legislation is passed to reimburse the district for the seashore and agricultural preserve losses, Mc Cully said.

District employes were cooperative and understanding about the rescinding of the pay raises, he said.

The board also: — authorized hiring five teachers, Donna Issel, home economics and girls physical education, $8,802 a year; Bruce McGlochlin, industrial arts, $7,560; and Suzanne Baty, English, $9,630; all at Tomales High School; Robert Mosher and Ellen Floyd, each $7,560 a year, both at West Marin School, and Alfred Rodoni, custodian, West Marin School, $5,964.

It accepted the resignation of Joan Smith, Teacher at West Marin.

Antisuicide Center Sets 24-Hour Phone Service

After two years of preparation, the Marin Suicide Prevention Center will be ready to man a switchboard 24 hours daily for crisis calls, beginning July 1.

The service will come none too soon, according to Keith C. Craig, president of the crisis center's board. Since Jan. 1, some 31 suicides have been reported in Marin County, compared with 47 during all of 1970, Craig said.

Eighty center volunteers already are trained to handle four-hour stints once a week at the crisis center switchboard. Seventy other volunteers are undergoing screening and training, Craig said.

The center has applied for federal and state mental health funding. Meanwhile, volunteers are financing the switchboard and office expenses, Craig said.

The switchboard will be located in a Central Marin church. Other details of how the switchboard will help distressed Marin County residents will be announced shortly before the crisis center begins operation, Craig said.

The opening date decision and other developments were reported to the center's general membership last night, Craig said. He also spoke before the Marvelous Marin Breakfast Club today about the long-sought suicide prevention switchboard.

Cold Meat Turns Out To Be 'Hot'

San Rafael police last night saw a man walking on Belvedere Street east of Lisbon Street, carrying 60 pounds of cold meat.

The cold meat turned out to be "hot," having just been stolen from Colombo Meat Co. at 127 Verdi Street, police reported. So they arrested the man.

Johnny Lin Motta, 19, of 1718 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, was booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of burglary. Bail had not yet been set and he was scheduled to appear this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

According to police, the front door to the meat company had been broken and the door to the freezer left open. Police photographed the four 15-pound New York strips valued at $150 and returned them to owner Mario A. Colombo. Colombo returned the "hot" meat back to his freezer.

Motta is also awaiting trial on a charge of burglarizing a Sausalito store last month and an earlier battery case.

Test Paper Sales Bring Arrests

CAIRO (UPI)—Police have arrested an education inspector, a woman teacher and a school janitor for releasing examination questions to students, the semiofficial Al Ahram newspaper said today.

It said the janitor bought the questions from the inspector and sold them to the teacher who, in turn, sold them to the students.

Cairo Radio announced two days ago examinations for preparatory schools had been postponed after authorities discovered the questions had been leaked.

Trailer. A "trailer" is a vehicle or movable structure constructed, designed and intended for use, used or capable of being used, as a residence, place of abode, domicile or shelter or enclosure for human habitation, whether mounted permanently upon a movable chasis, whether equipped with permanent or temporary wheels, tires or running gear, or susceptible of being hauled, towed, moved or transported from place to place.

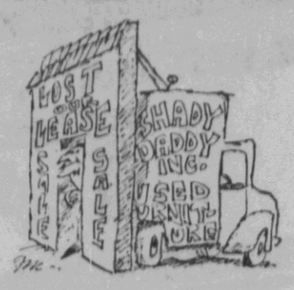
LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Consumer Legal Remedies Act



The 1970 Legislature passed the Consumer Legal Remedies Act. It seeks to block deceptive practices by sellers of goods and services. This law is designed to protect the buyer of goods that are mainly used for personal or household purposes. Repair services for personal use also come under the act.

It states that it is unfair competition and a "deceptive act or practice" to do any of these things:

1. To pass off goods or services as those of another.

2. To misrepresent the source, sponsorship, approval, or certification of goods or services.

3. To fake the geographic origin of the goods or services.

4. To say that the goods are original or new if they are not.

5. To advertise goods or services with intent not to sell them as advertised, or not to supply reasonable expectable demand.

6. To make false or misleading statements about reasons for reduced prices such as "fire sale" or "lost lease."

7. To say that replacements or repair services are needed when they are not.

8. To indicate that the consumer will receive a rebate, discount or other benefit at a later date after the sale.

Any consumer who is hurt by any of the banned practices can sue. He can recover his actual damages and in no case is the award to be less than $300. He can also get an order stopping the methods or unlawful practices. He can get punitive damages too if the acts are outrageous or intentionally false.

Suits might be brought in the municipal or justice court in any area where the business is located or where the sale took place.

Any consumer may also bring a suit for a class action to stop the practice, which means he can sue on behalf of other consumers similarly damaged by the unlawful practice. "Class suits" allow many persons to get together to hire a lawyer to present their common claims.

The businessman who acts in good faith or who might have made an honest mistake cannot be sued. He still has to make suitable corrections, repair or remedy the goods and services for those who were hurt.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Romans Knew Pain Of Varicosity, But Suffered Without Our Cure

Varicose veins of the legs can be likened to many worms under the skin. These vessels are totally useless in that they have lost the power to transmit blood toward the heart against gravity. The main problem is that the walls are weakened and when the passageway is stretched, the cuplike valves that hold back the blood between the contractions of the heart are pulled apart.

THE VALVES are located every few inches within the vein and are indispensable to their normal function. When they do not 'hold' on standing, the blood actually flows downward and must be carried off by alternate routes. It is for this reason that removal or destruction of a varicosity always benefits the individual. The alternate veins must be in good condition because they are doing more than their share of work.

The surgical treatment of varicosities goes back many centureis. In the old days of Rome, one man considered the possibility of tying off or removing the unsightly deformity.

SUCH A CASE was recorded in "Plutarch's Lives" (Clough, 1959). ". . . when, without being told, he stretched out one of his legs and silently without changing countenance endured the most excessive torments in the cutting, neither flinching nor complaining; but when the surgeon went to the other leg, he declined to have it done saying I see the cure is not worth the pain."

Nowadays vein removal is done under an anesthetic. The most popular surgical technique is stripping out the varicose veins with a special device. In this way the offender is eliminated completely.

ANOTHER method is to make small incisions and ligate the enlarged veins and connecting branches. Surgical treatments require a 3 to 5 day stay in the hospital.

The injection treatment of varicose veins has been popular for many decades and is still done by many physicians. A sclerosing solution that irritates the wall of the vein is used. Following the injection, the vein is obliterated by a clot.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

FEVERISH INTESTINE

C. M. writes: What does a temperature in the colon mean?

REPLY

Nothing. Every organ in the body has a temperature. Even if the colon had a fever I doubt if it could be determined with an ordinary thermometer. I assume you do not refer to rectal temperature which is an alternate method of taking body temperature. It is one degree higher than oral temperature.

VIRULENT AND CONTAGIOUS

S. F. V. writes: If a person visits a sick friend who later had a diagnosis of penumonia — could the visitor contract the disease?

REPLY

Pneumococci organisms are virulent and contagious. These same "bugs" are responsible for several respiratory infections. As a result, the visitor's reaction to the exposure may be a cold or a sore throat rather than penumonia.

THE BEST PROTEINS

W. E. writes: What is in the best proteins that entitles them to be called high grade?

REPLY

Protein foods are broken into many different amino acids during the digestive process. Meat, fish, milk, and eggs are considered high grade because of their complete amino acid composition and digestibility.

Crash Survivor Claims Safety Rules Omitted

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI)— One of three survivors of an Allegheny Airlines crash that killed 28 people says no safety instructions were given passengers before takeoffs in Groton, Conn., and Washington.

Janet McCaa, 28, a lawyer for the National Labor Relations Board, said Wednesday passengers were welcomed aboard the propjet flight at both stops but not told safety procedures or the location of emergency exits.

Her statement at a bedside interview for 25 newsmen at Yale-New Haven Hospital provoked an immediate rebuttal from the airline that it was "inconceivable" that stewardess Judy Manning, who was killed, omitted the instructions.

Underclassmen Riot At School

EAST PALO ALTO (UPI)— Roving bands of freshmen and sophomores turned Ravenswood High School's final day into a shambles Wednesday.

Fifty-nine windows were broken, fires were set in classroom waste baskets, and eggs and fruit were thrown at teachers and school officials. A storage building was set afire and two parked cars were damaged.

Seniors were off on a picnic and juniors were taking final examinations while the younger students rioted.

$50,000 Fire At Santana Restaurant

TARZANA (UPI) — Fire caused an estimated $50,000 damage to Santana's restaurant here late Wednesday.

Firemen said two custodians who were in the building when the blaze erupted shortly after closing time were unhurt.

No Baseball Wagering, Says Clete

NEW YORK (UPI) — Clete Boyer, Atlanta's recently released third baseman was fined $1,000 by Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn today for admitting he bet on football games during 1968 and 1969.

Kuhn's action was the first taken against a major leaguer for betting since he suspended Denny McLain on Feb. 19, 1970 for gambling and being involved in bookmaking activities.

Boyer, 34, asked for and was given his unconditional release by Atlanta a week ago as the outgrowth of a newspaper story in which he was harshly critical of Paul Richards, the Braves' Vice President of Baseball Operations, and Lum Harris, the Braves' manager.

Technically, Boyer is a free agent now and that ostensibly would place him out of Kuhn's jurisdiction except that Boyer has had "three or four offers" from major league clubs, admittedly is anxious to sign with one of them, but discovered he couldn't until his status was settled. Presumably, today's action by Kuhn clears the way for Boyer signing with another club as soon as he pays the fine.

The Oakland A's were interested in Boyer as soon as he was given his release from the Braves. Boyer said Charlie Finley, the A's owner, had called him twice and said he was anxious to have him. Later, however, when Boyer called back he said he found Finley "cold."

In announcing his action, Kuhn said the fining of Boyer resulted from investigation of several months duration and included meetings with Boyer in his office last Monday and today.

Kuhn added "the fine would be payable upon Boyer's signing with a club in professional baseball."

The Commissioner also announced that he is inquiring "into the circumstances surrounding the release of Boyer by the Atlanta club."

While Kuhn did not spell out those circumstances, it is known that Boyer first gave the Braves his personal check for $10,000 before they gave him his unconditional release a week ago.

Under the Players' Association Agreement, Boyer was entitled to two months termination pay which, in his case, came to $15,087. But Boyer had received an advance of $5,000 from the Braves, having been paid twice monthly beginning Jan. 1, and the way Richard figured Boyer had collected $5,000 more than he had actually earned.

So Richards asked for the $10,000 check before agreeing to give Boyer his release.

Boyer appeared in Kuhn's office today with Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Players Association, and Dick Moss, the attorney for the group.

Before appearing at the Commissioner's office, Boyer told Milton Richman, UPI columnist, he had bet on "college and professional football games.

"I never bet on any baseball games though," he said. "Besides, I don't think what I did was so terrible. I'm not ashamed to say that I bet. I know a lot of people who do. Good people, too."

PRE-SUMMER SLUMBER?

New Name For The June Swoon

MONTREAL (UPI) —If the bats of the San Francisco Giants aren't in a June swoon, then they must be in presummer slumber.

When the Giants had lost four in a row to start off the month of June, manager Charlie Fox said talk of a "June swoon" on behalf of his club was a lot of alliterative baloney. Fox now may have second throughts after the Giants were shut out on one hit 4-0 by Montreal righthander Steve Renko Wednesday night for their seventh loss in eight games in June.

However, the seven-game bulge the Giants had atop the National League West over second-place Los Angeles remained intact as the Dodgers also lost.

But what really hurt Fox is the fact he hasn't had a win from either of his two pitching aces, Gaylord Perry and Juan Marichal, in each of their last two outings.

Renko followed a superb winning performance by teammate Bill Stoneman the previous night by handcuffing a Giants lineup which featured the likes of Willie McCovey, Ken Henderson, Bobby Bonds and Dick Dietz.

Dietz lashed a clean single up the middle in the second inning for the only safety off Renko who improved his record to 7-4.

"We played Dietz to pull the ball," said Renko. "But he hit a grounder right by me. I think if I would have tried, I could have knocked it down."

Renko admitted the Giants worried him in the eighth. "I put two men on base, then I had to face McCovey," said Renko. "But he hit into a doubleplay and that got me out of trouble."

Renko's masterpiece was the first one-hitter ever tossed at Jarry Park and his shutout was the first recorded by an Expos' pitcher this year.

Perry lasted 6 2-3 innings, gave up all of the Montreal runs and was saddled with his fourth loss against six wins.

JIM GILMARTIN

It's A Banner Month For Baseball Buffs

This will be a banner month for Marin County baseball buffs with two high school all-star contests slated at San Rafael's Albert Park.

First, there's the annual North-South Marin game June 17 with Novato, San Marin, Terra Linda and San Rafael comprising the North against the Rebels of Drake, Marin Catholic, Redwood and Tamalpais for the South.

Jack Sims of San Rafael will coach the North with Al Ahlsten of Tam directing the South. The Knights of Columbus are sponsoring this one.

Then, the following Thursday, June 24, it will be Marin versus Sonoma in a classic that should pack the joint because of the intense inter-county rivalry.

One of the committeemen of the sponsoring Marin Italian Athletic Club is trying to persuade me into becoming an honorary garlic-snapper for the day and has asked me to throw out the first meatball. I'm thinking it over. Hmmm, Gimi Gilmartini doesn't sound bad, does it?

Anyway, both all-star games will have former major league stars on a panel to select the outstanding players. Among those lsted are Vernon "Lefty" Gomez, Artie Schallock and Joe DeMaestri of the New York Yankees and Sam Chapman of the Philadelphia Athletics.

MARIN COUNTY Athletic League footballers are casting nervous glances toward Terra Linda High — and for good reason. The T. L. Trojans, who have won outright or shared the last five championships, expect another fine crop in 1971. According to Coach Don Lucas, who wound up spring training last Saturday, "This was the most enthusiastic turnout I've ever had. In our final intra-squad game we scored 61 points combined. We'll be quicker than we were last year and we'll throw well. But, we won't be as tough in the line because we've lost some big tackles by transfer."

SPEAKING OF Terra Linda, that school's fine athlete Matt Bowman has been named winner of the Al Thomson Memorial Scholarship Trophy in honor of the popular educator and coach who passed away last August.

The trophy has been started by members of one of Thomson's championship teams at San Rafael High and is based on scholarship, athletic ability and need. Bowman, who has a 3.3 grade point average (4.0 is straight A), was All-League on both offense and defense in football and also a middle distance runner in track. I suspect you'll be hearing a lot more about him in the future.

NOVATO CONTRIBUTED mightily to the success of Chico State's varsity baseball team this season. John Sjoblom, the team's top hitter with a .311 average, was named top defensive player and Mike Ferretti also earned his letter.

IT SEEMS all roads are leading to Nevada golf courses. Big Reginald Carolan of Novato, the former tight end for the Kansas City Chiefs who is now a sales representative for Xerox, joined New York Jets quarterback Joe Namath and two other amateurs yesterday in winning the first day's prize in the 54-hole Harrah's Invitational Tournament at Lake Tahoe.

And next week, Dr. Theodore D. Hiatt of San Anselmo and Joseph Thurston and James H. Behr of Mill Valley will be competing in the "Jack Ross Dialysis Golf Classic," also at Tahoe.

Being a dumb-dumb, I hadda look up "Dialysis" in the dictionary and it's really a complicated word. I understand it means the separation of parts which are normally united. I'm glad Dr. Hiatt is going along. They may need him.

Giants, A's Pick Pitchers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants added more pitchers Wednesday to its baseball draft list in the secondary phase of the selections and the Oakland A's also focused on mound strength.

The Giants, who selected five prep pitchers in the opening phase of the draft, picked two more righthanded hurlers, Terry Wayne, Columbus, Ga., and Paul Patterson, Canton, N.Y., in the secondary phase involving players who previously had been drafted but had not signed contracts.

The remaining three selections by the Giants were Stephen Lewis, outfielder, Visalia, Calif.; Bill Adkison, infielder, Ellensburg, Wash.; and Gordon Carter, outfielder, Fullerton, Calif.

The A's picked four pitchers Wednesday, two lefthanders and two righthanders. The southpaws were Stephen James, Whittier, Calif., and James Horton, Ypsilanti, Mich. The righthanders were Ronald Corbett, Medford, Mass., and Michael McNeilly, Ongview, Wash., who also plays shortstop.

The A's also selected second baseman Stephen Miles of Downey, Calif., and third baseman Charles Bates of Los Angeles.

Bowman Canadiens' New Coach

MONTREAL (UPI) — The Montreal Canadiens today announced the resignation of Stanley Cup winning coach Al MacNeil and xmwx Scotty Bowman as his successor.

Bowman, whose job as general manager and coach of the St. Louis Blues ended by mutual agreement at season's end, was given a one year contract, Canadiens' general manager Sam Pollock announced.

MacNeil will move to the Montreal Voyageurs club in Halifax, N.S., as coach and general manager.

A'S DOBSON

A Pain In Neck To A.L. Foes

OAKLAND (UPI) —Whatever soreness Chuck Dobson had in his pitching elbow has become a pain in the neck for the rest of the American League.

Showing no signs of the ligament ailment which he had under observation at the famed Mayo Clinic in April, the big righthander of the Oakland Athletics stopped the Boston Red Sox on five hits Wednesday night for a 6-1 win.

"This is the best I've pitched all season," said a jubilant Dobson. "I feel my performance was as good as any game I pitched last July and August when I had an eight-game win streak going."

However, he admitted he tired in the late innings en route to his fourth victory without a loss.

He lost both his no-hit bid and a shutout in the fifth inning when Billy Conigliaro touched him for a solo homer. Oakland catcher Dave Duncan called the home run "an accident."

"The count was 3-2 and Chuck still had a nohitter going," said Duncan. "So I thought there wouldn't be any harm in not giving him any good pitch and just walking him. The pitch was bad —a hanging curve —but he hit it out anyway."

Dobson helped his own cause by driving in two runs with a double in the second and a single off reliever Sparky Lyle in the eighth.

A combined record of Oakland's top three starters —Vida Blue, Jim Hunter and Dobson —is now 25-5. The latest win kept Oakland seven games ahead of Kansas City in the American League West.

The A's scored all their runs off Boston starter and loser Gary Peters, now 6-5. He was knocked out in the fourth after giving up a home run to Dick Green. He was relieved by Bill Lee, southpaw who prepped at nearby Terra Linda High School. Lee pitched two innings, giving up one hit and striking out three.

Sal Bando homered behind a Tommy Davis single in the third. Green's solo shot came a frame later. It was the ninth homer of the year for Green who hit only four all last season.

The Athletics have an off day today before opening a three-game series against the New York Yankees at the Coliseum Friday night. Hunter (9-3) is scheduled to hurl Friday night with Blue (12-2) on Saturday.

NOVATO STAR IS DRAFTED BY ANGELS

Dave Judnick, righthanded pitching star for the Novato High School Hornets, yesterday was drafted by the California Angels of the American League in professional baseball's free agent draft.

Judnick was the 784th player selected in the marathon grab bag of talent. The Angels drafted him for their Davenport, Iowa team in a Class A League. He was the only Marin County player selected.

Choice Of Sports For Archie Manning

NEW YORK (UPI)—Archie Manning has picked up some more ammunition for his contract battles with the New Orleans Saints.

Manning, the celebrated quarterback from the University of Mississippi, was drafted to play football for the National Football League Saints but has been unable to reach contract terms. He gained another avenue Wednesday when the Chicago White Sox chose the 6-foot-3 Manning as a shortstop in the secondary phase of the annual baseball free agent summer draft.

Manning, who played shortstop for Ole Miss but made his reputation as a daring quarterback also had been drafted last summer but passed up signing to play his senior year.

Another much publicized quarterback, Joe Theismann of Notre Dame, also was chosen Wednesday, going to Minnesota in the late sessions of the regular phase and also as a shortstop. Theismann, who originally had said he would play with the Miami Dolphins of the National Football League, later signed with a Canadian team.

The No. 1 pick in Wednesday's secondary phase, involving players previously drafted by unsigned, was Pete Broberg, a right-handed pitcher from Dartmouth, who was taken by the Washington Senators.

Broberg, who turned down an offer reported at $175,000 from the Oakland Athletics, may be in a Washington uniform soon if owner Bob Short has his way. Short says that he'll make Broberg, a 6-3, 195-pounder, a lucrative offer which may put him on the Washington roster this season.

Burt Hooton of the University of Texas, considered by many scouts as the top collegiate pitcher, was taken by the Chicago Cubs after Washington selected Broberg and third baseman Bob Ellis of Michigan State, the last of the "Big Three" college stars available, was grabbed up by the Milwaukee Brewers.

Softballers Win Two From Hamilton Team

Suburban Auto of San Rafael defeated Hamilton Air Force Base 3-1 and 6-1 last night in an exhibition softball doubleheader at Hamilton.

Ron McChesney and Joe Nystrom were the winning pitchers. Big blow of the night was Steve Henricksen's three-run homer in the second game.

Confident Orioles Stretch Their Lead Over Red Sox

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

If you listen to the Baltimore Orioles, you get the feeling that the American League's Eastern Division race is over.

The Orioles, rebounding after a faltering start, recorded their ninth victory in the last 10 games and seventh in a row Wednesday night as they defeated the Minnesota Twins 2-1 in 10 innings. The victory stretched Baltimore's Eastern lead over fading Boston, which lost to Oakland 6-1, to 2 1-2 games.

Frank Robinson's two-out double off the glove of right fielder Tony Oliva scored Don Buford from first with the winning run in the 10th and helped Mike Cuellar boost his record to 9-1. Buford had led off with a single.

The Orioles, to a man, feel they're on their way to another title.

"Three reasons for our success," said second baseman Dave Johnson. "Good pitching, excellent defense and most important, hitting balance through the lineup. The biggest boost we've gotten during the streak came from Pat Dobson Tuesday night when he pitched a big game over a hot-hitting club. (Dobson beat Minnesota 82). Cuellar is coming into his own now, with seven wins in a row. I look for us to get hot from here on in."

"I look for us to lead our division by five or six games at the All Star break," said pitcher Dave McNally. "We were playing bad ball earlier. Now we're doing what we should be doing and we're not surprised one bit.

Elsewhere in the AL, Kansas City edged Washington 5-4, Detroit shut out Milwaukee 3-0, Cleveland downed Chicago 3-1 and California shaded New York 4-3.

Chuck Harrison, recently recalled from Omaha of the American Association, smashed a two-out bases loaded single in the ninth inning to boost Kansas City past the Senators.

Harrison, making his first start since being recalled Monday, drove in Paul Schaal and Amos Otis to give the Royals their eighth victory in the last nine games. Schaal walked, Otis doubled and Lou Piniella was intentionally walked to set the stage for Harrison's game-winning hit.

Frank Howard homered in the fifth to give Washington a 4-2 lead but Joe Keough's RBI single cut that to one run in the sixth. Freddie Patek had three stolen bases for Kansas City.

Less Cain pitched a three-hitter for his first complete game of the season and Norm Cash backed him with a three-run homer as the Tigers beat Milwaukee. Cain, in the minors earlier this year with a shoulder injury, boosted his record to 4-1 with his first career shutout.

Cash's homer, his 12th, came after Al Kaline beat out an infield hit and Willie Horton was hit by a pitched ball and gave the veteran first baseman a tie for the league lead with Oliva.

Graig Nettles collected three hits and scored two runs to help Cleveland down the White Sox. Nettles doubled in the first and scored on an error and came home again in the sixth on Ray Fosse's hit. Alan Foster, with relief help in the ninth from Ed Farmer, gained his fifth victory against two losses.

Tony Gonzalez' two-out single in the bottom of the ninth scored Ken Berry with the winning run and enabled the Angels to beat New York. Berry singled leading off the ninth against Jim Hardin, took second on a sacrifice, moved to third on a long fly and scored easily on Gonzalez' hit.

Billy Cowan had a three-run homer for the Angels and reliever Dave LaRoche recorded his third victory without a loss.

Fred Steinmark's Body Laid To Rest

DENVER (UPI)—Mass of the Resurrection for Freddie Joe Steinmark, 22, the widely known Colorado and Texas athlete whose life was taken by cancer, was celebrated this morning at the Church of the Risen Christ.

Following the Mass, Steinmark was buried at the Mount Olive cemetery, not far from Wheat Ridge High School where he played football, basketball and baseball and earned the title of Colorado High School Athlete of the Year.

The former University of Texas defensive back died in Houston Sunday at the M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute of sarcoma cancer, the same disease that prompted doctors to amputate his leg in December of 1969, days after he played in the 15-14 Texas victory over Arkansas, clinching the national crown for the Longhorns.

The Rev. Fred Bomar, of Austin, Tex., and the Rev. George Fagan, of Denver, conducted the funeral mass.

The southeast Denver chapel overflowed with people Wednesday night at a rosary for Steinmark. The casket was closed, but near it was an enlarged photograph of Steinmark wearins his Texas football jersey—No. 28.
28.

Some of the persons who paid their last respects at the rosary were his high school coaches, Texas football coach Darrell Royal and three assistants, coaches from the regional teams he played on, many other high school and college coaches and scores of former high school teammates and opponents.

President Nixon, who sat in the stands for the TexasArkansas victory which was to be Steinmark's last athletic contest, sent a personal representative for the rosary and mass.

Pall bearers were his three cousins, David Anderson, Greg Duncan and John Marchitti, all of Denver; Wheat Ridge High School teammate Kent Chuck; Texas teammate Scott Henderson; and John Brock, president of the Texas Cowboys Association.

A Storm Threat In Tennis

BRISTOL, England (UPI)—The English weather has been a bane on tennis tournament for years. Now it threatens to precipitate a major conflict within the game.

Rain washed out play Wednesday in the Wills $48,000 championship after seriously restricting Tuesday's schedule to only five matches.

The tournament is a world championship tennis (WCT) group event and WCT executive director Mike Davies stated bluntly he intends to keep his stars here until its completed, even if that means extending the tournament into next week.

If he does, the continuing war between WCT and the International Lawn Tennis Federation (ILTF) will heat up considerably for the pros are due to play at Queens Club, London, and Eastbourne next week.

KENT, England (UPI)—Americans Clark Graebner and Jim McManus advanced Wednesday in the second round of the Kent Lawn Tennis Championships. Graebner defeated Peter Curtis of Great Britain, 6-3, 6-3, and McManus beat Britain's Paul Hutchins, 5-7, 6-4, 6-2.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A national drive to memorialize Vince Lombardi, the football coach who became a symbol of achieving excellence through hard work and total dedication was launched Wednesday by President Richard M. Nixon.

President Nixon announced that the campaign will seek to build the Vincent T. Lombardi Memorial Athletic Center at Lombardi's Alma Mater, Fordham University in New York.

Baseball

TUCSON, Ariz. (708)—Southern California, which carries a 48-12 record into defense of its NCAA baseball title, is rated the nation's best college baseball squad.

Winning 31 of their last 33 games, the Trojans topped Pan American of Texas (42-7) in the final 1971 poll by the Collegiate Baseball newspaper. Pan American knocked off strong Texas to gain a spot in the College World Series at Omaha, Neb.

Hockey

MONTREAL (UPI) —Appeals by the Toronto Maple Leafs and the Boston Bruins against fines imposed on them by National Hockey League President Clarence Campbell at the latter part of the season and in the playoffs have been terminated without any formal hearing.

This was part of the main business conducted Wednesday at the annual NHL meetings. The Boston club was satisfied new legislation to tighten up on fights, introduced Tuesday, will achieve their objective. They withdrew their appeal.

Campbell expressed his satisfaction of the tighter laws by reducing the Toronto fine from $5,000 to $2,000. The Leafs were involved in a bench clearing episode during the second game of the playoffs with New York.

Novato Nine Loses, 5-4

Mark Ross singled home two runs in the bottom of the ninth inning yesterday to give Petaluma a come-from-behind 5-4 victory over Novato in an American Legion Junior Baseball League game at Petaluma.

The winning bases-loaded blow came off Dave Judnick who relieved starting pitcher Dennis Buelerin in the ninth after Bueler walked Dan Cader and gave up an infield single to Sam Mesa. Judnick then walked Larry Cristiani to load the bats and Ross followed with his game-winner. Bueler was charged with the loss.

Judnick, while playing in left field before pitching, cracked a home run and triple for Novato while John Kidder with three singles and Jim Thompson with a double and single were other big hitters for the losers.

Toby's, Annex Nab Victories

Toby's Truckers outslugged Terra Linda 10-6 and Annex Motors edged Holiday Magic 5-3 yesterday in Marin County Joe DiMaggio Baseball League games.

Don Bianchini, Jack Stahl and Scott Cozza each had two hits for Toby's with the latter two each driving in two runs.

Kent Heyman with a triple and single, Scott Harrington with two singles and Stan Conte with two singles, including a key two-run blow in the second inning, led Annex.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Expos' 6-Foot-6 Ranko Uses Control, Not Power

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Steve Ranko of the Montreal Expos is finally gaining respect as a pitcher to be reckoned with in National League circles.

The 6-foot-6, 227-pound righthander who has taken much criticism from rival players because he doesn't use his size to overpower hitters, showed that knowledge and poise are more important than size Wednesday night when he one-hit the San Francisco Giants 4-0.

Only a second inning single by Dick Dietz, a ball that Renko said he could have flagged down if he had made an effort, deprived the 26-year-old from a niche in the baseball record book. But, while it was the first one-hitter ever pitched in Montreal's Jarry Park, Renko was rather calm over his sparkling effort.

"I guess I'd have to say that last year, when I threw a three-hitter and shut out St. Louis 80, I was more thrilled. But I'll take a one-hitter or a 10-hitter, as long as it's a victory," he said.

Renko, as usual, did not try to overpower the Giants. He struck out only four and walked five in defeating San Francisco for the first time in his career.

"He's not supposed to try and overpower people. That's not his game," says pitching coach Cal McLish. "He's a control pitcher. He has two different fast balls and the ball is lively. His slider is his best pitch. He throws the slider as hard as he throws the fast ball. Control of these pitches is his secret."

Renko, who boosted his record to 7-4, said he might have made a play on the ball Dietz hit had it been really necessary at the time.

"We played Dietz to pull the ball, but he hit a grounder right by me. I think if I would have tried, I could have knocked it down," he said.

Renko, a former first baseman who was converted to a pitcher when he was with the Mets' organization, also contributed to his own cause with a run-scoring double in the fifth as the Expos handed the Giants their seventh loss in eight games.

In other NL action, Philadelphia beat Los Angeles 9-4, New York beat San Diego 4-2, Atlanta whipped St. Louis 8-3, Cincinnati nipped Houston 2-1 in 10 innings and Chicago defeated Pittsburgh 3-1.

Home runs by Deron Johnson, Byron Browne and Don Money enabled the Phillies to defeat the Dodgers and brought rookie southpaw Ken Reynolds his first major league triumph. Steve Garvey had a homer for Los Angeles.

Bud Harrelson tripled in the tying run and scored the deciding run on a single by pinch-hitter Ken Singleton as the Mets rallied for four runs in the eighth to defeat San Diego.

Zoilo Versalles knocked in three runs, including two during a six-run fifth inning, as the Braves downed the Cardinals. Phil Niekro went the distance for the Braves to record his fourth victory in 10 decisions.

Johnny Bench's 15th homer of the year broke a 1-1 tie in the eighth and gave the Reds a victory over the Astros. Clay Carroll was the winner in relief.

Ferguson Jenkins gained his 10th victory of the season on a seven-hitter as the Cubs beat the Pirates. Brock Davis, a rookie outfielder, drove in two runs and scored another for the Cubs while Willie Stargell hit his 20th homer for the Pirates.

Southpaw Bryant Finds The Answer

MONTREAL — Ron Bryant is the only southpaw starter the Giants have. The way he has been pitching he is the only southpaw starter they need.

The 23-year-old lefty from Davis, Calif., wasn't in the starting rotation when the season opened. Bryant's spring training record wasn't bad but it wasn't good, either. It was so-so, 12 walks in 21 innings and an ERA of 3.43. At least, it showed improvement over last year.

LAST SEASON Bryant's 5-8 record with the Giants was just the way he pitched — 103 hits in 96 innings, plus 38 walks, for a 4.73 ERA. The year before wasn't much better — 60 hits in 58 innings, plus 25 walks, for a 4.34 ERA.

So it was only logical that Bryant would be banished to the bullpen when the 1971 season opened.

On April 19 Bryant emerged from the bullpen when Frank Reberger hurt his arm in the first inning while pitching against the Cardinals in Candlestick Park. There were two Cardinals on base and nobody out. Bryant got all 27 outs in that game but couldn't be credited with a complete game since he hadn't started it. He was credited with a 4-2 win.

FOUR DAYS later in Pittsburgh, Bryant made his first start and this time he brought in his first shutout, 2-0, on a three-hit, no walk, triumph over the Pirates.

Since then Bryant has run his record to 5-2 in nine starts. In 77 innings he has walked 19, struck out 48, allowed 21 runs on 70 hits and trimmed his ERA to 2.45.

Tonight Bryant will make his 10th start. If he is successful in the series finale against the Expos it will be his sixth win, a career high for him in the big time.

NATURALLY, Bryant is elated about his success thus far and so is Charlie Fox. The manager of the Giants can't find enough nice things to say about the young southpaw.

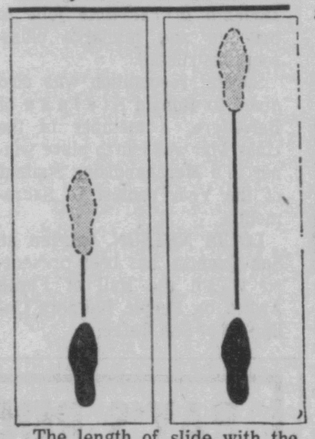
"That young man is one of the big reasons we are where we are today," said Fox. "We desperately needed a southpaw starter and he proved in that April 19 game he was it. His follow-up shutout of the Pirates confirmed it.

"I REMEMBER how his teammates congratulated him in the traditional way after he blanked the Bucs. 'Don't forget how you did it,' they said. He hasn't. I don't mean he's expected to shut out everybody. That's ridiculous. But he hasn't forgotten how to be consistent. His record ever since April 19 has been one of consistency to a new-found confidence in himself and the fact that he has been concentrating on every pitch as he never did before.

"I HAVE a mental picture of each pitch now before releasing it," he said. "I can see it going just where I want it to go."

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG



The length of slide with the left foot at release is optional. It varies according to the speed and weight of the bowler. But remember — it is important to maintain good balance with whatever slide length you use. This rules out a hop or a sudden stop.

Marin Race Trio At Laguna

Robert Lusk, Bill Van Horn and Stuart Fisher, all of Marin County, have filed entries for the national championship Olympia Sprints Sports Car Races set for Laguna Seca Raceway in Monterey, June 18-20.

Lusk, of 14 Denise Court, Novato, will see action in the Class F Production division at the helm of an Alfa Romeo. Van Horn, another Novatoite, is scheduled to drive a Ford Anglia in the Class C Sedan race, while Fisher of San Rafael is slated to compete in the Formula Vee division in a Lynx Vee one seater.

The Marin County drivers are hoping to gain valuable national points at Laguna in a bid to represent this region in the fall All American Championship runoffs. A record number of more than 300 entries is expected in the gala sports car racing weekend at the famed 1.9 mile, nine-turn Monterey road racing circuit.

The Laguna race boasts some of the heavyweight factory supported team entries including cars from MG, Datsun, Triumph and Porsche.

Sunday's card of five feature races has also been tabbed as Model Car Day at the track. All children 12 years and under will receive free from the Sports Car Racing Association of the Monterey Peninsula a Johnny Lightning Model Race Car, auto racing decals and a special STP auto race coloring book and pen. The gift package will be handed out at the gate along with other premiums.

Practice and qualifications are scheduled for Friday, June 18. Five final races will be held Saturday and five events are on the Sunday card. Tickets for the Olympia Sprints are now on sale at Macy's and Ticketron locations throughout Northern California.

Three-Hitter Paces Softball Victory

Stan Gilstrap pitched a three-hitter to lead Fairfax Shell to an 8-0 rout of Cain's Tires while Bob Phillips led Brandon Tires to a 5-4 victory over The Bar last night in the San Rafael Softball League at Albert Park.

In the second game, Phillips opened the seventh inning with a single, stole second and third bases and scored the tie-breaking run on a passed ball.

Golf Fans Pulling For Hinson

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI)— Local golfers have a champion in the $150,000 fourth annual Kemper Open invitational tournament —27-year-old Larry Hinson of nearby Gastonia.

Hinson, who suffered a bout with polio in his youth which impaired his left arm, scorched the Quail Hollow Country Club course with a seven-under-par 65 in the pro-am event Wednesday, tying the course record.

Hinson's score was worth $500 as the day's lowest and equaled his second-round effort in the 1970 Kemper in which he finished in a four-way tie for second place.

Less than two hours after he cleared the course, rain, which had threatened on and off during the day, fell in a torrential thunderstorm.

Showers or thunderstorms were predicted for the afternoons throughout most of the tournament, but no schedule changes were planned Wednesday.

Hinson, recipient of the Ben Hogan award earlier this year for being active in golf despite a physical handicap, finished late in the day to outshine earlier performances by Lee Trevino and Gary Player.

Trevino, the talkative money-leader of 1970 and wiry little Player of South Africa, both pre-tourney favorites, covered the course with six-under 66s.

Beliveau: From Ice To Office

MONTREAL (UPI) —Jean Beliveau moved behind a desk today in the executive offices of the Montreal Canadiens, ending an awards-filled career which spanned 18 National Hockey League seasons.

Beliveau announced his official retirement from active hockey Wednesday and told newsmen he had accepted the position of vice president in charge of public relations for the club.

Beliveau played 18 years with the Canadiens, 10 of them as team captain. During his NHL career he scored 507 goals. In his final season, he picked up 76 points on 25 goals and 51 assists.

"It was a hard decision for me to make," Beliveau said.

"First of all, I still like the action on the ice, second of all, it's because of the hundreds of letters I received asking me to stay another year or two. Thirdly, because of requests from my teammates to stay.

"But I think I took the right decision because at 40, you have to get closer to your family.

"It was a great honor for me to be captain for 10 years and to be associated with 10 Stanley Cup winners," he added.

CPC International In Steady Growth

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. CPC International seems to be standing still in a rising market. Our 420 shares, costing $3,000, are an outgrowth of the Best Foods merger in 1958. From what I can determine the company is in good shape financially with a satisfactory growth rate. We are in our eighties and wish to leave a sound portfolio for our heirs. Can you offer any suggestions? — C.E.

A. The 51 per cent recovery gain in CPC shares is right in line with the rebound in the Dow Industrial Average from the 1970 lows. Although shares have moved sideways since the mid-March recovery high, this is to be expected after a 7-month uninterrupted price climb. Price action for the remainder of the year should be above-average, based on projected operating results for 1971.

In the first quarter of the current year, CPC reported 12.6 per cent increase in sales to $352 million. Strong growth is anticipated in foreign operations which now contribute over 50 per cent to sales and income. Shares should be retained for gradual ppreciation.

Q. I hold Madison Fund and each March receive a distribution which is partly from income and partly capital gains. This year the income dividend was omitted in the March payment. Am I right? — S.W.

A. Since 1968, Madison Fund's March distributions have included a decreasing amount from investment income: 29 cents in 1968, 15 cents in 1969 and 11 cents last year. For those same years, capital gains have totaled: $2.77, $3.11 and $1.43. The 75 cents which was distributed this March is understood to have come from accumulated long-term capital gains. Exact tax status of the distribution will be announced later in the year.

WATCHING OVER BABY

A new sensor device developed by the Codman company sounds an alarm when a baby's breathing stops. The sensor shown above is attached to the ribbed air mattress on which the baby is sleeping. If the baby's breathing stops, displacement of air from one compartment to another in the mattress also stops, tripping a combination sound-light alarm. It is being used in the premature birth ward of a suburban Chicago hospital. (UPI Telephoto)

Packard Report On Lockheed Called Damaging

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Deputy Defense Secretary David Packard came to Capitol Hill to endorse the Nixon administration's save-Lockheed legislation but wound up giving testimony damaging to that cause.

He gave the Senate Banking Committee Wednesday the clear impression that Lockheed is headed for bankrupcy even if the White House rescue operation is enacted into law.

Packard, a former defense contractor himself, was critical of Lockheed's management and warned that approval of the administration's proposed $250 million loan guarantee could be a "dangerous" precedent.

In fact, he said, if he were a senator he would vote against it if Congress, the White House or the defense industry took its approval to mean that big government contractors could look to Washington for help whenever they run into financial troubles.

37 Per Cent Boost

ANAHEIM (BW) — General Automation Inc. has announced third quarter sales of $2,582,000, up more than 37 per cent from sales of $1,882,000 for the like period last year.

Net Income Up

PACIFIC GROVE (BW) — California Health Care has reported it had a 95 per cent increase in net income for the year ended April 30 over the preceding year, and a 70 per cent increase in revenues.

Stocks Up, Turnover Slows Down

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks moved higher through the morning hours Thursday on the New York Stock Exchange. Turnover slowed.

Shortly before noon the Dow Jones Industrial Average of 30 selected blue chips stood at 915.30, up 2.84, and Standard & Poor's 500 stock index gained 0.17 to 100.46. Among the 1,403 issues on the tape, 591 advanced and 438 declined.

One analyst described the trading as a "half hearted rally" and attributed much of the gain to the after effect from the rebound in glamor issues Wednesday. Another felt there was some bargain hunting but said he expected trading to move in a narrow range because some uneasy investors took to the sidelines with speculation that interest rates were about to rise.

Among the day's most active issues were Ling-Temco-Vought up 5-8, Southern California Edison up 1-2, American Telephone up 5-8 and Burlington Industries off 1-8. Bausch & Lomb, also active, lost 1-2.

Oils were firm. Aircrafts soft and airlines mixed.

Resorts International "A" at around 51,000 shares was an active issue on the American Stock Exchange. Prices on the Amex were higher in moderate trading.

Ambitious Forecast

LONDON (BW) — Bulk charter passenger traffic carried by both scheduled and supplemental airlines across the North Atlantic should quadruple by 1976, compared to today's volume, predicts Henry P. Huff, president of Trans International Airlines.

NEW YORK (BW) — Trans World Airlines is accepting $220 youth fare reservations for flights from the United States to Paris and Brussels. The change provides for $200 round-trip in the off-season, $220 in the peak season.

$25 Fines Given In Boat Concert

Two persons arrested after a floating musical concert near Sausalito last October have been fined $25 each.

Pamela Marie Massie, 24, of Mill Valley, and Kim Carrigg, 20, of Gate 5, were also placed on probation for one year by Judge Peter Allen Smith after they pleaded guilty to disturbing the peace.

Following the pleas of the two women, similar charges were dismissed against Joseph Benjamin Tate, 30, of Gate 6; Ronald George Breaux, 30, of Gate 5; Eric Allen Butler, 21, and Linda Susan Clearfield, 19, both of Waldo Point.

The group was arrsted Oct. 11 after Sausalito police received complaints of loud music coming from a 25-foot fishing boat anchored off Princess Street Park.

On board the boat were 10 persons with a variety of musical instruments and amplification equipment.

Police put an end to the concert — which continued off and on for four traveling up and down the bay — when patrons of the Spinnaker Reytaurant said the persons on the boat stripped in sight of the restaurant.

Death Claims

TAIPEI (UPI) —The Executive Yuan, the cabinet of President Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist Chinese government, claims that the Chinese Communists killed 47,940,000 persons in China from 1949, the year Chairman Mao Tse-tung captured control of the China mainland, until 1967.

Tenure Hearing Ends For Guitar Player

Kentfield residents want the informal teaching methods of guitar-strumming Joanne Pocta, not the "woodshed and rule of knuckle approach of Mr. (Roy L.) Smith," Miss Pocta's attorney declared yesterday in his closing arguments.

Attorney Jerome Berg, representing Miss Pocta, first grade teacher at Wolfe Grade School, fought for her right to tenure at a hearing in the Civic Center before Paul A. Winton, a hearing officer from the Office of Administrative procedure in San Francisco.

On March 12, Miss Pocta was notified by Supt. Anthony C. Bacich that her contract would not be renewed for the coming school year. Bacich, Principal Roy L. Smith, and former principal Eugene Hendsch testified that Miss Pocta's methods were too loose, lacked a definite plan of action, and she did not deal sternly enough with misbehaving students.

During the five days of hearing, which ended yesterday, about 25 teachers and parents rallied to Miss Pocta's support. They said she did wonders with problem children and used mild discipline rather than loud scolding to win respect and cooperation from pupils.

Miss Pocta testified she used methods like the "free choice period" and the child monitor system where pupils took turns leading the class in activities like reading.

If someone suddenly entered the room during the "free choice period", the class may appear to be in chaos, but there was method in that seeming chaos, she explained. She said she allowed children to express themselves but always retained control.

Assistant County Counsel Richard V. Godino, representing the school district, acknowledged that by sheer number of witnesses, he was outnumbered about 25 to 3. In every similar case, parents and teachers rally to the teacher's support, said Godino. "Her (Miss Pocta's) warmth and feeling for students were certainly recognized, and parents probably reacted to that feeling."

However, said Godino, these parents and teachers were not in a position to evaluate Miss Pocta's teaching methods and effectiveness, whereas the school superintendent and the principals are professionally qualified to do just that.

Berg countered that the school's case against the teacher is "weak, unsubstantiated, and based on flimsy evidence."

"It looks like a cheap hatchet job to me," declared Zerg.

He described Miss Pocta as a person with a "wealth of educational experience triple and quadruple that of Mr. Smith's."

The hearing officer announced he would submit a proposed decision in about two weeks to the Kentfield School District board of trustees, which will determine Miss Pocta's fate.

County Supervisors Ask Action On Welfare, Tax

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — County supervisors yesterday urged the legislature to take fast action on reforming welfare and taxation and said that without such action county property tax rates would climb further.

"If we don't get action, we're going to get significant increases," Alameda County Supervisor Joseph Bort, chairman of the legislative task force of the County Supervisors Association of California, told a news conference called by CSAC.

"Things are not happening in Sacramento," he said.

He said legislative action on issues of welfare, taxes and Medi-Cal has a "75 per cent influence" on county tax rates.

Without state action, taxes in Los Angeles and Alameda counties could go up by 75 cents per $100 of assessed valuation, he said, with rates in large counties going up an average of about 30 per cent.

The counties and Gov. Ronald Reagan have both proposed welfare reform programs, and Senate Welfare Committee Chairman Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills, Tuesday proposed an alternative.

Bort said the supervisors would rather have Beilenson's plan than "no bill at all," but that they do not "think it goes far enough or is significant."

The counties support legislation to turn welfare costs over to the state while opposing closed-end state appropriations for welfare.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, June 10, the 161st day of 1971. The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Saturn. The evening star is Gemini.

British explorer Sir Henry Stanley was born June 10, 1841.

On this day in history:

In 1898 U.S. Marines began the invasion of Cuba in the Spanish-American War.

In 1940 Italian dictator Benito Mussolini declared war on France and Britain.

In 1967 the Soviet Union broke diplomatic relations with Israel after the Jewish state announced a major victory over Syria as both nations accepted a U.N. ceasefire.

A thought for today: Aesop said, "Self conceit may lead to self destruction."

Youth Is Cited For Zoo Bravery

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Bartley D'Alfonso has received a certificate of commendation from President Nixon for bravery in helping rescue a teen-age boy from the San Diego zoo's wolves.

D-Alfonso, 19, of San Diego said Tuesday he had received letters from the White House before because he wrote the President about issues which concerned him, but he said none were like the commendation.

The Presidential letter said, "Your efforts in the heroic rescue of a young man trapped in the wolf pit of the San Diego Zoo have come to my attention. I understand your quick and courageous action in warding off these animals was instrumental in saving the victim's life."

Forget About Women's Lib; Reliable Compass Best Weapon

"How do you stand on the Women's Lib movement?" asks a correspondent. "Do you think that men should play all bridge hands? What happens when the female half of the partnership has the only playable trump suit? Don't forget there are 20 million female bridge players in the United States alone, and they'll all be waiting for your answer."

RIGHT SUIT?

Our correspondent was North in today's hand, condemned to be an innocent but indignant bystander, when South insisted on playing the hand at diamonds.

East overtook the king of spades with the ace at the first trick, partly because West might have had a singleton king. Our correspondent suspects that East, the male half of another mixed partnership, didn't trust his partner to continue the suit.

At any rate, East won the first trick and then took two more spades. West dithered over her discard on the third spade but finally settled on a high heart.

East cashed the ace of hearts, having decided that West surely had a six-card suit since she could have no high cards outside of spades and hearts. East then led a fourth spade.

CAUGHT EITHER WAY

South was caught either way. If he ruffed in the dummy, he wold be unable to finesse through East for the queen of trumps. And if South ruffed in his own hand, which he actually did, West would overruff, which she actually did, and dummy would have to ruff anyway. South couldn't afford to ruff with the jack of diamonds, since then East could afford to cover the ten of diamonds with the queen.

It was very sad. South was down one, and North could have made three clubs without even a finesse. And what is this column going to do about it?

BEING SILLY

Our correspondent is just being silly. It wasn't a question of male or female. Anybody who takes the North seat knows that South plays all the hands in this column. Get yourself a reliable compass and forget about Women's Lib. (Also, get yourself a partner who knows how to pass when he has already said enough.)

The hand is not quite strong enough for a response of two clubs, followed by a show of spade support.

Bus Bid Dies

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Marin Transit Systems Inc. has pleaded unsuccessfully for special legislation to keep itself alive, the Independent-Journal learned yesterday.

The Marin City-based bus firm has been operating since early last year under heavy subsidies from the county and Golden Gate Bridge District. Its future, however, is uncertain after December when the bridge district will get into the bus business.

Officials of the firm appealed for legislation specifically requiring the bridge district to integrate their firm's system into the district's system. They made their appeal in past weeks to the chairman of the special Assembly subcommittee reviewing bridge district transit plans, John F. Foran, D-San Francisco.

The assemblyman confirmed that he had rejected their appeal. "It's up to the bridge board to handle this, not the Legislature," he said. "If the Legislature got involved in this sort of thing, then you might as well dissolve the district and have the Legislature run the bridge," Foran told the I-J.

Foran's rejection of the appeal apparently killed the proposed special legislation since the assemblyman, as chairman of the subcommittee, controls all bills affecting the district.

State Held Divided On Shoot-Out Costs

I-J Special Report

SACRMAENTO — Conflict over whether the state must reimburse Marin County for trying Angela Davis and Ruchell Magee has split the attorney general's office.

A long-awaited opinion to help settle the matter nevertheless will will be issued next week, reported Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

Costs stemming from last August's abortive escape from the Marin County Hall of Justice already have reached some $500,000, and may total $1.25 million according to the county's auditor-controller, Michael Mitchell.

Bagley said "a real split" had divided the attorney general's office on the issue, and that attorneys in the office were "sitting around and debating it like an appellate court. It's that close," Bagley said.

The state Penal Code requires the state to pay trial costs for crimes committed in a state penal institution "or for escape." The Department of Corrections, however, has declined to reimburse the county, claiming that the code did not cover such cases as the shootout in which Judge Harold J. Haley was killed.

The department noted that the escape attempt was not initiated by a prisoner, buy by an outside man who brought weapons into the Hall of Justice.

Bagley said a second legal issue was determination of what costs could be reimbursed. The Penal Code calls for reimbursement of "all the costs by the county for the investigation, and the preparation of the trial, and actual trial of such case . . . and all guarding and keeping of such prisoner."

Bike Path Legislation Advances

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to create a statewide system of bicycle paths has been approved unanimously by the Senate Finance Committee and sent to the upper house floor.

The bill, SB 265 by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, was opposed by the Department of Finance on the ground it would cost the state $50,000. The department's claim, however, was disputed by Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post, who said the entire cost would be borne by local government.

Ber's bill would enact the Bicycle Recreation and Safety act of 1971, authorizing local government agencies to construct clearly marked bicycle paths along city, county and state roads.

Behr told the committee Monday that "this is the 'year of the bicycle' in California," and that bicycles were "a serious means of pollution-free transportation." He said his bill would encourage their safe use.

Deep Water Waste Plan For Bay Up For Adoption

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — An $847 million plan to clean up San Francisco Bay is to be adopted at a special meeting Monday by the Regional Water Quality Control Board.

The meeting will be at 2 p.m. in the Assembly Room of the State Building, 1111 Jackson Street, Oakland.

The plan, challenged by sewage dischargers and conservationists, calls for piping treated waste water to deep bay waters. Its critcs argue that $600 million of the total price tag would be for such piping — money that could be used better for upgrading local treatment.

The board's staff, owever, countered that the piping system would be needed regardless of upgraded treatment and future reuse of waste water. The deep water discharge would be neeed to handle wet weather overflows and sewage too poisonous to reclaim, the staff said.

The plan requires Marin and Sonoma dischargers to spend $87 million in he next five fiscal years on projects to be reviewed by the State Water Resources Control Board next Wednesday. That hearing will be at 10 a.m. in the supervisos chambers in San Francisco City Hall.

New Bombings In Northern Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—Bombs damaged two police stations in Northern Ireland and a power station in the neighboring Republic of Ireland overnight. No injuries were reported.

The bombings which authorities blamed on extremists involved in the struggle between Roman Catholics and Protestants came despite heavy security measures ordered after a British paratrooper was killed in Belfast recently.

Hearing On Boat Waste Limits Set

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A hearing on proposed federal standards for sanitation devices aboard vessels will be held on June 18 by the federal Environmental Protection Agency.

The hearing will be from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. in the ceremonial courtroom, 19th floor, Federal Building, 450 Golden Gate Avenue.

The standards require devices to provide approximately the equivalent of secondary treatment for municipal waste facilities.

The standards will become effective for new vessels two years after adoption, and in five years for existing vessels.

Federal law also sllows any state to apply tothe agency for a regulation prohibiting any jischarge from vessels into designated areas of state waters.

Firemen Given 18 Months To Trim Waistlines

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — San Francisco's fire department has ordered its men to fight more than fires. They have 18 months to bring their waistlines under control.

Chief Keith P. Caldren announced the deadline Wednesday, saying each of the firefighters would receive an exercise manual prepared by fireman John Drocco.

"This will cut back on the aging process," the chief said. "Three firemen died last year of heart attacks."

Drocco, who has been exercising heart patients on his own time for the past three years, said the nature of the job-long periods of inactivity and short frenetic bursts of energy — adds about 25 pounds to most young firemen during their first two years.

CALLING ALL CAMERA FANS

GRADUATE TO BETTER PICTURES

One of the nice things about photography is that it can be enjoyed on any level . . . from the simplest family pictures, record of special events, on up to the sophisticated demands of the professional art.

That's why photographic gifts go hand-in-hand with graduation. There's an appropriate gift for the graduate from junior high or high school, college or graduate school on our shelves . . . and there's no better time than these stepping stone days of change to begin a photographic hobby . . . or graduate to a higher level of the art.

Aside from gifts, be sure to make good use of that camera as a record of graduation days, in stills or motion picture film. Here are memories that can fade all too quickly as the young graduates scatter into new lives. Pictures make memories always fresh and green.

For that graduation gift for any young man or woman, boy or girl, you'll find the right selection in our varied displays, from the simplest automatic models to the finest precision equipment for the budding expert.

SOMEONE SNITCHED

Hub Asked To Remove U.N. Flag From Its Pole

The United Nations flag — to some a symbol of international peace and understanding, to others "a rag" which stands for the downfall of the American way of life — no longer flies in San Anselmo.

The blue and white banner was unceremoniously retired this week from the city hall flag pole where it had fluttered below the Stars and Stripes for about a month, a reminder to all of the city council's recent decision to "mundialize."

"Mundialization," as explained by its proponent, Norman B. Leech, executive director of World Federalist Youth-USA, means acknowledgement of world citizenship and responsibility.

(For San Anselmans, it meant flying the U.N. flag along with the American flag and being paired with a sister city chosen from another country.)

The first step toward "mundialization" came to a screeching halt this week when U.N. officials complained that the flag was being improperly flown and insisted that San Anselmo either straighten up and fly right or take down the flag.

In a letter to the city, the officials said they were "pleased to learn" of the council's decision to fly the flag but said it couldn't be flown on the same staff with another flag, in this case, both the American and the California Bear flags.

"It has been brought to our attention that three flags are being flown from the same flag staff in a manner inconsistent with regulations governing the use of the United Nations flag," the letter said.

Citing chapter and verse of the regulation book, the letter said the flag must be on its own staff, be the approximate size of other flags displayed and be flown at the same height.

"The city doesn't have the money budgeted for another flag pole," City Administrator Alfred C. Kaeppel said yesterday, "so it will remain down."

While the flag has been removed, the spirit it represented remains, Kaeppel said, adding the city has no intention of buying another pole.

Meanwhile, Mayor Kenneth L. Anderson, a supporter of mundialization, said a private move is afoot to raise money for another staff. (A pole similar to one already at city hall would cost about $600.)

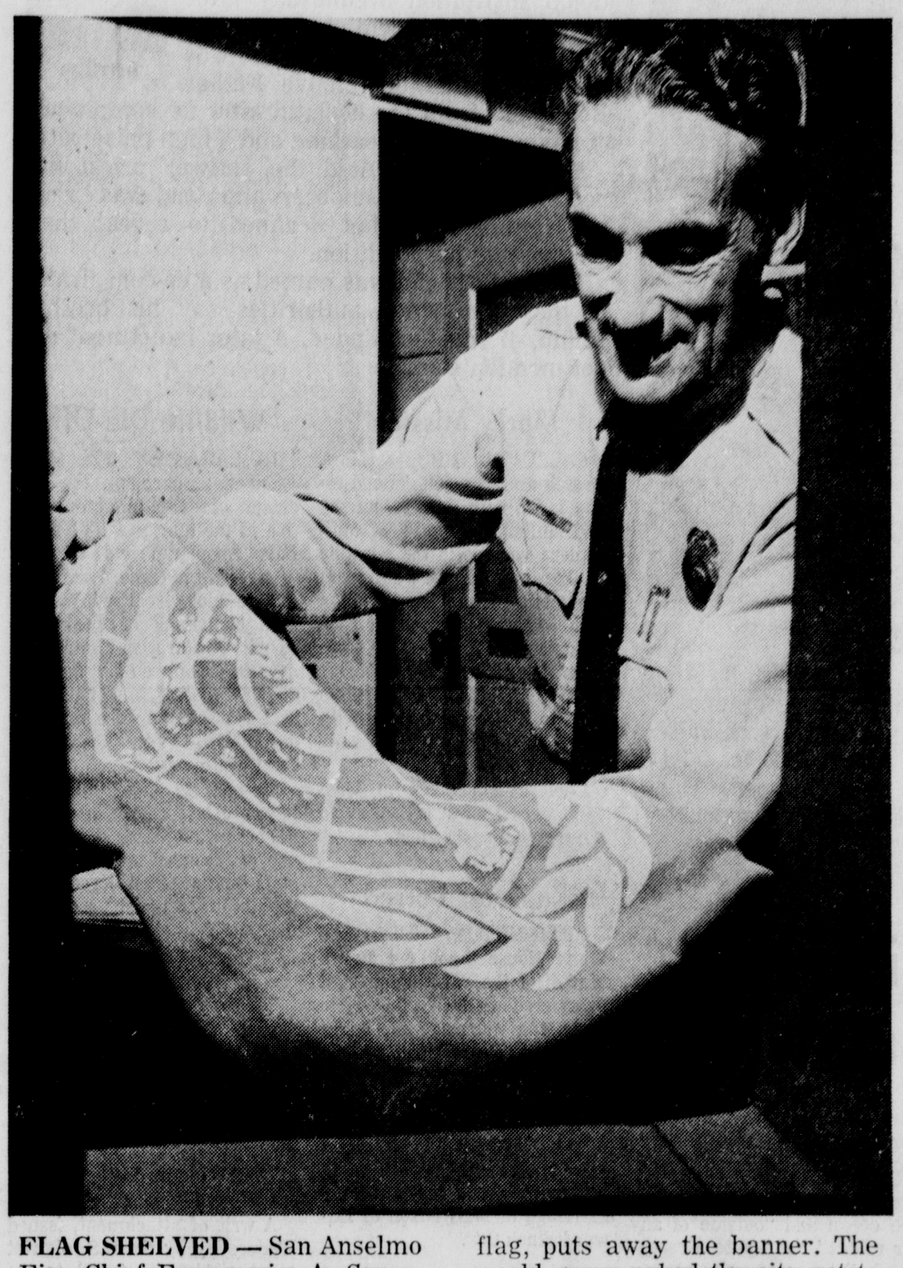
As to how the U.N. became aware of San Anselmo's erring ways, Kaeppel siad, "Maybe someone snitched on us."

The "snitcher" apparently was Susan M. Tennler, lieutenant governor of the United Republicans of California, who has fought mundialization from the outset.

She acknowledged yesterday that she had sent a telegram to the United Nations "informing them that San Anselmo was in direct violation of regulations for flying the flag."

"And I demanded action," she added firmly.

Mrs. Tennler, who lives in Greenbrae, said she sent the telegram about two weeks ago and at the same time she notified the Department of Justice.



FLAG SHELVED — San Anselmo Fire Chief Francis A. Sousa, charged with the care and keeping of the city's United Nations flag, puts away the banner. The world group asked the city not to fly it on the same pole with the American flag.

RED CHINA TRADE BARRIER LIFTED

Nixon Nod To Wide-Ranging Exports In Bid To Erase 20 Years' Embargo

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon, in an effort to rebuild contacts with China that were ruptured more than 20 years ago, today authorized U.S. businessmen to export to the Chinese mainland a long list of goods ranging from wheat to roadbuilding equipment.

The action ends a virtual embargo on trade with China, imposed shortly after the Communists took over the mainland in 1949.

Items that may be sold freely to China without specific approval include most farm, fish and forestry products; tobacco; fertilizers; coal; chemicals, including fertilizer; rubber and textiles; some metals; agricultural, industrial and office equipment; household appliances; some electrical appliances; automobiles; consumer goods; roadbuilding equipment, and some relatively unsophisticated computers.

In addition, the President said, items not on the freely exportable list may be shipped provided they are approved by the Commerce Department on a case-by-case basis.

The step was a major one in Nixon's campaign to restore some relations with Communist China. It has less commercial significance, because all non-Communist exports to China in 1969, the last year for which figures are available, totaled only $1.3 billion — the equivalent of about two weeks of average U.S. exports.

The President, in putting wheat, flour, and other grains on the unrestricted list, also lifted controls on the exports of those products to the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe.

When President John F. Kennedy authorized wheat shipments to the Soviet Union in the early 1960's, he imposed special requirements that each sale be approved by the Commerce Department and at least half of the shipments be in U.S.-owned vessels. These are the restrictions that Nixon revoked.

In addition to freeing some export restrictions, Nixon also authorized all imports from China to enter the United States under the same tariff and quota restrictions that apply to goods from most Communist countries.

There has been no indication from China that Peking is prepared to make extensive purchases from the United States.

There had been some speculation that China might want to buy diesel locomotives to modernize its aging and predominantly steam-power railroads. But railroad equipment was not on the list of unrestricted exports.

If China is to buy very much from the United States, she will have to be able to export goods of nearly equivalent value because Chinese currency is not freely convertible. The Chinese would have to earn through exports the hard currency to pay for imports.

China's exports to non-Communist countries have been predominantly food and textile products. Substantial imports of either into the United States could be expected to generate opposition from American farmers and textile mills.

Nixon has been trying for two years to reduce the flow of low-cost clothing from Japan, Taiwan, Hong Kong and Korea. Imports from China could aggravate that problem.

Probably the most important item on the list of permitted exports to China is wheat. The

EOC Gives Parent Panel Control Of Head Start

By DAVID DIETZ

Directors of Marin's antipoverty agency, climaxing a hearing marked by confusion, contradiction and conflict, voted overwhelmingly last night to turn over operation of the county's Head Start program to a group made up largely of parents.

Effective Sept. 1, responsibility for the preschool project now handling 95 children in Marin City and Novato, will shift from the county schools office to a nonprofit agency known as Marin Head Start Inc., the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council board decided.

The 19-1 vote, with one abstention, followed nearly five hours of discussion before a large crowd of parents, Head Start staff and federal officials in the old San Rafael courthouse annex. Board member Adelaide P. Wilson was the lone dissenter, while Charles A. Brown declined to vote.

Left unresolved by the decision was what space the new group will use to maintain Head Start classes in Marin City and Novato and open a new facility in Fairfax. EOC staff and county schools representatives told the board the schools office has a special lease on Manzanita Center for Marin City Head Start and that the Novato Children's Center couldn't be used because it already is overcrowded with children from other specialized preschool programs operated by the schools office.

The status of Joseph Denhart as Head Start director was left in doubt as well, although he also heads the two other specialized programs run by county schools, state preschool and children's center. Marin Head Start will have power to hire its own director and teaching staff.

Parents were split last night on the timing of the changeover, which was proposed by the Head Start Parent Policy Council. While several council members saw Marin Head Start as a much-needed "grass roots" organization and a "total family program," other parents said the switch should wait until the 1972-73 fiscal year and complained the decision to seek the change was made without involvement of many of the parents.

Because of the objections, EOC board member Chester Villalba proposed a motion to submit the issue to a vote of the parents, but it was rejected, 15-5. Board member Timothy Kelly, expressing the belief that Head Start would be in "good hands" with the parents, said the plebiscite proposal was an "evasion of the duties of this board."

The board was empowered to act on the changeover because it delegates authority to run Head Start and handles federal funding for the project.

In addition to the split among parents, EOC staff and committees differed on the issue and

Reagan Concedes Defeat On Welfare Reform Bills Drive

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan conceded defeat today in a three-month campaign to push his welfare "reform" bills through a reluctant Democratic-controlled Legislature.

But the governor vowed to continue pitching for some "responsible welfare reform," even if it is not his own.

Reagan's three-bill pet package was killed Wednesday by the Democratic-dominated Senate Health and Welfare Committee.

Then the committee, with Republican backing, approved a separate proposal by its Democratic chairman, Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson of Beverly Hills.

"This is not welfare reform," Reagan charged, referring to the Beilenson bill. "It is a blatant attempt to force a gigantic tax increase on the people."

Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, termed the governor's statement "the most incredibly deceiving and outrageous miscarriage of truth I have ever seen in politics."

The defeat of Reagan's bills did not necessarily spell doom for all of his "reform" proposals. Some can be implemented without legislative consent.

The governor estimates that of the $157 million in state savings his program would generate, about $90 million would come from the legislation and another $67 million from administrative action.

The Reagan administration Wednesday announced adoption of one new welfare regulation designed to prevent 20,000 unemployed parents from being eligible for Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC), at a savings of $39 million.

The defeated bills generally would have required more "family responsibility" in supporting relatives on welfare, reduced the outside income and assets a person can have and still be eligible for welfare, tightened eligibility for aid to the totally disabled, increased the amount counties pay into AFDC but reduced it for other programs, strengthened penalties for fraud, and denied welfare to illegal aliens.

Probably the most controversial feature was a "closed end" maximum AFDC budget. Now there is an "open end" budget, in which the state keeps paying out money no matter how much has been appropriated.

The County Supervisors Association opposed the Reagan bill, largely because it feared the "closed end" budget feature would shift more welfare costs onto local property taxpayers. Reagan denied this.

Sen. Clair W. Burgener, R-San Diego, sponsor of the governor's legislation, said that although "the actual bills are dead and I don't think they can be revived," he will attempt to amend some "cost controls" into Beilenson's package when it is heard by the senate finance committee.

Without a "closed end" budget or some other "cost controls," Burgener said, Beilenson's bill would result in "a monumental and rather massive tax increase." He said even the present welfare system would be preferable.

Beilenson's bill includes some of Reagan's proposals, but also provides a flat 15 per cent payment increase to all AFDC recipients at a cost of $25.3 million to the state. It also would require the administration to establish a program to employ 25,000 adult recipients, including mothers.

Beilenson said, however, that overall his program would save $9 million in state funds.

This was hotly disputed by Reagan, who read a prepared statement before television cameras declaring that Beilenson's bill "could cost the hard working men and women of this state nearly $1 billion more in federal, state and local taxes."

"I think frankly the governor doesn't know what he's talking about," Beilenson said.

Reagan also said that although the committee "killed this administration's welfare reform program" he would "continue to push for responsible welfare reform which serves the interests of all the people."

Reagan's bills were killed on a split voice vote, with the committee's six Democrats apparently voting "no" and the five Republicans "yes."

Beilenson's proposal was supported by Democrats and at least two Republicans—senators Milton Marks of San Francisco and Peter H. Behr of Mill Valley.

The two Republicans later explained in a joint statement they felt Beilenson's bill was "a proper start" toward breaking the legislature's welfare deadlock and said "partisan politics" must end.

Beilenson's bill was amended with a provision requiring a one-year state residency requirement to become eligible for welfare, but committee members acknowledged they doubted it was constitutional.

Egypt Charges U.S. 'Partner' Of Israel

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat bitterly attacked the United States today and accused it of participating in Israeli occupation of Arab land. He said the United States has become a partner in Israel's aggression against the Arab world.

Sadat's speech came shortly after official Israeli sources in Tel Aviv raised the possibility of an unbreakable impasse over efforts to reopen the Suez Canal. There were reports Israel would harden its stance in view of the fact Egypt was not wavering in its position.

Sadat was speaking to the nation in a radio and television broadcast from Cairo and the text of the speech was carried in advance by the Middle East News Agency.

"The continued American military and financial support to Israel, while it occupies our land, amounts to actual American participation in the occupation of our territories and the aggression against the sovereignty of our country," Sadat said.

It was the first time that Sadat had accused Washington of being Israel's "partner" since he became president last October. Political sources said the attack on American Middle East policy reflected Sadat's pessimism over the American political effort to reach a peaceful settlement.

Cairo's semiofficial newspaper Al Ahram said only today that war will be inevitable unless a peaceful solution to the Middle East crisis is found this year.

The Israeli sources said the latest Egyptian policy note to the United States contained no "significant differences" from Cairo's public demands for a limited cease-fire, an Egyptian crossing of the canal and a complete withdrawal from occupied land.

"Israel will continue its contacts with the United States on this subject," the official said. "There is further need for patience and time."

Israeli leaders including Foreign Minister Abba Eban have said the canal issue provides the best, and perhaps only, chance for an agreement between Egypt and Israel in order to head off another war.

Predictions of a stiffening of the Israeli policy dominated the Israeli press today in reaction to Prime Minister Golda Meir's foreign policy speech to the Knesset Wednesday.

Almost without exception the newspapers forecast the government would seek firmer U.S. guarantees on any partial peace now that Egypt has signed a 15-year treaty with Moscow providing for a continuing supply of Soviet arms.

The Cairo reports were equally pessimistic.

Red Negotiators Remain Firm On Prisoners, Pullout Deadline

PARIS (UPI)—The Communist delegations to the Paris peace talks clung today to their promise only to "discuss" the release of U.S. prisoners if President Nixon sets an early deadline for U.S. troop withdrawal. In doing so they ignored widespread reports they were ready to be more flexible on the issue.

They also ignored a request by U.S. Ambassador David K.E. Bruce that they clarify "here today" recent hints they may be willing to compromise over some war and peace issues including that of war prisoners.

Some of the rumors were that the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong might release the POWs within 30 days after a troop withdrawal date was set. Both Hanoi negotiator Xuan Thuy and Viet Cong negotiator Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh ignored these reports and repeated previous statements.

Emerging from the 4-1-2-hour session Bruce told newsmen there was "no reponse" to his request for clarification' and there was "no progress" at the talks.

Saigon Ambassador Pham Dang Lam added, "We were able to establish that there is no change in the position of the other side concerning all the problems."

In his prepared speech Thuy said:

"If the U.S. government sets a reasonable deadline for the total withdrawal from South Vietnam of U.S. forces and those of the other foreign countries in the U.S. camp, discussions will be held on the questions of insuring safety for the U.S. withdrawing troops and on the question of releasing captured military men.

"The Nixon administration is unwilling to accept this proposal."

Madame Binh echoed the Hanoi diplomat, although she slightly reworded the standing Viet Cong formula for its demand. She said that in return for a withdrawal deadline, "we are ready to examine (it) immediately with the other parties...so that all the other questions may be discussed as soon as possible, including the liberation of all captured military men..."

Despite the earlier reported remarks of the Hanoi officials today's statements by the Communist negotiators showed no official sign of new flexibility in their long-standing demands in the deadlocked talks.

Bruce coupled his demand with a protest against the recent Communist shelling of Da Nang in South Vietnam, charging it amounted to a new breach of the understanding to refrain from attacks on civilian targets that led to the stoppage of U.S. air raids on North Vietnam in 1969.

Addressing himself to Thuy, Bruce urged him to spell out in detail his position on "statements made by spokesmen from your side to journalists and others outside the framework of these talks."
work of these talks."

Bruce appeared to be referring to an interview in which Thuy hinted the issue of prisoners of war could be solved while the present Saigon regime is still in power if the United States set a deadline for its military pullout, and another interview in which former U.S. Defense Secretary Clark Clifford said the Communists would release the American prisoners if the withdrawal date was set for Dec. 31.

"Some of these statements as reported are unclear and even inconsistent. Some appear to differ from or expand on the position you have put forward to us here," Bruce said.

"We would of course be interested in any confirmation and clarification of these statements which you can provide here today."

Cosmonauts Send Back First Weather Reports

MOSCOW (UPI)—Three Soviet cosmonauts aboard the "flying hotel" Salyut space station sent the first weather reports from a manned scientific station in space today, a milestone toward making earth safer from hurricane and cyclone damage.

"Orbital stations can quickly warn the earth about dangerous weather developments in different parts of the world," the news agency Tass said.

"A meteorologist in space can determine, specifically, the degree of development and direction of cyclones and hurricanes."

Study of atmospheric formations and the earth's snow and ice covers are part of Salyut's flight program, Tass said.

Cosmonauts Georgi Dobrovolsky, Vladislav Volkov and Viktor Patsayev boarded Salyut Monday after docking their Soyuz 11 transport spaceship with the "flying hotel" that holds considerable scientific and living amenities.

"It's so big it takes some time to swim from one end to the other," engineer Volkov

'Roll' Before Air Collision Is Told By Crash's Sole Survivor

DUARTE, Calif. (UPI)—One minute before a Marine jet fighter and a commercial airliner collided in flight killing 50 persons near here, the military craft executed a 360-degree roll, the sole survivor of the collision told investigators Wednesday.

Brad Dunbar, spokesman for the National Transportation Safety Board team investigating Sunday's collision, reported that Marine Lt. vpcustopher Schiess, 24, radar officer of the craft who parachuted to safety, said the roll was performed at about 15,500 feet.

Dunbar said Schiess' full statement would not be released. No other details were disclosed.

The collision occurred at about 12,000 feet in a much-traveled air corridor used by commercial flights out of Los Angeles International Airport. The Air West DC9 was being controlled by radar while the Phantom F4 xighter bomber was on a "see and be seen" or visual flight operation.

Maj. Michael Fibisch, public affairs officer at El Toro Marine Air Station where the crashed fighter was based, declined to remark on Schiess' statement.

However, he did say that aerial acrobatics, such as a 360-degree roll, in commercial air corridors are "definitely not" permissible.

Such acrobatics are permissible in some areas such as over the ocean and "outside of any air routes" but "quite a recognized distance away from any trafficked area," he said.

Earlier in the day in a signed statement, a 15-year-old boy said he saw the Marine fighter doing stunts just before it collided with the Air West jetliner.

Jeff Whittington, 15, was one of 60 eyewitnesses to the collision being interviewed by safety team members, whose task is to determine what caused the crash and who was responsible.

Whittington said he and a friend saw the military jet "do a spiral and a loop and disappear behind the ridge where they crashed."

"I saw the left wing of the fighter strike the center of the fuselage of the Air West," he said. "The military jet went straight down."

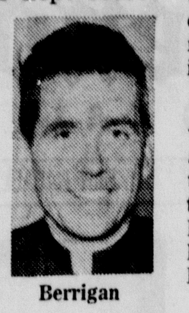
WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Imprisoned Priest's Illness Secret

DANBURY, Conn. (UPI) — The Rev. Daniel Berrigan was reported "resting comfortably" at Danbury Hospital today but doctors kept secret the reason for his emergency removal from federal prison.



Berrigan

Berrigan, 49, originally named as a co-conspirator in the alleged kidnap plot against presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger, was rushed from the Danbury federal correctional institution Wednesday after difficulties in the dentist chair.

Warden John Norton said it was "felt advisable to remove Father Berrigan" from the hospital after he complained of having trouble breathing and a high pulse rate.

Hospital doctors said the antiwar priest has been kept under close observation and was "resting comfortably" but declined to reveal their diagnosis of his condition.

Daniel Berrigan was named as a co-conspirator in the case which authorities say his brother Philip, 47, masterminded. A later indictment did not mention Daniel.

Mercy Mission

CALCUTTA (UPI) — More British air force jets landed today laden with doctors, nurses and millions of doses of anti-cholera vaccine in the struggle to keep the disease from spreading among the 5 million refugees from the war in East Pakistan.

An international mercy airlift brought another half-million doses of the vaccine along with other medical and relief supplies Wednesday.

Cholera has taken at least 4,000 lives so far according to government spokesmen.

Reporter Barred

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The White House denied Judith Martin of the Washington Post press credentials Wednesday to cover the marriage of Tricia Nixon because Miss Martin crashed the 1968 wedding reception for the President's other daughter.

The Washington Post said it would not assign any other reporter to cover the Saturday marriage of Miss Nixon to Edward Finch Cox.

Lye-Limit Ban Set On Drain Cleaners

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration has ordered a ban on liquid drain cleaners containing more than 10 per cent lye. The ban is effective in 60 days unless a manufacturer objects and is granted a delay.

An agency spokesman said most if not all liquid drain cleaners already have been modified to meet the lye limit. The FDA said 271 children accidentally swallowed liquid drain cleaner in the past four years, of which 114 were hospitalized and three died.

Wildlife Die-Off

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) —Scientists checking the carcasses of dead alligators and fish in the murky waters of Lake Apopka predict "the worst is yet to come."

State biologist Fred Waldinger, chairman of the Lake Apopka Restoration Committee, says he expects a massive die-off of shad, a rough fish, as a continuation of a mysterious wildlife kill that began eight weeks ago.

At last 20 dead alligators have washed ashore in the 33,000-acre lake, now known as one of the most polluted in the state but once considered one of the finest sports fishing spots in the country.

Russian Ship Held

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI—A U.S. marshal stood watch aboard a Russian freighter today to keep it in San Francisco bay until a judge acts on a Massachusett lobsterman's $377,055 lawsuit against the Soviet government.

A writ of attachment, issued Wednesday by the U.S. district court clerk, was taped to the helmsman's wheel on the bridge of the 552-foot Suleyman Stalaskiye.

It ordered the freighter to remain docked at the port of Oakland until Federal Judge George B. Harris acts on the damage suit filed by Prelude Corp. of New Bedford, Mass.

"We have left a federal keeper, Maurice Cooney, on board," deputy U.S. Marshal Clifford H. Cline said Wednesday night after handing the ship's skipper, Capt. Anatole Rogachev, a copy of the writ and taping another to the wheel.

"The ship will not sail," the marshal added.

Police Strike Fines

NEW YORK (UPI)—City officials, who just weathered a two-day strike by municipal employes, announced Wednesday 21,000 policemen would be fined for their six-day walkout in January.

In addition, the 8,000 city workers who struck Monday and Tuesday will receive notices in their pay Friday that they might be penalized for violating the Taylor Law, the state law prohibiting strikes by public employes.

But New York's public labor problems apparently were not over.

The state's Civil Service Employes Association announced Wednesday 150,000 of its members ranging from hospital employes to racing commission personnel would walk off their jobs next week unless 8,250 persons fired for budgetary reasons were reinstated.

Pilot Voucher Bill For Schools Passes

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly Ways and Means Committee has approved a bill setting up a federally financed pilot program in four elementary school districts to test the voucher system.

Under the plan, parents would receive vouchers equal to the amount spent the preceding year in their district that could be used to finance a student at any private or public school in his home district.

(This road changes names twice — from River Road to Mark West Springs to Porter Creek Road, so do not be confused.) At this point watch for our mailbox and small sign on the right. The address is 3485 Porter Creek Road. Turn immediately to the left over a small bridge and follow the signs to the lodge. The Resident Manager will be there to greet you. Kennedy Claims Escalation Rein

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says a ceiling voted by the Senate on the number of men who may be drafted during the next two years should prevent President Nixon from again escalating the war in Indochina.

The Senate voted 78 to 4 Wednesday for Kennedy's amendment setting the ceiling. The Massachusetts Democrat said the move "virtually ties the hands of the President to escalate the war in Southeast Asia."

It would be the first such limit set on draft calls in almost three decades.

If it clears congress, the ceiling would restrict the President to drafting no more than 130,000 men during the 12 months beginning July 1, and 140,000 during the following year. It would take an act of congress to change the ceiling.

During the peak Vietnam war years —1966 and 1968 —draft calls were running between 300,000 and 340,000 each year. But they have been falling off and are less than 172,000 for the present year.

The House has passed a two-year draft extension, which the Nixon administration wants, but the House bill contained no limit on how many men may be drafted. The conflict, and others, will be decided in negotiations between the House and Senate.

Opponents of the draft had sought a lower ceiling —160,000 over the next two years —but that proposal was defeated 54 to 25.

Congress has not imposed a ceiling on the draft since 1941. In that year Selective Service laws were passed which gave open-ended draft authority to the White House and subsequent laws have continued the precedent.

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., long-time backer of military interests in Congress, had originally backed an escape clause under which the ceiling would have been lifted in the case of a national emergency.

But Stennis told Kennedy Wednesday he felt the contingency clause was no longer needed because the President could draw from the reserves or offer inducements to volunteers in the event of an emergency.

Police Chief Brands Report 'Hatchet Job'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Police Chief Al Nelder has indignantly denied charges that his officers were sleeping on duty, cadging lunches off restaurants, and strewing girly magazines about station houses.

He labeled a 138-page report on his department by the citizens committee on crime a "hatchet job."

Mayor Joseph Alioto, who named the 28-member committee, complained Wednesday its report was based on two-year-old information, compiled before he appointed Nelder chief last year.

"It is filled with ambiguities and generalizations," Nelder told newsmen. "The qualification and abilities of the staff persons who conducted the committee investigation on the police leave much to be desired."

The report was the eighth by the committee, which previously recommended police stop prosecuting public drunkeness, small gambling operations, and "discreet" prostitution, pornography and homosexuality.

The committee said it "found itself continually shocked by what it saw" during its investigation of the police. The complaints included officers sleeping on duty, eating lunch or dinner as "guests" of restaurants, and slovenly district stations where girly magazines were stren about and discourteous officers wore improper or shabby uniforms.

State Schools Office To Seek School Bond Change

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California should remove from its Constitution the requirement that school bonds win two-thirds majorities at the polls before being approved, in the opinion of state schools chief Wilson Riles.

Riles said he wants the state Board of Education to "set the wheels in motion" for such an amendment after its lawyers study a decision by the U.S. Supreme Court which upheld the legality of the two-thirds rule.

"We would like to put before the people a revision of the constitution to make it a majority," Riles said Wednesday. "We're talking about the next session of the legislature."

The state superintendent of public instruction, disappointed by the decision and by the continued failure of bond issues to win approval, announced he would bring his proposal to the board today.

The high court ruled Monday that it does not violate the U.S. Constitution for states to require, as does California, that more than a majority vote must be won before school bonds can be approved. The decision had the effect of invalidating a California Supreme Court decree voiding the state's two-thirds requirement.

California voters have in recent times been reluctant to approve school bonds.

"The people are saying 'no'" to school bonds, Riles has observed. "but I don't think they're saying 'no' to education. They're saying 'no' to continually relying on the local property tax as a method to finance schools."

He and the state board are supporting legislation to increase state aid to school by $400 million and levy a statewide property tax of $3.75 per $100 of assessed valuation to help poorer districts.

Eventually, Riles has said, he hopes to see schools backed entirely by funds other than property taxes.

Antiwar Protest Lands Captain In Hot Water

LONDON (UPI)—A U.S. Air Force captain who joined with 150 other American servicemen in a Memorial Day protest of U.S. involvement in Indochina has been charged with violation of the military code.

A spokesman said Wednesday the Air Force would begin a full investigation "as soon as practicable" to determine Capt. Thomas Culver's role in the protest at the U.S. embassy.

Culver, a lawyer in the Judge Advocate General's office at Lakenheath Air Base, has been confined to the base since the May 31 war protest.

The servicemen approached the embassy silently in groups of five and six with pages of a letter to an embassy official signed by more than 900 comrades stationed in Britain.

The servicemen wore civilian clothing. Organizers of the action said it was a legal expression of their concern about the war and not a demonstration, which military regulations forbid overseas.

Corona's Attorney Brings Sanity Issue Into Case

YUBA CITY, Calif. (UPI)— The attorney for Juan V. Corona has raised the issue of the man's sanity for the first time since Corona's arrest in the slayings of 25 itinerant farm workers.

Defense attorney Ron Van Den Heuvel said Wednesday he was considering asking for a mental competence hearing for Corona, the 37-year-old farm labor contractor charged with killing 10 of the transients whose bodies were found buried along the Feather River.

The attorney had a psychiatrist, Walter Bromberg of Sacramento, Calif., examine Corona in his jail cell last week. Bromberg was a defense witness in the 1964 trial of Jack Ruby for killing Lee Harvey Oswald, the assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

Van den Heuvel also said he might ask for a continuance of a scheduled June 16 preliminary hearing if he needs more time to examine all the prosecution evidence turned over to him by court order.

Yuba Judicial District Judge John J. Hankins announced the preliminary hearing would be open to the press as long as van den Heuvel had no objection. However, the judge said coverage would be on a pool basis, with only 10 reporters admitted.

Coroner's deputies reported the identification of the 24th body found in the Sullivan ranch peach orchard. A fingerprint check showed he was Sam Bonifide, who had no known address.

Investigators said a ledger seized as evidence at Corona's home contained an entry "Sam Banfiede May 6, 1971." It was the sixth name of a confirmed victim found among the 34 names in the book.

TOKYO (UPI) — Japan produced a total of 7,330,600 tons of crude steel in May, a drop of 237,000 tons or 3.3 per cent from the previous month, the Japan Iron and Steel Federation reported today.

Pair Pleads Guilty To Sit-In Charges

Two men arrested in a May 5 sit-in at the San Rafael office of the U.S. Selective Service pleaded guilty today in Marin Municipal Court to misdemeanor charges of failing to disperse.

Richard Alan Raznikov, 24, and Gary Mathew Bjork, 18, both of San Rafael, had earlier pleaded innocent to the charge, as well as to a charge of wilfully obstructing a public place.

After their pleas, Deputy Dist. Atty. Vernon F. Smith moved that the obstruction charge be dismissed, but Judge David Menary Jr. said he would not act on the motion until Sept. 10.

He also set that date for sentencing of the pair.

Raznikov — a law student and unsuccessful candidate for mayor of San Rafael — and Bjork changed their pleas just prior to the start of a trial for the first group of a total of 33 persons facing similar charges in connection with the sit-in.

Jury selection began today before Judge Peter Allen Smith for the trial of Thomas Louis Oleari, 22, and Bryan Thomas Geddy, 23, both of Fairfax; William Gaston Begelow, 19, of Tiburon, and Lillian Lee Cunningham, 19, of San Rafael.

Mary Blair Willard, 22, of Kentfield, who was scheduled to be tried with this group, was reported hospitalized and will be tried later.

Defense attorney Carl Shapiro estimated the trial will take five days.

Prior to beginning jury selection, Judge Smith heard a discussion of subpoenas served by the defense on several newspapers.

George J. Silvestri Jr., deputy counsel, representing the College of Marin Times, moved to quash Shapiro's bid for all photos taken by the Times staff at the sit-in.

Granting Shapiro's request, Silvestri said, would have "a chilling effect on freedom of the press."

At the request of Independent-Journal attorney Gary T. Giacomini, Shapiro agreed to have quashed a subpoena seeking all I-J coverage of the sit-in and subsequent court actions.

Shapiro reserved the right, however, to serve on the I-J a subpoena demanding all photos of the sit-in taken by the I-J.

Judge Smith said he would settle the question of the subpoenas later.

Two other persons arrested in the sit-in pleaded guilty to the failure to disperse charge last Friday.

Wendi, Anne Kallins, 19, and Wilmar Eugene Frieson, 21, both of Mill Valley, are also to be sentenced Sept. 10.

SPACE

quipped during a "cosmovision" telecast from the 65-foot-long complex.

Tass said the cosmonauts performed medical-biological experiments today and "transmitted their first report on atmospheric processes" to the Soviet weather service.

"The standard of comfort is high here," Tass said. "There are vacuum cleaners, water heaters, devices for warming food, refrigerators —in other words it is a modern flying hotel where even a library of the cosmonauts favorite books is maintained."

The elaborate fittings suggested plans for a relatively long stay by the cosmonauts, who went aboard Salyut Monday from the Soyuz 11 shuttle ship that had carried them aloft one day before.

Also indicating plans for a long stay was the fact that the cosmonauts cut off power to Soyuz 11, which remained docked into the nose of Salyut. Cosmonaut Alexei Yeliseyev, speaking of Moscow television, said that "all the systems of Soyuz 11 are switched off except those necessary to control its status. It receives power from the Salyut."

Soyuz 11 is the cosmonauts' only means of returning to earth.

The Soviets, as usual, gave no advance information on the space station project. But scientific sources predicted that another ship—probably Soyuz 12 —will go aloft to deliver a relief crew within a week or two.

The sources said Salyut can handle more than one ship at a time and a space colony may be put together with Salyut as its base. Eventually, they said, the Soviets will build permanent orbital structures housing large crews, a virtual "cosmograd," or space city.

The current project however, was intended basically as a test for the Salyut, the prototype Soviet space station.

"The chief task in the present flight is to master the station, to answer questions of importance for the designers of Salyut," space scientist Boris Raushchenbakh said in a Tass interview.

"This is the first time the station has been 'tried on'," he said. "We hope it will be adequate for space exploration in earth orbit.

Another Inmate Fails To Return

A San Quentin inmate who went looking for a job yesterday failed to return to the prison last night, Associate Warden James W. L. Park said today.

Thomas W. Friske, 28, who had been in San Quentin since 1968 for second degree robbery, was on the work furlough program, Park said. He was looking for a job so that he would be working when paroled on Aug. 9.

Friske was described as five feet six inches tall, slender build, weighing 126 pounds with blond hair, blue eyes and ruddy complexion. He has a snake tattooed on his left forearm.

Director Hurt In Cycle Crash

PARIS (UPI)—French film director Jean-Luc Godard today was in the intensive care unit of Laennec Hospital, seriously injured in a motorcycle accident.

The 41-year-old Godard underwent two hours of surgery late Wednesday. Doctors later described his condition as "satisfactory." They said he would remain under intensive care for at least 48 hours.

Godard was a passenger on the motorcycle which hit a small truck at an intersection in the center of Paris. Godard and Christine Marcelier, 26, who was driving, were thrown under a bus. Fireman needed 15 minutes to extricate them.

Chinese have bought substantial amounts of the grain in recent years, primarily from Canada.

Also on the list for exports is construction equipment, which some opponents of liberalized trade with China, mainly in the Defense Department, had opposed on grounds it could be used by China to aid North Vietnam's war efforts.

The White House said the items released from trade controls were recommended by the National Security Council's committee of departmental undersecretaries.

Other goods for unrestricted sale to China included:

Manufactured fertilizers except those closely related to explosives; wood, lumber and cork; paper and pulp; textile yarns; medicine and drugs; most common metals; office machines such as typewriters, checkwriters, adding machines and duplicators; computers of the low-grade analog and digital types.

Machinery for textiles, papermaking printing, food processing and glassmaking; power-operated non-electric hand tools; electrical equipment in general use such as generators, transformers, circuit breakers, storage batteries, and telephone equipment; home-type radio and television receivers, refrigerators, freezers, water heaters and washing machines; passenger cars and motorcycles; toilets and other plumbing equipment; watches and clocks and air conditioning equipment.

The administration took the new trade tack in the face of charges it was using an "Alice in Wonderland approach" to diplomacy.

Administration officials cautioned Nixon's announcement on liberalizing trade restrictions was unlikely to result in any dramatic forward surge in commerce. They said it may be several years before a clear trend is evident.

The officials freely admitted the easing of trade restrictions was largely a symbolic effort at this stage.

Trade was unlikely to surge forward immediately for two reasons, the officials said:

—The Communist Chinese have been silent about trading with the United States. This contrasts with relatively frequent complaints from Moscow that the United States has followed a restrictive trading policy toward the Soviet Union.

—The goods which Communist China might export to the United States are limited. Before the 20-year-old trade embargo came into force, American businessmen bought hog bristles in China for paint brushes, tung oil which is useful for certain types of paint, and artistic handicrafts. The market for such items in the United States today is small.

Informational Police Sessions

The Belvedere Police Department has begun a series of informational meetings at residents' homes aimed at acquainting the community with its police force and with methods of crime prevention.

Chief John W. Jaeger said he attended a three-hour session last night at the home of Robert Moe, 9 North Point Circle, and spoke to some 19 residents of the neighborhood on how to prevent burglaries while they are on vacation.

The chief said he hopes to hold a series of such informal, unstructured meetings at which residents may discuss law enforcement and crime prevention with him and other members of the department.

Head Start staff reported it had voted 16-6 against Marin Head Start taking over this fall.

Stanley Friese, deputy superintendent for county schools, told the board he believed his office was better equipped to handle Head Start, but noted there was the belief among school officials that the program ultimately should be removed from his office.

Friese also said severing Head Start from the other two preschool programs would adversely affect all three because of a wide range of resources the county schools office was able to muster for the programs.

Leading spokesman for the transfer was Donna Abrams of Larkspur, chairman of the parent policy council. "We feel, who knows more about education than the parents themselves?" she said. "This is one of the few examples where low income people are not only served by the structure around them, but administer it."

Marin Head Start has proposed few major changes in the county's current operation, except for the opening of Fairfax classes. Its budget would be slightly less than the county's $146,000 spending program.

Parents would occupy most seats on the board of the new agency, with the rest taken by "community resource people." Nathaniel Johnson, president of the Sausalito School District board, and Wallace K. Shepherd, executive director of the Marin County Housing Authority and Redevelopment Agency, have indicated a willingness to sit as "resource" members.

The new group's bid for control of Head Start was sparked by 1970 federal guidelines which require parents to take a policy-making role in Head Start, rather than just an advisory one. In effect, the guidelines give parents control over hiring, but Friese told the board the county schools office could not delegate such authority under the state education code.

When differences over program operation grew, the parent policy council went to the EOC to seek a change.

Convicted GIs Back To Germany

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Army said today it will send back to Germany two black soldiers, convicted of attempted rape by a German court, who escaped to the United States and turned themselves in to the Pentagon.

The Army said it was taking the action because the federal Supreme Court in Germany denied their appeal of a threeyear prison sentence.

An Army spokesman said Pfc. Nathaniel Holmes Jr., 22, and Pfc. Bernard Tucker, 21, have been placed in custody at Ft. McNair in Washington and will be flown to Germany Friday.

Larkspur police said he was traveling south on Lucky when the single car accident occurred. The guardrail received major damage. Repairs to the guard rail had only been completed the day before from a similar accident, police said.

Water Bonds Sold

Marin Municipal Water District directors yesterday awarded the sale of $4.5 million in bonds to Wells Fargo Bank with a low average interest rate bid of 5.46365 per cent.

The bonds are part of a total $11.5 million package approved by voters in November for improvements to district systems.

Cost of the Wells Fargo bid will be $4,701,470 at interest rates of 6.5 per cent from 1972-76; 5.5 per cent from 1977-81; 5 per cent from 1982-85; 5.25 per cent from 1986-88; 5.3 per cent in 1989; 5.4 per cent for 1990-91; 5.5 per cent for 1992-93 and 5.6 per cent from 1994-97.

Other bidders and their average net interest rates were United California Bank, 5.4775 per cent; Bank of America, 5.4790 per cent; Morgan Guaranty Trust Co., 5.5533 per cent and Security Pacific National Bank, 5.6403 per cent.

The bonds are part of a proposed $21,553,600 district improvement program which is expected to be completed in 10 years.

Bonds will be repaid through future district revenue without a tax levy and without an additional increase in water rates, according to Stone and Youngberg, the district's financial consultants.

Marin Municipal Water District also:

OUT TO BID — Approved specifications for improvement work in the Ross-San Anselmo area and put the project out to bid. Bids will be returned at 9 a.m. July 13. Estimate of cost is $250,000.

METERS — Awarded bid for displacement meters to Rockwell Manufacturing Co. with a second low bid of $57,648 and for compound meters: two-inch, Rockwell, $7,569; three-inch, Hersey-Sparling Meter Co., $2,850 and four-inch, Hersey-Sparling, $952. Low bid of $57,628 by Singer-American Meter Controls was rejected on recommendation by staff that the Rockwell meter was the better product.

THROWN OUT — Threw out nine bids for the Sausalito area bond program when the two low bidders found mistakes in computation which would increase the cost; project will be rebid.

PLANT ENLARGEMENT — Received plans for enlarging the San Geronimo water treatment plant to provide for 32 million gallons per day. The plant now provides about 20 million gallons per day. Project cost is estimated at approximately $1.2 million. Staff will review plans and report back to the board.

HEARING — Set a public hearing on alternate methods for sludge disposal at the Bon Tempe treatment plant for 8 p.m. July 14. The board received a report on five methods by Kennedy Engineers of San Francisco. They recommended construction of sludge drying beds in the vicinity of the plant as the best method at the lowest cost. Staff will study the plans and report back to the board.

MEETING — Changed its next meeting date from June 23 to June 30.

Paraplegic Killed By Electric Cord

GILROY (UPI) — A paraplegic died when his body became intertwined with an electric cord. Officials of the Driftwood Convalescent home said that was what caused the death of Isidro Misquez, 54, Tuesday night.

A nurses' aide, Yvonne Mayberry, tried to save the victim. She received a shock, but suffered no serious injury.

District Contributes To Aqueduct

Marin Municipal Water District directors yesterday voted to contribute $250,000 toward purchasing land rights on the Russian River for the proposed Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct.

Because the other two districts involved — Sonoma Water Agency and North Marin Water District — are going ahead with the $47.7 million project with or without the Marin district, directors must keep up with their share of current expenses in order to keep the door open to joining the project if and when a method of financing is approved.

Directors voted unanimously to spend the money, which will be taken from district surplus funds, as the district's share of the anticipated $500,000 cost of acquiring rights-of-way on the west bank of the Russian River between Mirabel Park and Wohler Bridge.

A saving clause was added to the joint powers agreement between the three districts, however, that would enable the Marin district to recover either their share of funds spent to acquire the land (about $125,000) or the equivalent amount in property in case the proposed financing is denied. (The other $125,000 will be spent for title reports, appraisals and legal fees.)

Without that clause, the Marin district could lose the entire $250,000 if one of three possible methods of financing the district's $21.6 million share of the project cost is not approved.

Two of the possibilities are pending in the Legislature now: one bill would allow the district to borrow its share of the cost from the Sonoma Agency and then repay the agency from anticipated revenue over 20 or 30 years.

The second — proposed in case the first bill is rejected — would permit creation of a master agency over the three water districts.

The board recently endorsed both bills, introduced by Assemblymen Frank P. Belotti, R-Eureka, and Carley V. Porter, D-Los Angeles, in order to "keep the back door open" in case voters turn down the request for funds in november, which is the third possible method of financing the project.

However, Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, has proposed an amendment to the bills that would require voter approval before either method could be utilized.

If one or both of the bills is passed with the amendment, directors would not know until November whether or not the project's financing would be approved by voters.

The joint powers agreement now will have to be approved, with the proposed clause, by the other two water districts. Both previously had signed the agreement.

College Board Endorses North Campus Cluster

The Marin Community College District board has endorsed a proposal that the north campus be three colleges in one.

According to Dr. Ernest H. Berg, president of the proposed campus, the board also authorized creating a North Campus Council of teachers, students and nonteaching employees to aid him in developing the concept.

The intercollege or cluster concept supported by the board Tuesday was one of 10 presented by Berg.

The separate schools of study would deal with social-economic studies, creative studies and physical-natural science studies, he said.

A breakdown shows business, social and behavorial science subjects under social-economic studies; English, speech, drama, art, music, philosophy and like subjects under creative studies, and geology, biology, chemistry, physics and like subjects under physical and natural science studies.

Each school of study would also offer its own course of general education subjects designed to meet the needs of its students, Berg said.

Further, each school would have an integrated vocational education program related to its fields of study thus doing away with a separate vocation education program.

"I'm excited about it," said Berg. "It's a unique plan that has not been tried before to my knowledge."

On related matters, Berg said he told the board the north campus must be named soon in order to apply for accreditation.

Such accreditation is needed, he said, if the campus is to open in July on an interim basis as proposed.

The board will take up the matter of a name at a later date. At its last meeting it authorized the college to open — without facilities — on an interim basis using existing evening classes in the Novato area as a nucleus. Facilities are due to open in 1974.

IN A MEDIEVAL MARKET

Miller Creek students can set up shop just about anywhere. Bartering for candles in this hollow tree was just one of their experiences during a Medieval Fair yesterday at the San Rafael school. The fair, produced by five social studies classes, culminated the students study of the Renaissance. Each child made a project for the occasion and many came in original costumes.

$2,865 Added To Budget

San Rafael city councilmen, attempting to prune budgets of three city departments last night, instead wound up adding $2,865 to the total.

The session with heads of library, police and planning departments still left the fiscal 1971-72 budget $19,095 below the total of $4,801,970 proposed by City Mgr. James H. McCown, who had forecast a 3.7-cent tax increase to finance it.

Yet to be reviewed are budgets of parks and recreation department, city treasurer, clerk, attorney, finance officer, and miscellaneous, all of which are to be taken up next Tuesday beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Also yet awaiting action is the capital improvements budget, not included in the $4,801,970 total.

The council sliced $4,729 from the library budget recommended by the city manager, setting it at $186,130 — just about the amount the 12-cent library tax levied last year will raise on the new assessment ratio. Last year, more was spent for the library than raised by its special tax levy.

The reduction was principally in an item for preliminary architectural design for library expansion, as prelude to a possible bond issue. The library board had asked $7,000, on advice of its consultant. Mayor C. Paul Bettini and Councilman Fred E. Jensen noted preliminary plans for the proposed city recreation center (for which a bond issue was defeated last June) had cost only $1,500, so sliced the amount to $3,000.

A $12,000 item for installing rest rooms in the library had been deleted by the city manager, to be included instead in the capital improvements budget.

The council made a series of deletions and additions to the police budget. It would up at $1,036,922, or $15,415 above the city manager's recommendation, by addition of one man in the juvenile and two in the patrol division, as requested by Police Chief Joseph J. Brusatori.

The addition in the juvenile division, Brusatori said, is needed because Sgt. Gerald Green is devoting a major share of time to his work as community relations officer. The additional patrolmen will make possible manning five beats constantly, and putting a uniformed officer on the marine patrol on week ends instead of depending on volunteer help for that activity.

Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner made a long plea for addition of a planning technician and a secretary in his department. He got the secretary. Councilmen John A. Miskimen and Lawrence J. Mulryan leaned toward giving him the technician instead, but Mayor Bettini and Councilmen Jensen and Harry A. Barbier agreed that by adding the secretary, he could free Asst. Planner Joan Castrillion from much routine work that now takes up her time.

City Manager McCown had recommended the secretary only. His $96,323 total for the department was raised to $98,323 by providing more money for purchase of materials needed for updating the city general plan and qualifying for federal subventions.

Reclaimed Glass

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—More than 50 million glass bottles and jars have been reclaimed during the first year of operation of the Southern California Glass Reclamation Program.

Assistant Chief For Police Dept.

Thomas L. Stephenson soon will become assistant chief of the San Rafael Police Department, filling a post vacant since Joseph J. Brusatori was elevated to chief on the retirement of Charles J. Chiesa.

Lincoln M. Borba will step up from lieutenant to captain in charge of the patrol division on Stephenson's promotion.

Filling the assistant chief position was urged by Mayor C. Paul Bettini and agreed to by all other city council members during review last night of the police department's budget for next fiscal year. When the mayor asked Chief Brusatori if he had men in mind for the promotions, he promptly replied that Stephenson, now captain, would become the assistant chief and Borba, first on the list in a promotional exam for captaincy two years ago, would step up to captain.

San Rafael police also will get their own mounted patrol, patterned after the Marin Sheriff's Mounted Patrol, city councilmen agreed.

Four members of the department, headed by Lt. James W. Carlton, asked authorization for the patrol. Police Chief Brusatori said eight horsemen outside the department already are eager to join.

The patrol will have a publicity and ritualistic function, appearing in parades and at public events. Members will provide their own horses, saddles, and uniforms. The council agreed the city will provide $350 to cover United States, California and San Rafael flags to be carried in the public appearances of the group.

Nixon Cousin Says She Hasn't Received A Reply

Kathy Timberlake, 24-year-old dropout who has been existing in Cotati on meager welfare handouts, said yesterday that she has not received a reply to the letter she wrote her second cousin, President Nixon.

Although she has not had an answer to her plea for help, Miss Timberlake said she is sure the president received her airmail letter which was marked "family-personal."

"Possibly a letter to the welfare people would help my existence. Maybe you can help me; it's not too much to ask," she had written.

After sending copies of the letters to newspapers, Miss Timberlake sought refuge temporarily in the Sonoma County Community Mental Health Center.

During the onslaught of reporters on Miss Timberlake's tiny apartment, her roommate moved out. Yesterday, however, her sister, Kerry, 19, who had been living in San Rafael, moved in.

"Kathy is really desperate," Kerry said. "She doesn't want to die ... I'm certain about that but she is really depressed about her situation."

Kathy receives $27 a month in county aid but she is seeking aid for the totally disabled. "After months of trying, I finally obtained an appointment with a psychiatrist for next week," she said yesterday.

"He will submit a report and then it's just a matter of them deciding whether I'm eligible for aid."

Body Of Man Is Found In Park

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK (UPI)—The body of an adult male was discovered in the Merced River near the Cascades in Yosemite National Park Wednesday afternoon.

Park officials said the body was clad only in cutoff levis and had been in the water several weeks. It was discovered by a passing bicyclist.

Rangers said they knew of no missing persons fitting the description of the victim. The body was taken to Merced where an attempt was made to establish identification.

Budget Approved By Water Panel

The Petaluma Water Commission yesterday approved a fiscal 1971-72 budget of $509,680 for an increase of $42,039 over 1970-71.

The budget included purchase of water, $188,306; department administration and general costs, $126,905; well pumping, $18,397; water treatment, $15,111; transmission and distribution, $96,966, and customer records, $63,995.

The largest increase of $26,684 came in the cost of materials, supplies and construction services.

The budget proposal has been approved by City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer and will be considered later this month by the city council.

Refund Offered On Lockheed Airbus Orders

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said today the McDonnell-Douglas Corp. has offered to reimburse the $200 million loss three U.S. airlines would suffer if Congress allows Lockheed to go bankrupt.

The airlines—Trans World, Eastern and Delta—would lose down payment money they have given Lockheed for its Tristar jumbo jet if the aircraft manufacturer went bankrupt.

At a hearing of the Senate Banking Committee, Proxmire said he understood that McDonnell-Douglas would give the airlines a refund if they buy McDonnell-Douglas' DC10 in place of the Lockheed Airbus.

Aquaduct Hearing June 23

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Proposed legislation which would make the Marin Municipal Water District's share of the Sonoma-Marin Aquaduct subject to voter approval will be considered on June 23.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, has proposed amendments to two bills by Assemblyman Frank P. Belotti, R-Eureka, in order to have an election on the district's share of the $47.7 million aquaduct.

Bagley said yesterday that his amendments met with Belotti's approval but that a hearing on the bills and the amendments had been postponed while the legal language is worked out.

Bagley's amendments as proposed might contradict a section of the California constitution, according to advice from legislative counsel.

Bagley said that he and Belotti would work out amendments that would be in accord with the Constitution so that the water district may go to the voters with the proposal.

He said the law may at present forbid district directors from holding a referendum.

One of the bills (AB 2433) would allow the district to borrow from the Sonoma County Water Agency and then pay off from revenues. The other (AB 2422) would create a Marin-Sonoma Master Water Agency.

Popsicle Price War In Capital

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Tourists padding the steamy sidewalks among the memorials and monuments in Washington these days are in for an extra treat: a popsicle price war.

Price cutting among the street vendors has driven prices down to old-fashioned levels. A big chocolate ice cream sandwich which used to sell for 25 cents is down to a dime, as are most other ice cream bars, popsicles and the like.

It all started when some independent vendors moved in on territory that pretty much had been exclusive to one company. The original vendors sliced their prices and the intruders matched them.

Ceilidh (Celebration) To Aid Scotland Trip

Money for trips to Scotland by College of Marin thespians and the Prince Charles Pipe Band will be raised by a "ceilidh" at the college June 19 and 20.

Ceilidh, pronounced "kaylee," is a Gaelic word meaning "a gathering of friends and neighbors; a house party or special celebration, a night of Scottish music, songs and dancing."

The Kentfield ceilidh, to be presented in the college's fine arts theater at 8:30 p.m. June 19 and 20, will feature the music, songs and dancing.

Featured performer will be folk singer Pat Foster, who will present Scottish selections from his large repertoire of folk music.

Also featured will be balladeer Connie Ayers, who appeared recently at the Dominican College folk music festival in San Rafael.

The Royal Scottish Country Dancers of Marin will appear in dances of the "crofters" and the "lairs and ladies." And the prize-winning Prince Charles Pipe Band will offer its own music of the highlands and its own dancers.

Money raised will be split between the College of Marin Drama Department and the Prince Charles Pipe Band. The drama department will take its westernized version of Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew" to the Edinburgh Festival in August. The pipe band is building up a fund for its 75 pipers, drummers and dancers to travel to Scotland in 1973 to participate in the world champion Highland Games.

Tickets are on sale at the college bookstore and by pipe band members, and will be sold at the door.

Rana Catesbeiana? Yes, Jumping Contest July 3

Marin Residents with theories on what makes a frog jumpy — be it strict training, a special diet or the proper upbringing — will get a chance to test them out in a frog-jumping contest July 3 in Mill Valley.

Raw material for the contest — Rana Catesbeiana, or the common bullfrog — will be available for the catching in Warner Creek in Boyle Park, where live frogs will be released on the three Saturdays before July 3, beginning Saturday at noon.

Those unwilling or unable to go frog-hunting may buy one by sending $1 to Frogs Unlimited, 210 Melrose Avenue, Mill Valley, including name and telephone number.

Entry blanks for the pioneer frog jump are available at the Mill Valley Community Recreation Center, 180 Camino Alto, Mill Valley. First, second and third prizes will be awarded.

4-H Award Rite Set For Tuesday

Between 300 and 400 youngsters who have participated in 4-H programs this year will gather at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the San Rafael High School auditorium for an awards ceremony.

In addition to awards for leadership and citizenship, there will be recognition for outstanding achievement in projects ranging all the way from automotive, beef, bees and breadmaking through sheep, swine veterinary science and woodwork.

There also will be four "all-star" awards for youngsters judged the most outstanding 4-H members this year in the county.

There are 4-H clubs not only in rural areas of the county but also in urban areas for youngsters from 9 to 19 years old, according to 4-H leaders.

Jamboree Scouts To Plan Trip

Preparations for the 13th International World Boy Scout Jamboree will be made Saturday and Sunday by 36 Marin scouts and four scoutmasters at Tamorancho above Fairfax.

They are organizing troop No. 1243 for the jamboree which will be held on the south slopes of Mount Fujiyama in Japan, starting July 31.

The scouts, who are strangers to each other, will learn how to set up camp and work together in preparation for the nine-day jamboree. Scoutmaster Robert A. Joy will show the boys what they should do when they reach Japan.

The boys will also receive instructions on cooking and camping in Japan. They will receive instructions on what to do when they tour Japan for 11 days following the jamboree.

Suez Canal Bill To Aid Reopening

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Reps. William Moorhead, D-Pa., and William Broomfield, R-Mich., would like to see U.S. counterpart funds used to help clear the Suez Canal when, and if, the international waterway is reopened.

In a letter to Secretary of State William P. Rogers, Moorhead and Broomfield pointed out today that the United States holds more than $262 million in Egyptian pounds, money that can be spent only in Egypt and only on specified projects.

They have introduced legislation authorizing the President to utilize the money for clearing of the canal should Egypt and Israel reach agreement on reopening it.

DAPPER DRAGON

Marin Terrace School students Evri Kwong, 8, Craig Martin, 9, Cornelia Cuikl, 8 and Denise Daniels, 8, put the finishing touches on their celebrity dragon. This prehistoric paper mache character starred in "The Captured Cats" a play written by second and third graders at the Mill Valley School. Assisted by teachers Robert Friedman and Joyce Gustafon, the students built the seven-foot-tall, 18-foot-long animal as part of a creative drama project.

Big Slice For Streets Sought

The emphasis is on street projects in the proposed $843,365 capital improvement program for Novato 1971-72.

City Mgr. Charles A. Brown has presented a preliminary budget containing $697,365 for public works and $146,000 for parks and recreation development.

Park and recreation commissioners had proposed a five-year $1 million program financed by an override tax rate of 30 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

In his budget, Brown said the city didn't yet have the tax base to support the proposed long range program and "it became clear the city council cannot justify the additional burden on taxpayer at the present time."

He proposed that when the city has a "sizeable tax base," there be a $2.5 million bond proposal for street projects and a $1 million bond proposal for parks and recreation.

The five major public works projects proposed are;

Ignacio Connection — Extension of Ignacio Boulevard from Montura Way across San Jose Creek to San Jose Boulevard and reconstruction of the divided portion of San Jose Boulevard through Rafael Village, $134,960.

Novato Boulevard Intersection — Widening, channeling and installing signals at Novato Boulevard and Diablo Avenue, widening and channeling South Novato Boulevard at Yukon Way, straightening the curve on South Novato Boulevard, south of Stone Drive and widening and channeling at Stone Drive, $90,000

Center Road — Reconstruction of Center Road from Lu Sutton School to Wilson Avenue, $90,000.

Resurfacing — Completion of the street resurfacing program, $133,000.

Freeway Work — Realignment of San Marin Drive and drainage on Reichert Avenue as part of the Highway 101 bypass project, $65,100.

Minor projects include reconstruction of Tamalpais Avenue from Center Road to Novato Boulevard and replacement of Warner Creek Bridge, $38,000, and reconstruction of Bugeia Lane, $50,000.

The proposed capital improvements program for parks and recreation calls for further development at Pioneer Memorial Park, totaling $40,000. Proposed are completion of electrical work, a tot lot including irrigation and turfing and an apparatus area.

Other proposed expenditures are Novato Creek demonstration project along Novato Creek, west of Tamalpais Avenue, $36,000; San Marin Park land acquisition and site preparation, $40,000; Novato Creek Park, $15,000; development at Marion and Olive Schools playgrounds, $10,000, and development of paths, irrigation and play area at San Marin Highlands, $4,000.

Park-Rec Board Calls For Land Purchase Help

The Marin County Park and Recreation Commission voted yesterday to ask the board of supervisors for help on long-range financing for land acquisition and department projects.

The decision came after Deputy County Counsel Thomas G. Hendricks dashed the commission's hopes of seeking voters' approval for a long-term override tax for parks and recreation. Commission chairman Albert Boros explained he and other commissioners gained an impression such a special tax vote might be possible, at a joint meeting May 25 with the supervisors.

"My response has to be negative," Hendricks explained. He said the law permits county supervisors to levy a special tax for recreation —subject to revocation the next year or by later boards — or a bond election could be held. Another alternative would be formation of a regional parks district with taxing powers, he said.

Urged by Boros and Commissioner Polly Smith to act quickly, the commission unanimously instructed Pierre W. Joske, parks and recreation director, to write the supervisors for aid before the start of budget discussions next week.

The Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission also:

OPEN SPACE — After receiving a brief explanation of the county planning department's draft of an open space plan, agreed that it will increase the need to update the county parks and recreation master plan.

DEER PARK — Approved amending its agreement with the Fairfax School District, to include additional Marin Municipal Water District land in the area to be jointly developed as park and playground area for Deer Park School.

WELFARE — Heard Joske report that the county administrator's office had asked whether he could use 130 to 180 welfare recipients as full-time park crewmen, at no expense to the parks department.

BALTIMORE CANYON — Heard Joske report that negotiations were progressing for a hiking trail right-of-way through the Kent property, and may be possible for the Tiscornia property.

JOINT SESSION — Learned that the commission will meet with the Marin County Planning Commission at 9:15 a.m. June 28.

NORTH MARIN TRAILS — Decided to inspect on its next field trip, site of the proposed trail from Marinwood to Novato. George Barnwell, chairman of the Novato Trails Council, wrote requesting addition of an equestrian trail parallel to the bike-hiking trail already included in the 1971-72 proposed budget.

SOUTH MARIN TRAIL — At the request of Elizabeth Terwilliger of Mill Valley, instructed Joske to check with Corte Madera officials on the possibility of a bicycle trail from Mill Valley to the vicinity of Marin Joe's.

PHOENIX LAKE — Delayed action on Mrs. Terwilliger's request for commission support in her campaign to win Marin Municipal Utility District relaxation of the rule requiring $500,000 in insurance for any group seeking to use canoes or rowboats on the lake.

DUCKS — Declined to support Mrs. Terwilliger's proposal that a peninsula jutting into the Civic Center lagoon be made into an island so ducks could nest unmolested by persons, dogs or raccoons. The area is earmarked for county fair use, Joske reported.

BRIDGE — Unanimously voted support in principal for Mrs. Terwilliger's campaign to persuade the national Park Service to put an inexpensive footbridge across Redwood Creek, on the Dipsea Trail on the fringes of Muir Woods.

WEST MARIN — Referred to its trails committee a letter from the Inverness Improvement Association calling for paving the shoulders of all Point Reyes National Seashore roads for bicycle paths.

McNEARS BEACH — Was told by Joske that the concession at the county park will be ready to open Saturday.

WINDFALL — Heard a report by Raymond H. Nesbitt, executive officer of the State Wildlife Conservation Board, that a one-time "windfall" makes the outlook bright for any land and waterways acquisition grants the Marin commission may request for fiscal 1971-72.

Canoe Course Offered Soon

La Tercera Park Plan To Council

Peliminary plans for the development of LaTercera Park were approved yesterday by the Petaluma Recreation, Music and Parks Commission.

The plans were submitted by Donald Campbell, a landscape architect and member of the Petaluma Valley Homeowners Association, at no cost to the city.

Commission secretary Lana Sutton said the plans for the park adjacent to La Tercera School include a picnic area, separate play facilities for preschool and elementary-aged youngsters, an open space free play area and a horseshoe court.

The commission forwarded the plans to the city council with a recommendation for acceptance.

In other action, the commission agreed to permit the Petaluma Swim Club to use the municipal swim center from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. on weekdays. Mrs. Sutton said time had previously been set aside for family swimming, but that attendance has been low. She said family swimming could be changed to 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Army Man Found Guilty Of Graft

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (UPI)— M. Sgt. William E. Higdon was found guilty today on a count of larceny and another of graft in connection with irregularities in the operation of a servicemen's club in Vietnam.

A court-martial panel of five officers convicted Higdon of accepting a $7,200 payment from Envoy International, representing the Leggitt & Myers Tobacco Co., and of accepting a $723 payment for monthly invoices from International Consultants, a refrigeration firm which had a contract with Higdon's club.

He was found innocent of charges he accepted a $5,000 check in return for awarding the contract and innocent on a general allegation he took $20,000 in other kickbacks.

The panel, which deliberated from 10:15 a.m. Wednesday until 10:40 a.m. today, returned to the discussion of the penalties against Higdon after announcing its verdict.

More Yanks Than Europeans To Canada

OTTAWA (UPI)—A sharp decline in the number of emigrants from Great Britain and Europe in the first quarter of 1971 left the Unived States as the prime source of emigrants to Canada.

Figures released Wednesday by the Department of Manpower and Immigration showed a total of 27,889 persons immigrated to Canada during the first three months of 1971, a drop of 2,884 from the same period last year.

Reagan Tightening The Welfare Rolls

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Reagan administration pressed ahead unilaterally today with a proposal to block the welfare rolls to an estimated 20,000 unemployed parents at a cost savings of $39 million a year.

State Social Welfare Director Robert B. Carleson announced adoption of a new regulation tightening up eligibility requirements for unemployed parents in the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program.

The new regulation, to take effect July 1 as part of Gov. Ronald Reagan's welfare "reform" program, stipulates that a man can work up to 30 hours a week and still be classified as "unemployed" for welfare purposes. Previously, he could work 35 hours. Approximately 3,900 families would be affected.

(The impact on Marin County welfare rolls cannot be determined until the department of public social services receives details of the state rules changes from Sacramento, said Asst. Director Don Sanford, calling portions of newspaper reports "ambiguous."

(Sanfod said customary hearings on such rules changes have neither been held nor announced by the state welfare director. However, he said, the county was expecting to receive agendas for two such hearings today or tomorrow. The hearings are set for June 17 and 22, Sanford said.)

Another provision, to become effective Jan. 1, will require that any parent receiving or eligible for unemployment insurance benefits no longer will be eligible for AFDC payments.

The department said this feature is expected to affect 13,500 cases each year by dropping unemployed parents from AFDC or preventing them from coming onto the rolls in the first place.

A spokesman said latest figures available show there were 71,524 unemployed parent cases receiving AFDC in March.

The new regulation, some features of which conform California to federal requirements, also require that an unemployed parent to be eligible for AFDC must be jobless for 30 consecutive days before getting aid. This would affect approximately 2,700 cases.

Additionally, the new rule will terminate aid to a recipient when he receives an "offer of employment expected to produce full-time work in the following month." It wasn't known how many persons will be affected by this revision.

Aid currently is cut off only when the parent receives wages for at least 35 hours work with the expectation of full-time employment in the next month.

Carleson said termination of AFDC grants to those receiving or eligible to receive unemployment benefits was delayed until Jan. 1 to "minimize hardships" on families who now rely on AFDC to supplement their unemployment benefits.

Some features of the governor's welfare overhaul program can be implemented by administrative regulation without legislative ratification while others must be approved by the lawmakers.

Tires, Jack Stolen

Five tires and a floor jack valued at $415 were taken from Bill's San Marin Texaco service station, 200 San Marin Drive, between 10 and 10:50 p.m. yesterday, Novato police reported.

19 GIs Killed In Lowest Viet Toll Since 1965

SAIGON (UPI) — Nineteen U.S. servicemen were killed in action in Indochina last week in the lowest combat death toll in nearly six years.

But the toll of wounded remained relatively high—261 Americans wounded in action last week, compared to 229 wounded the previous week, the U.S. command said.

The combat death toll was the lowest since Oct. 23, 1965, when 14 Americans were killed in action for the week.

54 Acres Annexed To San Rafael

Annexation of 54 acres on the north side of Puerto Suello Hill to the City of San Rafael was unanimously approved last night by the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission.

The land is owned by Edward Scettrini, who applied for the annexation approval. One home is located on the property.

The commission also:

TERRA LINDA — Voted for deletion of garbage and refuse collection from the powers of the Terra Linda Community Services District. The collection should be left to the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District, the commission recommended.

ALTO STRIP — Put off deciding until the July meeting how much the City of Mill Valley should pay Richardson Bay Sanitary District for sewage facilities taken over in a 60-acre annexation by the city. The commission asked executive director John F. Barrows for more data.

CENTER ROAD — Unanimously approved annexation of one acre on Center Road east of St. Francis Avenue, to the City of Novato.

NOVATO — Put off to July, decisions on two proposed annexations to the Novato Sanitary District to give the city a chance to seek parallel annexations. One is a 2.5-acre parcel on Vineyard Road at Wild Horse Valley Road; the other a 43-acre parcel at the end of Trumbull Avenue.

New Courthouse Group Is Formed

A San Rafael real estate man disclosed today he has assembled a new group of Marin property owners, merchants and civic leaders to bid for purchase of the long-idle Courthouse Square.

Broker Robert A. Roumiguiere, speaking on radio KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board," said he hoped an offer would be made to the county board of supervisors within a month.

Roumiguiere was one of three Marin businessmen who bid $767,000 for the property last year, but an option expired and the group, which included former Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen and Independent-Journal publisher Wishard A. Brown, forfeited $10,000.

Roumiguiere said after the program that disclosure of the identity of members of the new group would be premature. But he did say the members have plans for boutiques, eventually a high-rise office building and perhaps an indoor ice rink.

Some of the proposals, he said, are "on the drawing board."

Roumiguiere said he hoped his group's bid would generate other offers. Development of the square, he emphasized during the program, is vital to maintaining a healthy business climate downtown.

His disclosure of a new offer came during a discussion of what would now become of the square in the wake of the May 25 fire which destroyed the century-old courthouse building.

Although located in the city, the square is the property of the county.

Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino said the only issue resolved by the fire was whether the courthouse would have to be razed. The county, he said, would proceed shortly with demolition because of the fire damage.

Both Roumiguiere and another panelist, Sig K. Herzog, chairman of the courthouse committee of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce, believed the city would have to invest in parking facilities at the site to speed sale and development.

But City Mgr. James H. McCown said the city's parking district was short of revenue. Formation of a special assessment district to handle parking needs was proposed by a listener.

The program, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be repeated at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

Cuba Captures U.S. Boats And Jails Crewmen

MIAMI (UPI)—Havana radio reported today the Cuban government has seized two U.S. vessels and turned their five American crewmen over the the revolutionary tribunal for trial on charges of illegal entry into Cuba.

The radio report, monitored in Miami, added that a third U.S. vessel, a tugboat pulling a barge which put into "a port in Oriente province two days ago with eight U.S. crewmen aboard," was being investigated as "very suspicious."

The broadcast directly linked the boat seizures with the case of four Cuban fishing boat skippers who were found guilty in federal court at Key West Wednesday for fishing illegally in U.S. territorial waters. The four were sentenced to pay fines of $10,000 each and serve six months in jail.

Firemen Seek A Shorter Week

Novato firemen are seeking a reduction in their work week from 70 to 67 hours, according to Fire Chief Jack Kidder.

The district board will discuss firemen's wages and hours at a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. June 21 at fire district headquarters, the chief said.

Directors last night approved promotion of fireman Curtis Richardson from probationary status with a pay hike from $690 to $774 a month.

Tiburon Fire Board Adopts Final Budget

A final budget of $282,234 for 1971-72 was adopted last night by the Tiburon Fire Protection District board, a $659 increase over this year's $281,575 budget.)

Secretary Wellman H. Topham said directors anticipate either maintaining the tax rate at this year's 87 cents per $100 assessed valuation or dropping it slightly.

The budget includes two new firemen, Topham said, one to be hired Aug. 1 and one Oct. 1. The addition of new personnel will bring the district payroll to 13.

Major budget categories for next year (with this year's figures in parentheses) are: salaries, $179,971 ($147,119); maintenance, $30,900 ($27,110); capital outlay, $26,363 ($32,346), and operating reserve, $45,000 ($75,000).

Theft Of Impact Wrench Is Reported

An impact wrench valued at $130 was reported stolen yesterday by the Holtzinger Bros. construction company, Corte Madera police said today.

Officers said the wrench apparently was stolen from the garage area of the firm at Highway 101.

Hamilton Commander Will Leave

Col. Lee A. Sarter Jr., commander of Hamilton Air Force Base since September 1969, is scheduled to leave that post in August.

Reports that Colonel Sarter has been reassigned to Ent Air Force Base, Colo., were confirmed today by Capt. Joseph W. Corfield, public information officer.

Colonel Sarter is to be succeeded by Col. Vermont Garrison, commander of the 4780th Air Defense Wing at Perrin Air Force Base, Tex.

A potential assignment for Sarter is chief administration officer of Air Defense Command Headquarters at Ent, but his new post pasn't been definitely set, Captain Corfield said.

During his stay at Hamilton, Sarter has served as commander of the 78th Combat Support Group and the First Combat Support Group, and then the 4661st Air Base Group, when units were renamed.

He previously served at Hamilton in 1948 and from 1952-56.

Colonel Garrison, a native of Kentucky, flew combat missions in World War II and Korean War, and at one time led the Air Force acrobatic team, predecessor of the Air Force Thunderbirds.

Dixie Seeks Bids On Schools Work

Dixie School District trustees last night called for bids on major construction projects at Oakview and Miller Creek schools.

The projects, with a total estimated cost of $1,272,383, will begin July 16 and are to be completed by June 30, 1972.

A large gymnasium, showers and lockers, stage and drama facilities, an industrial arts shop plus additional parking space are scheduled for Miller Creek School. In addition, the entire area around the buildings will be landscaped and paved and existing classroom units and the library will be carpeted.

Six classrooms, four of which will have movable walls, will be added to Oakview School. In addition a large library-media center, an administration unit and a teacher's room will be built.

Oakview School will also receive new parking facilities, an overhead corridor connecting its existing buildings, and paving and landscaping.

In other action the trustees employed 10 library assistants to work during the five weeks of summer school, opening the library to the public; offered contracts to three teachers who will be on sabbatical next year and employed regular term teachers and 40 teacher aides to work in the summer school program.

Driver's Forehead Cut In Accident

A 40-year-old Mill Valley man was treated yesterday at Marin General Hospital for a cut forehead sustained in a single-car accident on Corte Madera Avenue in Corte Madera.

Officers said Robert Pope Hovey of 528 Northern Avenue told them he was traveling south on Corte Madera when his auto's throttle jammed forcing him to lose control. He struck an embankment at about 10 p.m. in the 200 block of the avenue, officers said.

Firemen Engage In Training Session

Novato and Hamilton Air Force Base firemen today engaged in a training session at the base, burning an old barracks.

The exercise , which results in clouds of smoke, was cleared by the Bay Area Pollution Control District, according to Capt. Joseph W. Corfield, public information officer.

Park Land Goals Are Endorsed

The Larkspur Parks and Recreation Commission last night endorsed and passed on to the city council goals and policies for park land acquisition and development and a more integrated citywide recreation program.

According to Harlan Barry, recreation director, the five goals and 12 policies eventually will become part of the city's general plan.

He said the goals outline the commission's views on greater park land acquisition, the degree to which park lands should be developed, and future recreational needs of the city.

The policies deal with specific uses, he said, such as designating use of the old Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way as a bicycle path.

In other action, the commission approved its joint summer recreation program with the Town of Corte Madera. The Larkspur program — a playground program for preschool through junior high school children — will begin June 28.

The commission also directed Barry to investigate the legal implications of designating the City of Larkspur as a wildlife santuary as suggested by the Town Meeting group.

Minor Injuries In 101 Accident

A 25-year-old Mill Valley man suffered a cut forehead yesterday in a two-car accident on northbound Highway 101 in San Rafael, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Robert P. Pektus, of 240 Redwood Highway, was treated at Marin General Hospital after the 1:50 p.m. accident.

Officers said Pektus's car rammed the rear of a car driven by Blake Conley, 52, of 1 Oceano Place, Novato. They said Conley was stopped in a line of traffic backed up from construction on the freeway.

Billboards Removal Legislation Planned

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to remove some 5,000 billboards along highways throughout the state is about to be introduced by Se. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael.

Three-quarters of the cost of their removal is supposed to be met with federal funds, but these funds would not be available without legislation adopting federal guidelines for the program.

The fedeal government's timetable calls for removing all the billboards within five years, yet federal funds for this and next fiscal year total only $375,000.

Behr's office said federal funding presumably would be increased after next fiscal year — if the timetable is to be met.

Federal guidelines for the removal program reiburse billboard owners for 30 months of lost income after their removal.

The program will apply to interstate and primary highways outside industrial and commercial zones.

The legislation was asked by the state Department of Public Works. It is an urgency measure that would go into effect immediately, thus requiring approval by two-thirds vote in each house.

Permissive Police

LONDON, Ont. (UPI)—A resolution proposing that U.S. draft dodgers and radicals be barred from Canada was rejected at the annual convention of the Canadian Association of Chiefs of Police. The police also turned down a proposal that rock festivals be outlawed, or the military, instead of police, be called to handle them.

Guilty Plea To Marijuana Count

Richard W. Golden, 22, of San Rafael, has pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court to a charge of possessing marijuana.

Golden, who earlier had pleaded inocent to the charge, changed his plea just as a jury trial was to begin.

Judge Henry J. Broderick set sentencing for June 29.

Golden was arrested Feb. 9 after a search of his apartment revealed a six-pound cache of marijuana, Marin County sheriff's deputies said.

New Prime Minister For Afghanistan

KABUL, Afghanistan (UPI)—Dr. Abdul Zahir, Afghanistan's ambassador to Rome, was appointed prime minister Wednesday, a communique from the royal place said.

Zahir succeeds Noor Ahmed Etemadi, who resigned on May 16 because of a constitutional dispute with parliament.

Collier Revises Tax Revision Bill

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Sen. Randolph Collier, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, has revised his tax revision plan to provide $974 million to balance the 1971-72 state budget.

At Collier's request, the Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee Wednesday removed a one-cent sales tax increase from the measure and a provision which would have used the added funds to give schools an additional $500 million.

Originally, the plan had raised $1.001 billion.

Jury Indicts Three In Two Separate Burglaries

Three men have been indicted by the Marin County Grand Jury in connection with two separate burglaries.

Ordered to appear in superior court for arraignment Monday were Stephen Alan Schultz, 24, of no known address; Ross Sheffield Murphy, 20, of 75 Eliseo Drive, Greenbrae, and John Robert Oates, 21, of 8 Alexander Avenue, San Rafael.

Schultz was arrested monday when Marin County sheriff's deputies set up a stake-out near merchandise which had been stolen from the residence of Richard T. Pisani of 40 Bret Harte Road. The property was hidden in brush near the residence, and Schultz was apprehended when he attempted to retrieve the property, according to sheriff's deputies.

Oates and Murphy were arrested May 28 after a Greenbrae woman told police she had seen them enter the home of a neighbor, Aubrey C. Mendle of 50 Via Cheparro.

The grand jury met Tuesday.

CELEBRATIONS FOR the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Mappus of Tiburon began Saturday with a party in their honor hosted by their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Mappus Jr. of Petaluma. Sunday they were honored by Faith Lutheran Church members, Monday they received a card of congratulations from President Nixon, and Tuesday was the actual day of the anniversary. (I-J photo)

Nixon Sends Congratulations On Couple's 50th Anniversary

Among the surprises Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph L. Mappus of Tiburon have had in connection with their 50th wedding anniversary is a message of congratulations and best wishes from President Nixon.

Mrs. Mappus says she has no idea how the President knew it was their anniversary and was especially surprised when the engraved card arrived because she and Mr. Mappus are Democrats.

Another surprise for the couple, whose anniversary was Tuesday, was a prayer in their honor during services at Faith Lutheran Church on Sunday and a luncheon served in the parish hall of the church after the service.

Celebration of the anniversary began Saturday evening at a buffet supper given by the couple's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph L. Mappus Jr. of Petaluma, at the Tiburon Lodge.

Rudy and Mamie Mappus were both born in Charleston, S.C., where they were married on June 8, 1921. They lived in Washington, D.C., for many years and Mr. Mappus had a window display business. They moved to Marin 12 years ago to be near their family, including grandchildren Rudolph III of Davis, Barbara, 20, and Valerie, 19, both of Petaluma.

Mr. Mappus operated Rudy's Liquor Store in San Rafael until retiring two years ago. He enjoys gardening and playing the organ, and both of the Mappuses are active in the church. Mrs. Mappus worked for a doctor in Washington, D.C., and for her brother in San Francisco, retiring five years ago. She is a member of the American Association of Retired People.

The Mappuses have seen much of the world, visiting nine countries in Europe and Asia in 1964. They went around the world by ship in 1966, visiting countries in the Pacific and the Orient. In 1967 they decided they wanted to see more of the United States and took a train trip, spending most of the time on the East coast and in the South.

"We are planning some kind of trip for the end of this summer," Mrs. Mappus says. "We just can't make a decision on where we want to go."

50 CANDLES, 50 GUESTS

Elizabeth Will Give Philip A Glittering Birthday Party

By MARGARET SAVILLE

LONDON (UPI)—Fifty guests in the gilded dining room. Fifty candles on the cake.

Buckingham Palace will light up tonight as it has few times for private affairs in recent years to celebrate the 50th birthday of the first gentleman of the land, Prince Philip.

Queen Elizabeth has often decked herself in jewels and presided over glittering state functions in the same salon, opening up into the great gold and white ballroom, in the line of duty.

THIS TIME it is pure pleasure, her own idea, not Her Majesty's Government's, to mark the half-century of her husband.

"I hate to be fussed over" Prince Philip said. But the Queen decided on a party and had the enthusiastic support of her two oldest children, Prince Charles and Princess Anne.

Out of Buckingham Palace went invitations to the great names and titles of the inner circle of the court —numbered to make a total of 50 with the adults of the Windsor family. The chosen 50 will dine and then toast Philip in champagne while footmen carry in the birthday cake on a silver tray as a dessert course.

AFTERWARD THE diners will move to the ballroom and join 250 other guests. There will be dancing most of the night to the music of Joe Loss, who has been a bandleader for more than 40 years and was chosen because he plays everything from the Beatles to Johann Strauss.

In hopes the night will be fine and warm, lights will be strung among the trees in the palace gardens and small spotlights will pick out the famous flower beds of roses, geraniums, stocks and other scented annuals. Couples will be able to stroll in the biggest private garden in London between dances.

The Queen is keeping her gift to her husband a secret until his anniversary morning but many of their friends think it will be a new sail boat. He sadly misses the one he sold last year as a personal, economy measure. Recently he has borrowed boats for his favorite water sport.

Buckingham Palace is making one thing very clear —the Queen is paying the estimated $7,200 cost of the party out of her own private pocket. This is to counter any possible criticism about royal extravagance while a parliamentary committee is meeting on her request for an increase in her official funds to meet the rising costs of being a Queen.

THIS IS the official portrait of Great Britain's Prince Philip, the Duke of Edinburgh, who is 50 years old today. The birthday will be celebrated tonight at a party for 50 guests at Buckingham Palace. (UPI Telephoto)

Receptions Are Less Elaborate

NEW YORK (UPI)—A caterer whose clients include Astors, Duponts and Rockefellers says even large wedding receptions are becoming less elaborate and more informal.

Many are held in tents, even in midwinter, said F. George Coker in an interview here. He said outdoor receptions are much more popular now because homes are not as large as they used to be.

The use of tents is less formal—but the shelters themselves can be as elegant as your budget allows. Coker said companies that specialize in renting, installing and striking tents provide equipment that includes floors and even carpeting. Winterized ones have plywood sides instead of plastic or canvas, which can be drafty.

Inside the tents, everything from the linens to the wedding cakes are changing.

TWENTY YEARS ago, all linens were white. Coker said today's brides prefer brightly-colored printed and plain ones.

Square tables are out, round ones are in, and the tablecloths on them are floor length.

"There are all sorts of wedding cakes today," Coker said. "Years ago, it used to be dark fruitcake. A couple of weeks ago we had a request for a pineapple upside down cake—not even iced as a wedding cake.

The caterer, whose father founded 50 years ago what now is George J. Coker & Son, Inc., said there's a current tendency to save money by trimming the guest list and selecting a less elaborate menu.

He said the largest wedding reception they'd ever catered had 1,500 guests, but parties of 300 are more common now.

Asked to suggest a menu appropriate for a seated buffet in June with 400 guests, he came up with this:

TWO CHAFING dish foods, possibly chicken divan and beef burgundy or veal sweetbreads in white wine sauce; salmon, cold Smithfield ham, filet of beef in aspic; salads of bibb lettuce with vinaigrette dressing and mousse of avocado with crabmeat; a large wheel of brie cheese, hot rolls,raspberry bombe with fresh raspberries, tea, iced tea and coffee.

"This can be streamlined, but I think you need variety to make it interesting," he said. "People want just a taste of wedding cake," he added. He said a party of 400 would need cake for only 200.

Coker said champagne remains traditional for wedding receptions but that stemware with deep, tulip-shaped bowls is becoming more popular now than that with saucer-shaped bowls.

George Davis And Cheryle Bliss Wed

Cheryle Ann Bliss and George Robert Davis were married at the Presbyterian Church of Novato Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley L. Bliss of Novato are the bride's parents, and Mr. and Mrs. Max Keeler of Novato are the bridegroom's parents.

Kathy Plyer of San Francisco was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Kathy Sommers of Sacramento and Debbie Berg and Jill McGillis of Novato.

The bridegroom chose as his best man Barry Lear, and ushers were John Bliss, brother of the bride; Scott Stewert and Lyle Radtke, all of Novato.

Following a reception and champagne supper at Wild Horse Valley Country Club in Novato the couple left on a wedding trip to Catalina Island and Mexico. They will live in Coronado.

The bride was graduated from Novato High School and attended Ricks College in Rexberg, Idaho. She was employed at Wells Fargo Bank in San Francisco. She is also the sister of David P. Bliss of Novato. Mr. and Mrs. Llwellyn Roberts of Mountain View and Mr. and Mrs. Porter Bliss of San Anselmo are the bride's grandparents.

Butter For Beauty

THREE KEY IDEAS

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Form A 'Mother's Coffee' Aimed At Outlawing Snacks To Children

DEAR HELEN:

Our 8-year-old has a tendency to overweight, so we try to watch her diet, without making a big issue over it.

But everything we do at home (or omit) is counteracted by neighbors who feed her desserts, cookies, ice cream, snacks. Outside of putting a placard on her saying "don't feed me" how can we educate well-meaning friends? — MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER:

The following letter came from a different city, but it might show you that neighbors, too, have food problems. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I don't like to look stingy to my children or their friends, but this "feeding the multitude" has got to stop. Whenever I make cookies or have something special, the word spreads along the block, especially to two chunky twins who appear like magic, just as our children take the first bite.

They also show up right at dessert time, looking hopeful and hungry. And because they're "best friends" with ours, they stay for meals a lot, which is all right if I plan extras, but embarrassing when the children all take these casual eating habits for granted. Ours don't snack at their house.

How do you start an austerity program and still keep friends? — RUNNING OUT

DEAR MOTHERS ALL:

Two unwritten laws of childhood are: "Whoever looks hungry, feed 'em," and "Look hungry!"

If neighborhood mothers join forces to discuss their various problems, much of this overfeeding and over-eating might be eliminated. You'd better believe the chubby kid who appears at the drop of a cookie isn't always "sent begging" by a don't-care family. Nor is the parent who hands out sweets always appreciated as Mrs. Bountiful.

Why not plan a "mother's coffee" and work up some laws of your own? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My husband is wonderful to me — between affairs. But he can't stay away from other women more than a couple of years at a time. He gets serious over a girl, tells me everything they do and say — and I'm supposed to understand "because it's a man's nature."

We both know that if I stand by and wait, he'll get over the new love, and then it will be almost like a honeymoon for us — until the next time.

This has been going on for 10 years. The affairs seldom last more than two months. I've read that "swinging" (wife-swapping) is sometimes the answer when a man feels it's his right to refresh marriage with adventures, but my husband thinks this is "sick." (So do I!) It would be the end for us if I found a lover, too.

Should I resign myself to sharing him two or three months out of 24 — hoping as he grows older he'll stop falling so regularly "in love," or should I leave the best man in the world — when he's faithful?

At least he's truthful. If I make a fuss he might start sneaking around. — BAFFLED WIFE

DEAR WIFE:

So long as you're only "baffled," and not crushed, then perhaps you've achieved the "modern" detachment that will let you live with this situation. In some countries, it's the accepted way. (But not in Bottel country!) — H.

Tricia's Recipe Produces Cake 'Hard As Rock'

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI)—Patricia Gins, food editor of the Albuquerque Tribune, says she used the White House recipe and baked the cake to be used for Tricia Nixon's wedding.

She said the batter was so sticky it clogged the motor of her electric beaters and the outside of the cake, after cooling overnight, was "as hard as a rock."

"It's a lot of cake," Miss Gins said.

The New Look In Home Furniture

New Leader Of AAUW Branch Outlines Purposes Of Group

Installed this week as president of the Marin Branch, American Association of University Women, was Mrs. Joseph Frank Turina, who served as vice president in charge of programs last year.

Anise M. Turina, who joined AAUW when she moved to Marin in 1963, says the association's purpose is "practical educational work."

"This purpose includes three emphases," she says. "A program to enable college women to continue their own intellectual growth, to further the advancement of women and to discharge the special responsibilities to socitey of those who have enjoyed the advantages of higher education.

"IN MARIN branch the purpose is to unite the alumnae of colleges and universities to concentrate and increase their influence in the community for the solution of social and civic problems. Our members participate in the development and promotion of the policies and programs of AAUW nationally and contribute to its growth and influence and cooperate in state division and reginal work."

AAUW's continuing areas of interest are in community problems, cultural interests, education, world problems and legislation and Marin branch has study section in each of these areas. There are also sections covering hobbies and interest groups.

A fellowships program is supported through funds raised at bridge luncheons, fashion shows and bazaars.

"Marin branch plans to raise money by sponsoring local plays and by having a variety show performed by members,"

MRS. JOSEPH F. TURINA
AAUW branch president

says Mrs. Turina, "to support the AAUW fellowships program with an endowment approaching $3 million, making awards of nearly $250,000 to more than 80 American nd foreign women graduate scholars annually."

WOMEN WITH degrees from recognized colleges and universities are eligible to join AAUW, and increasing membership is the goal of the branch.

Mrs. Turina was born in Superior, Ariz., and attended the University of Arizona on a scholarship. Following graduation witha teaching degree she took a job with the U.S. Army in Germany in 1949 as a service club director and travelled throughout Europe and the Near East.

She met her husband, an Army officer, in Germany, and they were married in Superior in 1954. Their daughter, Susan, was born 15 years ago in Fort Benning, Ga., and a son, Ted, 13, was born in Taipei, Taiwan, while Captain Turina was stationed there. He retired from the Army in 1960 and is now a district manager for State Farm Insurance Company in San Francisco.

Mrs. Turina is also a member of the Central Marin League of Women Voters, has been a church officer at Christ Presbyterian Church in Terra Linda for six years, is a member of the Terra Linda High School Parent-Teacher Association board, the Retired Officers Wive's Club, Marin Investment Group, Vallecito Junior High School Parent-Teacher Club and has served as area chairman for Cancer Crusade.

GOLF, BOWLING, bridge, cooking, entertaining, reading and redecorating, painting and maintaining the family home are her hobbies. She attended Golden Gate School of Law in San Francisco in 1965 and 1966 and plans to return to law school.

"I will probably start working about the time that most people retire from a job," she says.

Other new officers of Marin branch AAUW are Mmes. Stephen Knox, first vice president (program); John R. Haeuser, recording secretary; J.C. Stovall, financial secretary; Carl Lischeske and Thomas A. Anderson, directors-at-large.

Continuing officers are Mmes. Nevin W. George, second vice president (membership); John R. Everingham, corresponding secretary; and John R. Verzi, treasurer.

LBJ's Daughter To Report On Tricia's Wedding

But Mrs. Robb, who also is an occasional magazine writer, has not applied for credentials along with the 600 other newsmen and cameramen who must have passes to cover the nuptials on Saturday, an inquiry to the White House disclosed.

Tricia has invited both Lynda Bird and her sister Luci Nugent and their husbands to the Rose Garden wedding.

Also elected were Mmes. Donald Furlong of Belvedere, vice president; Tore Noren of Mill Valley, treasurer; and Lucia Towne of Belvedere, recording secretary. Miss Betty Klink of Kentfield was re-elected corresponding secretary.

The auxiliary's 62 members promote social events in connection with Marin Symphony Association. They hold receptions for orchestra and board members, sell programs, make desserts for the Pops Concert and participate in the County Fair.

A new project is a guided-tour program in Marin for the groups of women who visit the Bay Area during each year, promoted through the San Francisco and Marin chambers of commerce. It involves docents trained in historical, cultural and geologic lore of Marin County.

New All-Purpose Thread Announced

With the home seamstress producing everything from lingerie to slipcovers on her sewing machine, any product that simplifies her project is likely to be cheered. This is the reasoning behind a new all purpose thread of 100 per cent spun polyester.

The thread, in 75 colors, neatly solves the what-thread-to-buy problem for today's spectrum of permanent press, knit, stretch and traditional woven fabrics, the manufacturer says.

A representative of the Federation Aeronautic Internationale, Ted Holmes Jr., of Denver, certified a sealed barograph on the balloon gondola before Stefan took off from the Longmont airport at 7 a.m.

Art Booths Will Pay Percentage

Arts and crafts booths at the 1971 Marin County Fair at the Civic Center will be charged 20 per cent of gross receipts with no flat fee or minimum, fair manager Marcelle McCoy explained today.

Concession booths will pay 20 per cent of gross or $75, whichever is larger. Arts and crafts booths will have no minimum rate but will merly pay 20 per cent of gross receipts.

The annual county fair, formerly held at the Art and Garden Center in Ross, will be held at the Civic Center Fairgrounds fo the first time this year.

MUSIC REVIEW

Wyss A Surprise In Opera Program

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

SAN FRANCISCO — Although there was some brilliant singing at times from the guests, the real surprise at the Opera House last night was Niklaus Wyss, San Francisco Symphony Orchestra's boyish-looking assistant conductor.

Billed as the first of two evenings of "great moments from opera," Wyss came into his own as a young conductor after a few rough spots in the first half of the all-Verdi program.

Together with the two "dramatic" guests — soprano Eileen Farrell and tenor James McCracken — and the orchestra, Wyss achieved some remarkable results in the arias from Verdi's "La Forza del Destino" following a sterling reading of the opera's soaring and melodic overture.

Miss Farrell, no stranger to Bay Area stages and still with a beautifully shaded voice at 50, showed the purity and control that has made her famous in "Pace, Pace Mio Dio," from Act IV, Scene Two of "La Forza."

However, it was McCracken, "Mr. Otello" in world opera circles, who brought wild bravos from the near-capacity audience for his sterling singing and warmth in "Oh Tu Che In Seno Agli Angeli," from Act III, Scene One of the same opera.

The graying stocky tenor has become one of San Francisco's favorites over the past years and during season's San Francisco Opera scored another triumph for his "Otello."

He and Miss Farrell, looking slimmer than I have seen her in many years, teamed up for the recitative, romance and duet from Act One from "La Forza" to end the program.

Some in the audience may have been bothered by Miss Farrell's use of the score in some of her presentations but she is not a regular operatic star with a full repertory.

It was a shame I think that there weren't more arias from "Otello." The guests presented only the love duet from Act One, leaving a taste for more of the magic, at least an aria by McCracken.

The first half of the program, with exception of the concluding overture to "I Vespri Siciliani," which nearly galloped off with Wyss at the start, the program was devoted to "Aida" in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the first performance of the opera.

Both guests seemed a little cold in their first solo offerings — "Celeste Aida" (McCracken) and "Ritorna Vincitor" (Miss Farrell), but closed strong in the famous duet "Pur Ti Riveggo" (the Nile scene).

Wyss had had to substitute for maestro Ozawa near the start of the past symphony season and in that debut was uneven, but last night he had some of the "big league" finesse and seemed pleased as Punch with his guests and orchestra. And, even more interesting, he conducted the tricky scores by memory.

On the whole the orchestra played handsomely. The "La Forza" overture was like a rich dessert.

Miss Farrell and Wyss will team up again Saturday night at the Opera House for the week's second special — an all-Wagner program.

Met Appoints Musical Director

NEW YORK (UPI) —Rafael Kubelik, 56-year-old Czech conductor, has been appointed musical director of the Metropolitan Opera beginning in the 1973-74 season, it was announced today.

The appointment, a new post for the opera company, was made by Goeran Gentele, who will succeed Rudolf Bing as general manager in the 1972-73 season. He said he and Kubelik will share "artistic responsibility" in planning repertory and new productions.

Kubelik is music director of the Bavarian Radio Symphony, the chief orchestra of Munich.

Antirodeo Bill Introduced To Combat Cruelty

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Charging animals are being mistreated in rodeos, a New York congressman has introduced a bill that would make it illegal to ship horses and cattle used in the events in interstate commerce.

The bill also would make it illegal to ship interstate such rodeo devices as electric prods used to make animals bolt from chutes, and bucking straps.

In some rodeos, Rep. William F. Ryan, D-N.Y., said, "animals are victimized by devices specifically used to torment and inflict pain, just so that the viewing public will get their money's worth."

"Cruelty cannot be condoned," Ryan said. "It is particularly unconscionable when it is inflicted upon animals solely for the purpose of entertainment."

Senator In Crash Proving Road Danger

WESTERLY, R.I. (UPI) — Republican State Sen. Francis Gencarelli was so concerned about a dangerous curve on Rte. 9 he drove two state Transportation Department officials to Westerly Wednesday to look at it first hand. He made his point.

As the car reached the curve it was struck by another auto trying to pass on the inside. There were no injuries.

MUSIC

The San Francisco Symphony will present its second special concer, "Great Moments In Opera," at the Opera House Saturday night. Soprano Eileen Farrell, who was one of the special guests on Wednesday night in the first program, will be soloist in an all-Wagner program.

Henri Mancini, the noted Hollywood composer, will return to the San Francisco Symphony podium Wednesday and Friday of next week. His two programs last year drew large crowds to hear such compositions as "Peter Gunn," "Pink Panther," "Days of Wine and Roses," and "Moon River." He will again present these selections plus the overture to "Tommy," "Portrait of Simon and Garfunkel," and a medley from "Jesus Christ, Superstar."

On the pop musical front Mother Earth and the Doobie Brothers plus special guest John Baldry will appear at San Francisco's Fillmore West in a concert Monday night.

Chief Justice Gives Courts A Lesson

In gentle words, the chief justice of the United States Supreme Court this week read a lesson to judges of lower courts.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger wrote the opinion by which a 7-2 majority of the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that it is not unconstitutional to require more than a simple majority vote to saddle future taxpayers with indebtedness.

At issue was a West Virginia case. That state's Supreme Court of Appeals had held that requirement of a 60 per cent affirmative vote for passing a bond issue violated the "one man, one vote" principle laid down in earlier U.S. Supreme Court decisions.

Similar cases in California, Missouri and Idaho are before the U.S. Supreme Court. The ruling in the West Virginia case no doubt will be applied to all.

THE GENTLY WORDED lesson for the lower courts was contained in Chief Justice Burger's finding that the West Virginia court's reliance on a 1969 U.S. Supreme Court decision held unconstitutional a state law that permitted only property owners to vote in a revenue bond election. This, held the U.S. Supreme Court, constituted discrimination.

Lower courts — including the California Supreme Court — interpreted this to mean that "one man, one vote" must apply to bond elections, and that a simple majority is all that could be required for their passage.

Their reliance was "misplaced," as Justice Burger so carefully put it, because the U.S. Supreme Court did not hold in its 1969 decision that "one man, one vote" applied to bond elections. It held that a considerable class — non-property owners — were disfranchised by the property-holder law, and that they were denied the ballot because of something extraneous to the issue. That is, whether or not one owns property does not bear on a revenue bond issue.

It should be noted that a revenue bond issue is not the same thing as a non-revenue bond issue such as those for public buildings, school sites, etc. The former is to be retired from revenues; the latter constitues an outright lien on the taxpayer's property.

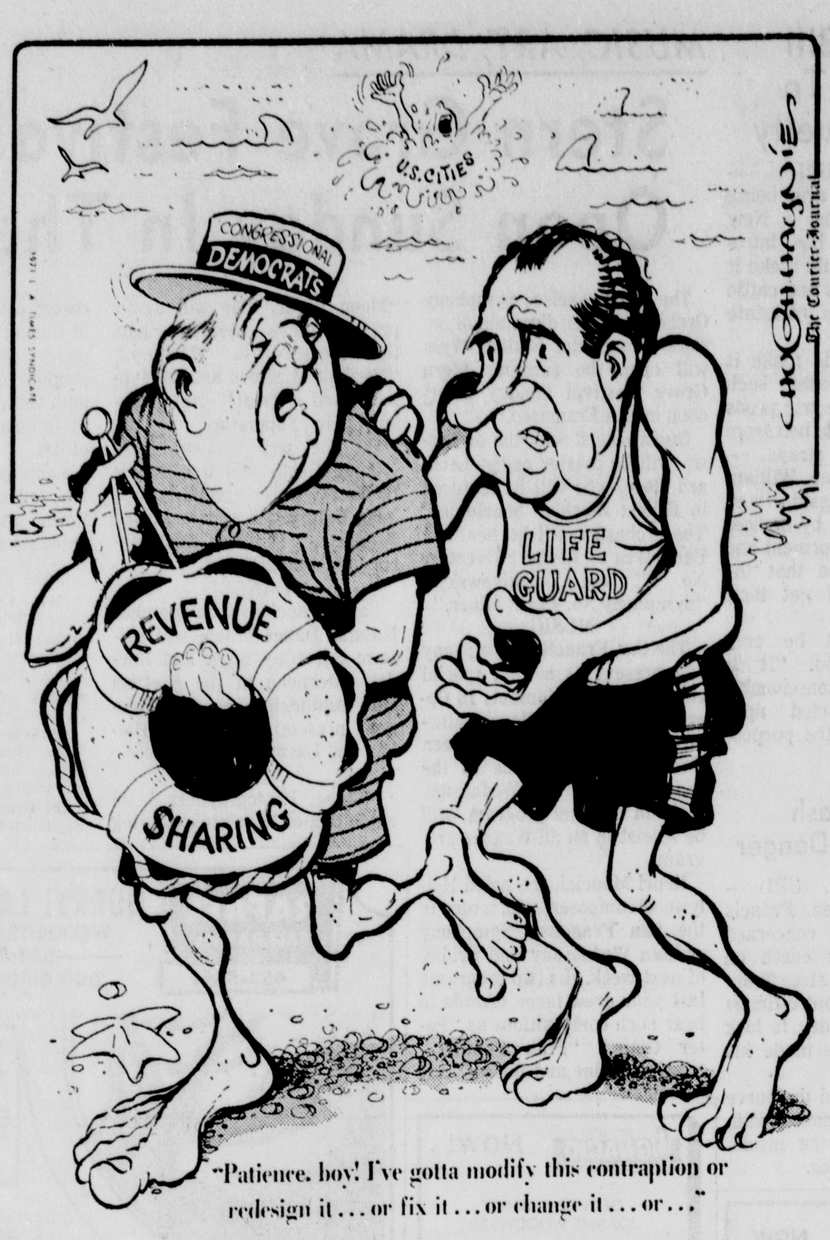
LOWER COURTS, HOWEVER, did not go into this distinction. Nor did they take note that the string of U.S. Supreme Court "one man, one vote" decisions dealt entirely with representation — that every vote should count equally in securing the citizen elected representatives — not with the saddling of debt upon one citizen by the vote of another.

Chief Justice Burger spelled it out this week:

"There is nothing in the language of the Constitution, our history or our cases that requires that a majority prevail on every issue.

"We conclude that so long as such provisions don't discriminate against any identifiable class, they don't violate the equal protection clause."

Many people — including trustees of Marin Junior College District — will be unhappy with the decision, for it negates bond issues they hoped to float. But if they — and judges of the lower courts — read carefully the U.S. Supreme Court's former rulings, they should not be surprised.



"Patience, boy! I've gotta modify this contraption or redesign it . . . or fix it . . . or change it . . . or . . ."

Appreciation To Many For Help After Fire

We wish to thank so many for their concern and help shown to us after our fire in our home last April.

The genuine expression of concern on the part of our neighbors, Mrs. Easom, Mrs. Myers, the Moons, the Rudnicks, Mrs. George, the Sosics, the Keanes, the Swanfeldts, the Gianettis, and the Pareto family made us feel a real part of the community.

We especially want to thank the San Rafael Fire and Police Departments for their fine job of saving our property and their concern for us after the fire.

We really like the people of San Rafael and are looking forward to moving back into our home soon.

It's Birth Control Or Death Control

What business does the state legislature have in making laws concerning abortion? Termination of pregnancy is a decision made by the pregnant woman in consultation with her physician. It is a medical decision, not a moral one.

Every year in America 750,000 unplanned babies are born to married women. In addition 300,000 babies are born out-of-wedlock. Estimates of dangerous, illegal abortions range from 200,000 to 1,000,000 per year. The tragedy of the unwanted pregnancy can be prevented through effective use of contraception, or when that fails, through legal abortion.

Opponents of legal abortion, such as Marie DePizzol, are proponents of compulsory pregnancy, child abuse, criminal abortion, and much human suffering. Furthermore, Marie DePizzol seems to believe human kind can continue to increase in number indefinitely without harmful effects. Does she really believe the earth is an unlimited breadbasket?

If man doesn't voluntarily limit population, Mother Nature will do it for us. As Paul Ehrlich says, a vote against birth control is automatically a vote for death control. Which do you prefer, Mrs. DePizzol?

Public Can Curb Bike Theft Wave

Step forward, Mr. "Honest Citizen," and let someone start the wheels going to end the current theft of expensive bicycles in Marin County. Without a buyer's market the ring of "bike burglars" now operating might be discouraged (or hopefully prosecuted).

To have a young son work and save for a 10-speed, only to have it removed, while locked, from the schoolyard, is frustrating. To have a bike removed from your own premises, when you're but a few feet away, shows definite skill on the part of the culprits. Aren't we, Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Public, equally as skillful? Out of every 50 persons approached to buy an expensive bike for a "low price" — no questions asked — there must be just one who will pass on some revealing information to the local police. Cycling is a healthy activity, enjoyed by all ages, so let us keep our eyes and ears open — and combine forces with the authorities to stop the "hot bike" fad.

Sheriffs' Circus: Invitation To All

May we take this opportunity to answer the recent letters from Mr. Irving Chapman, and Mr. (Leo B.) Harth of the Better Business Bureau, that were published in the letters to the editor column during May.

In regards to the giving of total figures for money received and money given to charity as requested by Mr. Harth of the Better Business Bureau of San Francisco, this information was on file with the San Rafael Police Department, as requested by them, for the issuance of a permit to meet the San Rafael City ordinance as required by telephone solicitors.

Miller-Johnson Circus has all necessary business licenses to conduct a legitimate business. Information was gathered by the Better Busienss Bureau of San Francisco as regards our statement "that over $25,000 has been given to local charities". Mr. Harth in his letter stated this to be a fact, and is satisfied that this is true. . .

We appreciate the Downtown merchants' stand on telephone soliciting for charity. However we the Marin County Deputy Sheriff's Association are sponsoring a circus, which brings to the county a full 2½ hours of good clean family entertainment for a total of $5 per family. A simple NO from a possible customer is all it takes to avoid buying a ticket. Donated tickets are given to various local groups such as Little League groups, the MARC home, Boys Clubs and any other groups of kids that we come across.

We feel fortunate that upon the completion of the circus that this legitimate business then gives us 25 per cent of the gross sales, that we in turn can spend here in Marin County helping other local charitable groups. . .

This is a fine circus with great animal acts, clowns, high wires, etc., and enjoys a good reputation with law enforcement groups throughout the United States. So for the general public, the Downtown Merchants and all other youngsters at heart, hope you get the opportunity to attend this year's performance at the Marin Catholic High School Football field on Saturday or Sunday, June 12 and 13. To all who have not purchased a ticket or received a donated one, tickets will be on sale at the door. Costs are higher at the gate, but we still receive 25 per cent of all monies collected at the gate. . .

CAPITOL REPORT

Behr Becomes 'Expendable' In Reapportionment

By RUS WALTON

SACRAMENTO — This is the year of reapportionment, the year to draw new boundaries for California's legislative districts — 40 state senatorial, 80 assembly and 43 congressional. It is that every-10-years phenomenon which follows the federal census and it pretty well determines the political make up of the state legislature for the decade to come.

The party in power at the time of reapportionment seeks maximum advantage in the changing of the boundaries, tries to create as many "safe" districts for itself and its candidates as possible.

But this year reapportionment may not be the one-sided, meatgrinder affair Democrats have come up with in the past. For two reasons.

FIRST, UNDER THE one-man, one-vote dictum, the courts have made it clear that they will probably reject any redistricting if the population totals between districts vary by more than two or three per cent.

Second, reapportionment bills are subject to veto the same as any other legislation and Gov. Ronald Reagan has made it clear he will veto any bill which he feels is out of line. It takes a two-thirds majority to override a veto. To get two-thirds in the Assembly, the Democrats would need at least 11 Republicans voting with them; in the Senate it would take at least six. That's not in the cards. Not with Governor Reagan saying that he will go into any district during the 1972 primary where the Republican incumbent jumped party lines and voted with the Democrats.

RELATIVE POPULATION shifts dictate that the counties from San Francisco north will lose one state senatorial seat, and that the counties south of Los Angeles will gain. This presents the Democrats with a double problem.

How to draw the lines for any new senate seat in southern California without practically handing the Republicans a new senator is a toughie.

In northern California the Democrats' problem is only slightly less difficult. There are only four Republican state senators in the area north from San Francisco Bay. One of these, John Negedly, represents Contra Costa County. Redistricting should present no threat to him.

Of the remaining three Republicans, the Democrats would just as soon keep Milton Marks, in San Francisco. Why not? Marks votes with the Democrats as often as he votes with the Republicans, especially on key issues. Just let Miltie keep his seat and tell them how to vote.

THAT LEAVES Sen. Fred Marler, an outstanding Republican from Redding, and Peter Behr, a freshman senator representing the counties of Marin, Napa, and part of Solano.

Odds are the Democrats will try to draw the districts so that Marler and Behr are thrown together, with the hope that the two would face each other in a Republican primary battle in 1972. It's either that or put Marler in a district where he would run against either one of two old-guard Democrats — Randy Collier (Yreka) or Steve Teale (West Point). Marler could probably defeat either Democrat in a general election.

LOS ANGELES will lose three Assembly seats because of the population in Orange, San Bernardino, San Diego and Ventura counties.

The Republican assemblyman at the top of the Democrats' "hit" parade is Floyd Wakefield, Long Beach. Wakefield is an outspoken, hard-nosed conservative who authored the state's anti-bussing law. The liberals consider that a cardinal sin. But in addition — horror of horrors! — Wakefield is working to rescind the recent legislative and executive salary increases which were part of the 1966 Proposition I-A package. That, of course, makes Old Floyd just about as popular in the capitol as a fox in Colonel Sanders' chicken house.

Gates of 'Socialist Paradise' Hard To Open From Inside

WASHINGTON — The ordeal of the Jews in the Soviet Union must trouble the conscience of the world. The recent trials —trials in name only — on charges of plotting to hijack a plane to freedom were meant as intimidation to scare others into submission.

They ask merely for the right to emigrate to Israel. But that is, in itself, a slur on the socialist paradise. Once one religious or ethnic group was allowed to leave, the floodgates would be open and no one in authority could say when the exodus might stop.

To press the demand for an exit visa, as a number of Jews have done, is bringing reprisals. The obstacles put in the way are formidable, and it takes both courage and persistence to get the coveted pass to freedom. During the past year about a thousand Jews have come out.

IN JERUSALEM recently I talked with several of the new emigres. One was Dr. Esther Eiwenstat, a Ph.D. in linguistics who had been professor at a linguistics institute in Moscow. She speaks fluently at least six languages.

When she first made application for an exit visa she was asked why she wanted to leave the Soviet Union. You have a good job, you are rather well paid, you have an apartment. What more do you want? Religious freedom is the answer that Dr. Eisenstat and the other emigres give.

Progressively over the years the opportunity for worship in the Jewish faith has contracted. Synagogues have been closed. Books printed in Yiddish or Hebrew have all but disappeared. Rabbinical and Talmudic teaching, the substance of the faith, must be done almost surreptitiously.

At the same time the price for a permit to leave has been steadily increased. The exit visa itself, if the applicant wants to go to a "capitalist" country, is about $400. Another $400 is the charge for surrendering Russian citizenship. The total comes to about $1,000, and that is a large sum in a country where savings are not only hard to come by but are a kind of vote of no-confidence in a system in which the state is all-powerful.

DR. EISENSTAT, who went on a lecture tour across the United States shortly after establishing herself in Israel, is a realist. She doesn't believe that the current drive will result in any immediate relaxation of the bar on emigration. She is convinced the extremist tactics followed by Rabbi Meir Kahane and his followers will have an adverse effect both in the Soviet Union and the United States.

The small signs of dissent in the Soviet Union —coming from intellectuals, writers, poets, playwrights —give rise to speculation that authoritarian controls are easing. The theory frequently put forward is that, with the advanced education required in a highly technological society, freedom of thought is bound to widen. The state will have to let down some of the bars.

It is a dubious theory. Intellectuals pay for their dissent, usually expressed in the publication abroad of manuscripts smuggled out of the country, with prison terms in Siberia or exile remote from Moscow. These are small chips off the monolith, and the Kremlin keeps its hold through a far-reaching system of secret police and informers who are themselves subject to blackmail.

Yet Mrs. Eisenstat and the others who have managed to get out believe that world opinion does play a part. After the outcry over the death sentence imposed in the Leningrad trial, that sentence was commuted to life imprisonment. While no one iwll predict when a relaxation may come, an interim settlement of the dispute would have a favorable effect. Israeli figures estimate the number of Jews in the Soviet Union at 2,500,000.

THE DESIGNATION JEW goes on the individual's identity card, a kind of internal passport, if one or both parents are of Jewish origin. The origin of the mother is the determinant. In a bold decree the Israeli government recently offered citizenship to any Jew expressing a desire to emigrate, regardless of whether he could come to the Jewish state.

Since 1917 many minorities in the vast conglomerate of the Soviet Union have paid with harsh injustice for their separateness. But with the centuries-old tradition of the pogrom as a political instrument under the czars, the Jews have paid most dearly.

Political Parties Wither In Indonesian Election

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Indonesia will hold its first general election in 16 years on July 3, and not one of the country's nine political parties is expected to emerge a winner. Instead, the winner will be something called the Sekber Golkar which the government says is not a party at all.

The Sekber Golkar is a loose confederation of labor unions, intellectual organizations and other basically nonpolitical groups which by something less than coincidence also includes government civil workers.

Government workers are forbidden from maintaining political affiliations but are ordered to join the Golkar.

WITH AN UNLIMITED treasury, army support and government workers down to village chiefs on its side, the Golkar indeed becomes a formidable opponent.

Opponents claim the village chiefs have been ordered to produce a certain number of votes or lose thier jobs.

Big loser in the election which is to name provincial and city councils and 360 members of the house of representatives, is expected to be the Nationalist party of the late former president, Sukarno.

Especially in teeming central Java, the Nationalists formerly were easily the most influential among the political parties.

But the bloodbath which followed the attempted Communist coap in 1965, convincing many that politics was an unhealthy occupation, plus the years of political silence that followed, could mark the beginning of the end for the Nationalists despite strenuous efforts by its remaining leaders.

IN ADDITION to public apathy, other factors also work in favor of the government in these elections which are to prepare the people for a return to civil rule.

Declared one Indonesian politician:

"The simple Javanese gives his loyalty to respected personalities, not to political ideas."

That means that the peasant who once looked up to Javanese nobility now looks up to the military government and will vote the way he thinks the government wishes.

OTHER FACTORS are the rules under which the campaign is being waged.

These rules forbid criticism of President Suharto or the government's program. They also forbid criticism of the way the program is being carried out.

Also banned are any words or deeds that might contribute to a comeback of the Communist party or any attempt to exploit Sukarno or a candidate's association with him.

One exception to general apathy among the voters despite a wealth of campaign posters and speakers addressing themselves mostly to children too young to vote, is a new group of angry young men calling themselves the Golput or "White Group."

Angered by government tactics they are telling uneducated Indonesians that "not to vote is your right."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By JEFF GREER

Air Force Lights Glare Atop Other Mountains Besides Tam

Marin County isn't the only place where Air Force lights glare brightly from a mountaintop.

Sunday night I had dinner at the airport outside Klamath Falls, Ore. The restaurant is atop the operations building at Kingsley Field, which is a joint Air Force and civilian operatioc such as Marin County officials have proposed for Hamilton Air Force Base.

Darkness comes late to Klamath Falls this time of the year. In the twilight I could see a string of bright blue-green lights on a peak southwest of the city. "It's a radar station," my host explained.

A contractor, he had just finished installing the lights. I told him about the Mill Valley Air Force Station atop Mount Tamalpais.

"They don't bother anybody here — there are no close neighbors," my host explained. "But it is hard for drivers to see the road when they're going up the mountain at night to get to work."

ECOLOGY IS a vastly overworked and misunderstood word, but seemingly everyone is paying it lip service. The doing sometimes doesn't match the talking, though.

A gruesome example is freeway construction work immediately west of Black Butte, where Interstate 5 winds around the base of beautiful Mount Shasta. The bulldozers have ripped the heart out of one of the most enjoyable stands of sugar pine, incense cedar and other conifers that a weary traveler ever paused under.

No more will anyone be able to glean the foot-long sugar pine cones that made such elegant Christmas decorations.

THE WEEKEND'S JOURNEY did bring a more pleasant surprise, though. The little City of Mount Shasta is having a sort of June snooze, with the skiiers departed and the summer tourists not yet arrived. But the town's ajingle with half-dollar coins. It's been so long since we'd seen any 50-cent pieces in Marin County that we were startled to get them in our change wherever we shopped in Shasta City.

Brand-new, 1971 Kennedy halves, they were.

STATE SEN. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, came in for a few unkind words from the Marin County supervisors Tuesday. They showed instant hostility when asked to endorse the senator's bill requiring that one of every two regular meetings of any board of supervisors should begin at 6 p.m.

"Let's see, that would get us through at about 7 a.m.," Supervisor John F. McInnis remarked.

Grace Hughes of Marin Alternative suggested that meetings with crucial hearings on the agenda might begin at noon, finish routine matters first and get down to the nitty-gritty in early evenings, to give the public a chance to attend.

McInnis objected this would be no service to the citizen who had to go to work the next day.

And besides, Supervisor Michael Wornum declared, "the legislature has a helluva nerve" trying to tell local government when to meet.

Group Considering Reducing Meetings

The Loma Verde Homeowners Association members are considering reducing the number of meetings, now 12 a year, under the association's bylaws.

This was correctly reported yesterday in the Independent-Journal but the headline left the impression that the meeting number had already been cut.

I am writing in regard to employment with your firm. I have a B.S. from USC and Ph.D. in physics from the California Institute of Technology.

In my previous position I was in charge of research and development for the Harrington Chemical Co. We did work in thermonuclear energy, laser beam refraction, hydrogen molecule development and heavy water computer data.

Several of our research discoveries have been adapted for commercial use, and one particular breakthrough in linear hydraulics is now being used by every oil company in the country.

Because of a cutback in defense orders, the Harrington Co. decided to shut down its research and development department. It is for this reason I am available for immediate employment.

Hoping to hear from you in the near future, I remain

Sincerely yours,
Edward Kase

DEAR MR. KASE,

We regret to inform you that we have no positions available for someone of your excellent qualifications. The truth of the matter is that we find you are "overqualified" for any position we might offer you in our organization. Thank you for thinking of us, and if anything comes up in the future, we will be getting in touch with you.

Yours truly,
Merriman Haselbald
Administrative Vice President

Dear Sir,

I am applying for a position with your company in any responsible capacity. I have had a college education and have fiddled around in research and development. Occasionally we have come up with some money-making ideas. I would be willing to start off at a minimal salary to prove my value to your firm.

Sincerely yours,
Edward Kase

Dear Mr. Kase,

You are just the person we have been looking for. We need a truck driver and your qualifications are perfect for us. You can begin working in our Westminister plant on Monday. Welcome aboard.

90 Days Given In Theft Case

Leslie Lee Outley, 31, of Richmond, has been sentenced to 90 days in jail after pleading guilty to attempted petty theft.

Judge David Menary Jr. of Marin Municipal Court gave Outley credit for time already spent in jail.

Outley had earlier pleaded innocent to charges of theft, burglary and grand theft, but changed his plea when the charge was reduced.

He was arrested April 13 in connection with the theft of $164 in cash and a welding hose from Marin Sanitary Service in San Rafael.

Angel Island Citizen Panel Proposed To Legislature

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Development or improvement plans for Angel Island State Park would be subject to approval by a new 19-member citizens council under a bill introduced by Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco.

The bill, SB 1587, also would appropriate $200,000 for development, improvement and restoration of facilities on the island park.

The measure would require tha "any proposed governmental action which would have a significant effect on the environment" of the park be subject to review and approval of the council.

It would have 15 voting members, of which five each would be appointed by the governor, Senate Rules Committee and speaker of the Assembly. These members would have to live in either Marin or San Francisco and "have a demonstrated interest in, and knowledge of, the protection, management, and improvement of recreational areas and historic sites and the improvement of California's environment."

The four nonvoting members would be the secretary of the Resources Agency, and State director of parks and recreation, navigation and ocean development and of conservation.

Citroen. The car that looks more beautiful after you drive it.

It's the other way around with most cars. That dazzling showroom beauty looks so different from the driver's seat.

Not a Citroen.

Simply because Citroen was built by a small group of brilliant heretics who did not care about conventional design. They sought the very basic; the finest, safest, best engineered car in the world. They sought items such as: an aero-dynamically designed body, independent four-wheel suspension, front wheel drive and automatic jacking.

Let's just leave it at this; next time you're trying to judge the beauty of a car, drive it first. If you find all these features; chances are you've been driving a Citroen.

GRANT TO ANGELA BRINGS PROTESTS

By MARY LEYDECKER

The $10,000 grant given to Angela Davis by a committee of the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., has stirred a storm of protest among Presbyterian churches throughout the country, including at least two so far in Marin County.

Meanwhile a group of black pastors from the denomination have pledged in New York that they will reimburse the church for the entire grant.

The gift was disclosed recently at the Presbyterians' annual general assembly in Rochester, N.Y., where it was reported that the $10,000 had been given for her defense by the Council on Church and Race from a $100,000 fund set aside for legal aid to poor people.

The governing body of St. Luke Presbyterian Church in San Rafael has adopted a strong stand against the grant, the Independent-Journal learned yesterday.

Also protesting the gift was the session (ruling board) of Sleepy Hollow Presbyterian Church, and First Presbyterian in San Rafael is expected to join them.

"We protest the support of individuals who engage in or advocate violence and whose purposes are contrary to the precepts of the Gospel," the St. Luke session wrote in a statement.

The governing board also said that they opposed supporting the "presumption that a just and fair trial is unobtainable in our normal judicial processes in the U.S."

The members of St. Luke's also argued that giving the $10,000 put the United Presbyterian Church in the position of assisting "the propaganda thrust that Miss Davis is a political prisoner."

(Miss Davis and San Quentin inmate Ruchell Magee are charged with murder, kidnaping and conspiracy in connection with the shoot-out last August at the Civic Center.)

The session of St. Luke's also voted that future contributions to the national church be directed to mission projects.

The Sleepy Hollow church merely adopted a motion saying that while it supports the legal defense fund, it protests the grant to Miss Davis.

A member of First Presbyterian in San Rafael, expected to adopt an even stronger resolution against the grant than the other two churches, said yesterday that the grant had come about indirectly because of a move by the Marin City Presbyterian Church.

In January the Marin City Presbyterians adopted a resolution asking a fair and just trial for Miss Davis, but did not request money for her.

(Miss Davis is being represented by six private attorneys and has never asked for appointed counsel in court.)

Meanwhile, according to United Press International, Mrs. Ralph M. Stair, newly elected moderator of the United Presbyterian Church, said in Wisconsin this week that she had received a letter from black ministers in New York who said they would repay the money June 15.

The black pastors said in the letter they felt they had a "moral obligation to take some appropriate action on the issue."

Molotov Cocktail At Bank

A burning Molotov cocktail was found nestled against the East Petaluma branch of Bank of America at 2:15 a.m. today.

Police said Will McLoud, 37, of Sonoma, a San Francisco Chronicle distributor, saw the flame on the east side of the building at 1420 East Washington Street and alerted police.

Officers said the wick was still burning at the base of the center window when they arrived. The wooden window frame was scorched by the heat.

Police said there was no evidence that the object had been thrown at the building, but had probably been carefully placed among flowers. The object was described as a pint bottle of Hickory Pit Barbecue Sauce half-filled with gasoline.

This is the second consecutive day of attacks on banks in Petaluma. Three gunshots were fired through three windows at the Bank of Marin on Kentucky Street early yesterday morning.

The "Star Spangled Banner" was made the official National Anthem in 1931.

Junior Livestock Queen Selected

Annette Bunce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bunce, Olema, was chosen last night, to reign over the West Marin Junior Livestock Show, June 19 and 20, as show queen.

The 18-year-old senior at Tomales High School, beat out four other contestants, selling more than $2,500 in tickets to the show.

Show princesses are Elaine Zetterquist, 17-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zetterquist, Inverness Park, who sold $1,300 in tickets, and Patricia Lyman, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. Lyman, Ocean Parkway, Bolinas. Miss Lyman sold $896 in tickets.

Miss Bunce, a former 4-H member will receive a $500 scholarship and the three contestants will receive a trip to Disneyland. She will hand out trophies and parade prizes at the two-day show.

Innocent Plea To Bad Check

Roger Gaillard Harrington 32, of San Rafael, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of passing a bad check.

A jury trail was set for the week of Aug. 30.

Harrington is accused of giving a worthless $500 check to Bianco Cadillac of Corte Madera in February.

Mill Valley Opens Budget Talks By Voting Pay For Councilmen

The Mill Valley City Council opened hearings last night on a proposed $2,175,000 municipal budget for 1971-72 and voted to begin paying councilmen $150 a month starting next year.

The pay proposal, which was defeated both by city voters and by councilmen themselves last year, squeaked by on a 3-2 vote, with Mayor George E. Wickham and councilman Robert H. Andersen voting against it.

By voting to begin the monthly salaries, councilmen said they were not committing the new council elected next April to the pay proposal, but merely providing them the opportunity if they so desire.

Inclusion of this item in the budget, councilmen said, will enable the matter of council salaries to be a campaign issue or a ballot measure in April. If approved, salaries would begin May 1.

Without last night's council action, salaries could not begin until 1974 under state law, which provides that no council may vote pay for itself. The salary issue still must be confirmed by a passage or an ordinance at a subsequent meeting.

The council approved $275,963 in departmental budgets last night and deleted $10,190, according to City Mgr. William H. Cunningham.

Cut were $7,500 for council salaries (Cunningham had included $9,000 to begin salaries next month), wages and capital outlay totaling $1,690 from the finance department and $1,000 from the nondepartmental budget.

Approved were the following budgets: City Council, $3,150; contingency, $35,000; city manager, $31,199; city clerk, $18,433; finance $52,025; city attorney, $13,400; general government, $31,144; nondepartmental, $86,812, and promotion $4,800.

The council will hold its next meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday at City Hall to consider community development, parks and recreation and library budgets. The meeting will be preceded by a closed session at 7:30 p.m. to discuss contract negotiations with city employees.

Three Die In Home Explosion

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A woman and two children were killed today in an explosion at their southeast Los Angeles home.

Police said they received a "family dispute" call just prior to the blast, and arson detectives were investigating the cause of the explosion.

The victims, a woman a boy and a girl, were found in the rear of the home. They were not immediately identified.

City firemen estimated about $20,000 damage was done to the house by the fire after the explosion.

Shoreline Trustees Rescind Pay Hike

The Shoreline Unified School District board last night cut its tentative budget for 1971-72 and rescinded a 4 per cent hike in the salary schedule.

Supt. Charles A. McCully said the tentative budget was to $1,128,216, down $68,024, because tax revenue will be less than expected. Assessed valuation increased eight-tenths of 1 per cent where 8 per cent was expected, he said.

McCully said the 4 per cent cost-of-living raise approved May 11 would have cost about $28,000. It would be reinstated if the district gets assistance from Marin County or legislation is passed to reimburse the district for the seashore and agricultural preserve losses, Mc Cully said.

District employes were cooperative and understanding about the rescinding of the pay raises, he said.

The board also: -- authorized hiring five teachers, Donna Issel, home economics and girls physical education, $8,802 a year; Bruce McGlochlin, industrial arts, $7,560; and Suzanne Baty, English, $9,630; all at Tomales High School; Robert Mosher and Ellen Floyd, each $7,560 a year, both at West Marin School, and Alfred Rodoni, custodian, West Marin School, $5,964.

It accepted the resignation of Joan Smith, Teacher at West Marin.

Antisuicide Center Sets 24-Hour Phone Service

After two years of preparation, the Marin Suicide Prevention Center will be ready to man a switchboard 24 hours daily for crisis calls, beginning July 1.

The service will come none too soon, according to Keith C. Craig, president of the crisis center's board. Since Jan. 1, some 31 suicides have been reported in Marin County, compared with 47 during all of 1970, Craig said.

Eighty center volunteers already are trained to handle four-hour stints once a week at the crisis center switchboard. Seventy other volunteers are undergoing screening and training, Craig said.

The center has applied for federal and state mental health funding. Meanwhile, volunteers are financing the switchboard and office expenses, Craig said.

The switchboard will be located in a Central Marin church. Other details of how the switchboard will help distressed Marin County residents will be announced shortly before the crisis center begins operation, Craig said.

The opening date decision and other developments were reported to the center's general membership last night, Craig said. He also spoke before the Marvelous Marin Breakfast Club today about the long-sought suicide prevention switchboard.

Cold Meat Turns Out To Be 'Hot'

San Rafael police last night saw a man walking on Belvedere Street east of Lisbon Street, carrying 60 pounds of cold meat.

The cold meat turned out to be "hot," having just been stolen from Colombo Meat Co. at 127 Verdi Street, police reported. So they arrested the man.

Johnny Lin Motta, 19, of 1718 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, was booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of burglary. Bail had not yet been set and he was scheduled to appear this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

According to police, the front door to the meat company had been broken and the door to the freezer left open. Police photographed the four 15-pound New York strips valued at $150 and returned them to owner Mario A. Colombo. Colombo returned the "hot" meat back to his freezer.

Motta is also awaiting trial on a charge of burglarizing a Sausalito store last month and an earlier battery case.

Test Paper Sales Bring Arrests

CAIRO (UPI)—Police have arrested an education inspector, a woman teacher and a school janitor for releasing examination questions to students, the semiofficial Al Ahram newspaper said today.

It said the janitor bought the questions from the inspector and sold them to the teacher who, in turn, sold them to the students.

Cairo Radio announced two days ago examinations for preparatory schools had been postponed after authorities discovered the questions had been leaked.

The term includes, but is not limited to, types of vehicles which carry the trade names of station wagon, estate wagon, town and country wagon, and country sedan.

Trailer. A "trailer" is a vehicle or movable structure constructed, designed and intended for use, used or capable of being used, as a residence, place of abode, domicile or shelter or enclosure for human habitation, whether mounted permanently upon a movable chasis, whether equipped with permanent or temporary wheels, tires or running gear, or susceptible of being hauled, towed, moved or transported from place to place.

House Car. A "house car" is a motor vehicle originally designed, or permanently altered, and equipped for human habitation, or to which a camper has been permanently attached. A motor vehicle to which a camper has been temporarily attached is not a house car, except that a motor vehicle equipped with a camper having an axle that is designed to support a portion of the weight of the camper unit shall be considered a three-axle house car regardless of the method of attachment or manner of registration. LAW IN ACTION

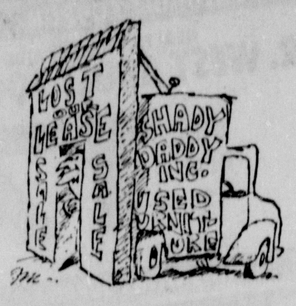
Consumer Legal Remedies Act



The 1970 Legislature passed the Consumer Legal Remedies Act. It seeks to block deceptive practices by sellers of goods and services. This law is designed to protect the buyer of goods that are mainly used for personal or household purposes. Repair services for personal use also come under the act.

It states that it is unfair competition and a "deceptive act or practice" to do any of these things:

1. To pass off goods or services as those of another.

2. To misrepresent the source, sponsorship, approval, or certification of goods or services.

3. To fake the geographic origin of the goods or services.

4. To say that the goods are original or new if they are not.

5. To advertise goods or services with intent not to sell them as advertised, or not to supply reasonable expectable demand.

6. To make false or misleading statements about reasons for reduced prices such as "fire sale" or "lost lease."

7. To say that replacements or repair services are needed when they are not.

8. To indicate that the consumer will receive a rebate, discount or other benefit at a later date after the sale.

Any consumer who is hurt by any of the banned practices can sue. He can recover his actual damages and in no case is the award to be less than $300. He can also get an order stopping the methods or unlawful practices. He can get punitive damages too if the acts are outrageous or intentionally false.

Suits might be brought in the municipal or justice court in any area where the business is located or where the sale took place.

Any consumer may also bring a suit for a class action to stop the practice, which means he can sue on behalf of other consumers similarly damaged by the unlawful practice. "Class suits" allow many persons to get together to hire a lawyer to present their common claims.

The businessman who acts in good faith or who might have made an honest mistake cannot be sued. He still has to make suitable corrections, repair or remedy the goods and services for those who were hurt.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Romans Knew Pain Of Varicosity, But Suffered Without Our Cure

Varicose veins of the legs can be likened to many worms under the skin. These vessels are totally useless in that they have lost the power to transmit blood toward the heart against gravity. The main problem is that the walls are weakened and when the passageway is stretched, the cuplike valves that hold back the blood between the contractions of the heart are pulled apart.

THE VALVES are located every few inches within the vein and are indispensable to their normal function. When they do not 'hold' on standing, the blood actually flows downward and must be carried off by alternate routes. It is for this reason that removal or destruction of a varicosity always benefits the individual. The alternate veins must be in good condition because they are doing more than their share of work.

The surgical treatment of varicosities goes back many centureis. In the old days of Rome, one man considered the possibility of tying off or removing the unsightly deformity.

SUCH A CASE was recorded in "Plutarch's Lives" (Clough, 1959). ". . . when, without being told, he stretched out one of his legs and silently without changing countenance endured the most excessive torments in the cutting, neither flinching nor complaining; but when the surgeon went to the other leg, he declined to have it done saying I see the cure is not worth the pain."

Nowadays vein removal is done under an anesthetic. The most popular surgical technique is stripping out the varicose veins with a special device. In this way the offender is eliminated completely.

ANOTHER method is to make small incisions and ligate the enlarged veins and connecting branches. Surgical treatments require a 3 to 5 day stay in the hospital.

The injection treatment of varicose veins has been popular for many decades and is still done by many physicians. A sclerosing solution that irritates the wall of the vein is used. Following the injection, the vein is obliterated by a clot.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

FEVERISH INTESTINE

C. M. writes: What does a temperature in the colon mean?

REPLY

Nothing. Every organ in the body has a temperature. Even if the colon had a fever I doubt if it could be determined with an ordinary thermometer. I assume you do not refer to rectal temperature which is an alternate method of taking body temperature. It is one degree higher than oral temperature.

VIRULENT AND CONTAGIOUS

S. F. V. writes: If a person visits a sick friend who later had a diagnosis of penumonia — could the visitor contract the disease?

REPLY

Pneumococci organisms are virulent and contagious. These same "bugs" are responsible for several respiratory infections. As a result, the visitor's reaction to the exposure may be a cold or a sore throat rather than penumonia.

THE BEST PROTEINS

W. E. writes: What is in the best proteins that entitles them to be called high grade?

REPLY

Protein foods are broken into many different amino acids during the digestive process. Meat, fish, milk, and eggs are considered high grade because of their complete amino acid composition and digestibility.

Crash Survivor Claims Safety Rules Omitted

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI)— One of three survivors of an Allegheny Airlines crash that killed 28 people says no safety instructions were given passengers before takeoffs in Groton, Conn., and Washington.

Janet McCaa, 28, a lawyer for the National Labor Relations Board, said Wednesday passengers were welcomed aboard the propjet flight at both stops but not told safety procedures or the location of emergency exits.

Her statement at a bedside interview for 25 newsmen at Yale-New Haven Hospital provoked an immediate rebuttal from the airline that it was "inconceivable" that stewardess Judy Manning, who was killed, omitted the instructions.

Underclassmen Riot At School

EAST PALO ALTO (UPI)— Roving bands of freshmen and sophomores turned Ravenswood High School's final day into a shambles Wednesday.

Fifty-nine windows were broken, fires were set in classroom waste baskets, and eggs and fruit were thrown at teachers and school officials. A storage building was set afire and two parked cars were damaged.

Seniors were off on a picnic and juniors were taking final examinations while the younger students rioted.

$50,000 Fire At Santana Restaurant

TARZANA (UPI) — Fire caused an estimated $50,000 damage to Santana's restaurant here late Wednesday.

Firemen said two custodians who were in the building when the blaze erupted shortly after closing time were unhurt.

Boyer Fined $1,000 For Football Bets

No Baseball Wagering, Says Clete

NEW YORK (UPI) — Clete Boyer, Atlanta's recently released third baseman was fined $1,000 by Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn today for admitting he bet on football games during 1968 and 1969.

Kuhn's action was the first taken against a major leaguer for betting since he suspended Denny McLain on Feb. 19, 1970 for gambling and being involved in bookmaking activities.

Boyer, 34, asked for and was given his unconditional release by Atlanta a week ago as the outgrowth of a newspaper story in which he was harshly critical of Paul Richards, the Braves' Vice President of Baseball Operations, and Lum Harris, the Braves' manager.

Technically, Boyer is a free agent now and that ostensibly would place him out of Kuhn's jurisdiction except that Boyer has had "three or four offers" from major league clubs, admittedly is anxious to sign with one of them, but discovered he couldn't until his status was settled. Presumably, today's action by Kuhn clears the way for Boyer signing with another club as soon as he pays the fine.

The Oakland A's were interested in Boyer as soon as he was given his release from the Braves. Boyer said Charlie Finley, the A's owner, had called him twice and said he was anxious to have him. Later, however, when Boyer called back he said he found Finley "cold."

In announcing his action, Kuhn said the fining of Boyer resulted from investigation of several months duration and included meetings with Boyer in his office last Monday and today.

Kuhn added "the fine would be payable upon Boyer's signing with a club in professional baseball."

The Commissioner also announced that he is inquiring "into the circumstances surrounding the release of Boyer by the Atlanta club."

While Kuhn did not spell out those circumstances, it is known that Boyer first gave the Braves his personal check for $10,000 before they gave him his unconditional release a week ago.

Under the Players' Association Agreement, Boyer was entitled to two months termination pay which, in his case, came to $15,087. But Boyer had received an advance of $5,000 from the Braves, having been paid twice monthly beginning Jan. 1, and the way Richard figured Boyer had collected $5,000 more than he had actually earned.

So Richards asked for the $10,000 check before agreeing to give Boyer his release.

Boyer appeared in Kuhn's office today with Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Players Association, and Dick Moss, the attorney for the group.

Before appearing at the Commissioner's office, Boyer told Milton Richman, UPI columnist, he had bet on "college and professional football games.

"I never bet on any baseball games though," he said. "Besides, I don't think what I did was so terrible. I'm not ashamed to say that I bet. I know a lot of people who do. Good people, too."

PRE-SUMMER SLUMBER?

New Name For The June Swoon

MONTREAL (UPI) —If the bats of the San Francisco Giants aren't in a June swoon, then they must be in presummer slumber.

When the Giants had lost four in a row to start off the month of June, manager Charlie Fox said talk of a "June swoon" on behalf of his club was a lot of alliterative baloney. Fox now may have second throughts after the Giants were shut out on one hit 4-0 by Montreal righthander Steve Renko Wednesday night for their seventh loss in eight games in June.

However, the seven-game bulge the Giants had atop the National League West over second-place Los Angeles remained intact as the Dodgers also lost.

But what really hurt Fox is the fact he hasn't had a win from either of his two pitching aces, Gaylord Perry and Juan Marichal, in each of their last two outings.

Renko followed a superb winning performance by teammate Bill Stoneman the previous night by handcuffing a Giants lineup which featured the likes of Willie McCovey, Ken Henderson, Bobby Bonds and Dick Dietz.

Dietz lashed a clean single up the middle in the second inning for the only safety off Renko who improved his record to 7-4.

"We played Dietz to pull the ball," said Renko. "But he hit a grounder right by me. I think if I would have tried, I could have knocked it down."

Renko admitted the Giants worried him in the eighth. "I put two men on base, then I had to face McCovey," said Renko. "But he hit into a doubleplay and that got me out of trouble."

Renko's masterpiece was the first one-hitter ever tossed at Jarry Park and his shutout was the first recorded by an Expos' pitcher this year.

Perry lasted 6 2-3 innings, gave up all of the Montreal runs and was saddled with his fourth loss against six wins.

The teams wind up their three-game series tonight with lefty Ron Bryant (5-2) trying to right the Giants against 1970 rookie of the year Carl Morton (4-8).

Choice Of Sports For Archie Manning

NEW YORK (UPI)—Archie Manning has picked up some more ammunition for his contract battles with the New Orleans Saints.

Manning, the celebrated quarterback from the University of Mississippi, was drafted to play football for the National Football League Saints but has been unable to reach contract terms. He gained another avenue Wednesday when the Chicago White Sox chose the 6-foot-3 Manning as a shortstop in the secondary phase of the annual baseball free agent summer draft.

Manning, who played shortstop for Ole Miss but made his reputation as a daring quarterback also had been drafted last summer but passed up signing to play his senior year.

Another much publicized quarterback, Joe Theismann of Notre Dame, also was chosen Wednesday, going to Minnesota in the late sessions of the regular phase and also as a shortstop. Theismann, who originally had said he would play with the Miami Dolphins of the National Football League, later signed with a Canadian team.

The No. 1 pick in Wednesday's secondary phase, involving players previously drafted by unsigned, was Pete Broberg, a right-handed pitcher from Dartmouth, who was taken by the Washington Senators.

Broberg, who turned down an offer reported at $175,000 from the Oakland Athletics, may be in a Washington uniform soon if owner Bob Short has his way. Short says that he'll make Broberg, a 6-3, 195-pounder, a lucrative offer which may put him on the Washington roster this season.

Burt Hooton of the University of Texas, considered by many scouts as the top collegiate pitcher, was taken by the Chicago Cubs after Washington selected Broberg and third baseman Bob Ellis of Michigan State, the last of the "Big Three" college stars available, was grabbed up by the Milwaukee Brewers.

Softballers Win Two From Hamilton Team

Suburban Auto of San Rafael defeated Hamilton Air Force Base 3-1 and 6-1 last night in an exhibition softball doubleheader at Hamilton.

Ron McChesney and Joe Nystrom were the winning pitchers. Big blow of the night was Steve Henricksen's three-run homer in the second game.

JIM GILMARTIN

It's A Banner Month For Baseball Buffs

This will be a banner month for Marin County baseball buffs with two high school all-star contests slated at San Rafael's Albert Park.

First, there's the annual North-South Marin game June 17 with Novato, San Marin, Terra Linda and San Rafael comprising the North against the Rebels of Drake, Marin Catholic, Redwood and Tamalpais for the South.

Jack Sims of San Rafael will coach the North with Al Ahlsten of Tam directing the South. The Knights of Columbus are sponsoring this one.

Then, the following Thursday, June 24, it will be Marin versus Sonoma in a classic that should pack the joint because of the intense inter-county rivalry.

One of the committeemen of the sponsoring Marin Italian Athletic Club is trying to persuade me into becoming an honorary garlic-snapper for the day and has asked me to throw out the first meatball. I'm thinking it over. Hmmm, Gimi Gilmartini doesn't sound bad, does it?

Anyway, both all-star games will have former major league stars on a panel to select the outstanding players. Among those lsted are Vernon "Lefty" Gomez, Artie Schallock and Joe DeMaestri of the New York Yankees and Sam Chapman of the Philadelphia Athletics.

MARIN COUNTY Athletic League footballers are casting nervous glances toward Terra Linda High — and for good reason. The T. L. Trojans, who have won outright or shared the last five championships, expect another fine crop in 1971. According to Coach Don Lucas, who wound up spring training last Saturday, "This was the most enthusiastic turnout I've ever had. In our final intra-squad game we scored 61 points combined. We'll be quicker than we were last year and we'll throw well. But, we won't be as tough in the line because we've lost some big tackles by transfer."

SPEAKING OF Terra Linda, that school's fine athlete Matt Bowman has been named winner of the Al Thomson Memorial Scholarship Trophy in honor of the popular educator and coach who passed away last August.

The trophy has been started by members of one of Thomson's championship teams at San Rafael High and is based on scholarship, athletic ability and need. Bowman, who has a 3.3 grade point average (4.0 is straight A), was All-League on both offense and defense in football and also a middle distance runner in track. I suspect you'll be hearing a lot more about him in the future.

NOVATO CONTRIBUTED mightily to the success of Chico State's varsity baseball team this season. John Sjoblom, the team's top hitter with a .311 average, was named top defensive player and Mike Ferretti also earned his letter.

IT SEEMS all roads are leading to Nevada golf courses. Big Reginald Carolan of Novato, the former tight end for the Kansas City Chiefs who is now a sales representative for Xerox, joined New York Jets quarterback Joe Namath and two other amateurs yesterday in winning the first day's prize in the 54-hole Harrah's Invitational Tournament at Lake Tahoe.

And next week, Dr. Theodore D. Hiatt of San Anselmo and Joseph Thurston and James H. Behr of Mill Valley will be competing in the "Jack Ross Dialysis Golf Classic," also at Tahoe.

Being a dumb-dumb, I hadda look up "Dialysis" in the dictionary and it's really a complicated word. I understand it means the separation of parts which are normally united. I'm glad Dr. Hiatt is going along. They may need him.

Giants, A's Pick Pitchers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants added more pitchers Wednesday to its baseball draft list in the secondary phase of the selections and the Oakland A's also focused on mound strength.

The Giants, who selected five prep pitchers in the opening phase of the draft, picked two more righthanded hurlers, Terry Wayne, Columbus, Ga., and Paul Patterson, Canton, N.Y., in the secondary phase involving players who previously had been drafted but had not signed contracts.

The remaining three selections by the Giants were Stephen Lewis, outfielder, Visalia, Calif.; Bill Adkison, infielder, Ellensburg, Wash.; and Gordon Carter, outfielder, Fullerton, Calif.

The A's picked four pitchers Wednesday, two lefthanders and two righthanders. The southpaws were Stephen James, Whittier, Calif., and James Horton, Ypsilanti, Mich. The righthanders were Ronald Corbett, Medford, Mass., and Michael McNeilly, Ongview, Wash., who also plays shortstop.

The A's also selected second baseman Stephen Miles of Downey, Calif., and third baseman Charles Bates of Los Angeles.

Bowman Canadiens' New Coach

MONTREAL (UPI) — The Montreal Canadiens today announced the resignation of Stanley Cup winning coach Al MacNeil and xmwx Scotty Bowman as his successor.

Bowman, whose job as general manager and coach of the St. Louis Blues ended by mutual agreement at season's end, was given a one year contract, Canadiens' general manager Sam Pollock announced.

MacNeil will move to the Montreal Voyageurs club in Halifax, N.S., as coach and general manager.

NOVATO STAR IS DRAFTED BY ANGELS

Dave Judnick, righthanded pitching star for the Novato High School Hornets, yesterday was drafted by the California Angels of the American League in professional baseball's free agent draft.

Judnick was the 784th player selected in the marathon grab bag of talent. The Angels drafted him for their Davenport, Iowa team in a Class A League. He was the only Marin County player selected.

A'S DOBSON

A Pain In Neck To A.L. Foes

OAKLAND (UPI) —Whatever soreness Chuck Dobson had in his pitching elbow has become a pain in the neck for the rest of the American League.

Showing no signs of the ligament ailment which he had under observation at the famed Mayo Clinic in April, the big righthander of the Oakland Athletics stopped the Boston Red Sox on five hits Wednesday night for a 6-1 win.

"This is the best I've pitched all season," said a jubilant Dobson. "I feel my performance was as good as any game I pitched last July and August when I had an eight-game win streak going."

However, he admitted he tired in the late innings en route to his fourth victory without a loss.

He lost both his no-hit bid and a shutout in the fifth inning when Billy Conigliaro touched him for a solo homer. Oakland catcher Dave Duncan called the home run "an accident."

"The count was 3-2 and Chuck still had a nohitter going," said Duncan. "So I thought there wouldn't be any harm in not giving him any good pitch and just walking him. The pitch was bad —a hanging curve —but he hit it out anyway."

Dobson helped his own cause by driving in two runs with a double in the second and a single off reliever Sparky Lyle in the eighth.

A combined record of Oakland's top three starters —Vida Blue, Jim Hunter and Dobson —is now 25-5. The latest win kept Oakland seven games ahead of Kansas City in the American League West.

The A's scored all their runs off Boston starter and loser Gary Peters, now 6-5. He was knocked out in the fourth after giving up a home run to Dick Green. He was relieved by Bill Lee, southpaw who prepped at nearby Terra Linda High School. Lee pitched two innings, giving up one hit and striking out three.

Sal Bando homered behind a Tommy Davis single in the third. Green's solo shot came a frame later. It was the ninth homer of the year for Green who hit only four all last season.

The Athletics have an off day today before opening a three-game series against the New York Yankees at the Coliseum Friday night. Hunter (9-3) is scheduled to hurl Friday night with Blue (12-2) on Saturday.

Confident Orioles Stretch Their Lead Over Red Sox

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

If you listen to the Baltimore Orioles, you get the feeling that the American League's Eastern Division race is over.

The Orioles, rebounding after a faltering start, recorded their ninth victory in the last 10 games and seventh in a row Wednesday night as they defeated the Minnesota Twins 2-1 in 10 innings. The victory stretched Baltimore's Eastern lead over fading Boston, which lost to Oakland 6-1, to 2 1-2 games.

Frank Robinson's two-out double off the glove of right fielder Tony Oliva scored Don Buford from first with the winning run in the 10th and helped Mike Cuellar boost his record to 9-1. Buford had led off with a single.

The Orioles, to a man, feel they're on their way to another title.

"Three reasons for our success," said second baseman Dave Johnson. "Good pitching, excellent defense and most important, hitting balance through the lineup. The biggest boost we've gotten during the streak came from Pat Dobson Tuesday night when he pitched a big game over a hot-hitting club. (Dobson beat Minnesota 82). Cuellar is coming into his own now, with seven wins in a row. I look for us to get hot from here on in."

"I look for us to lead our division by five or six games at the All Star break," said pitcher Dave McNally. "We were playing bad ball earlier. Now we're doing what we should be doing and we're not surprised one bit.

Elsewhere in the AL, Kansas City edged Washington 5-4, Detroit shut out Milwaukee 3-0, Cleveland downed Chicago 3-1 and California shaded New York 4-3.

Chuck Harrison, recently recalled from Omaha of the American Association, smashed a two-out bases loaded single in the ninth inning to boost Kansas City past the Senators.

Harrison, making his first start since being recalled Monday, drove in Paul Schaal and Amos Otis to give the Royals their eighth victory in the last nine games. Schaal walked, Otis doubled and Lou Piniella was intentionally walked to set the stage for Harrison's game-winning hit.

Frank Howard homered in the fifth to give Washington a 4-2 lead but Joe Keough's RBI single cut that to one run in the sixth. Freddie Patek had three stolen bases for Kansas City.

Less Cain pitched a three-hitter for his first complete game of the season and Norm Cash backed him with a three-run homer as the Tigers beat Milwaukee. Cain, in the minors earlier this year with a shoulder injury, boosted his record to 4-1 with his first career shutout.

Cash's homer, his 12th, came after Al Kaline beat out an infield hit and Willie Horton was hit by a pitched ball and gave the veteran first baseman a tie for the league lead with Oliva.

Graig Nettles collected three hits and scored two runs to help Cleveland down the White Sox. Nettles doubled in the first and scored on an error and came home again in the sixth on Ray Fosse's hit. Alan Foster, with relief help in the ninth from Ed Farmer, gained his fifth victory against two losses.

Tony Gonzalez' two-out single in the bottom of the ninth scored Ken Berry with the winning run and enabled the Angels to beat New York. Berry singled leading off the ninth against Jim Hardin, took second on a sacrifice, moved to third on a long fly and scored easily on Gonzalez' hit.

Billy Cowan had a three-run homer for the Angels and reliever Dave LaRoche recorded his third victory without a loss.

Fred Steinmark's Body Laid To Rest

DENVER (UPI)—Mass of the Resurrection for Freddie Joe Steinmark, 22, the widely known Colorado and Texas athlete whose life was taken by cancer, was celebrated this morning at the Church of the Risen Christ.

Following the Mass, Steinmark was buried at the Mount Olive cemetery, not far from Wheat Ridge High School where he played football, basketball and baseball and earned the title of Colorado High School Athlete of the Year.

The former University of Texas defensive back died in Houston Sunday at the M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute of sarcoma cancer, the same disease that prompted doctors to amputate his leg in December of 1969, days after he played in the 15-14 Texas victory over Arkansas, clinching the national crown for the Longhorns.

The Rev. Fred Bomar, of Austin, Tex., and the Rev. George Fagan, of Denver, conducted the funeral mass.

The southeast Denver chapel overflowed with people Wednesday night at a rosary for Steinmark. The casket was closed, but near it was an enlarged photograph of Steinmark wearins his Texas football jersey—No. 28.
28.

Some of the persons who paid their last respects at the rosary were his high school coaches, Texas football coach Darrell Royal and three assistants, coaches from the regional teams he played on, many other high school and college coaches and scores of former high school teammates and opponents.

President Nixon, who sat in the stands for the TexasArkansas victory which was to be Steinmark's last athletic contest, sent a personal representative for the rosary and mass.

Pall bearers were his three cousins, David Anderson, Greg Duncan and John Marchitti, all of Denver; Wheat Ridge High School teammate Kent Chuck; Texas teammate Scott Henderson; and John Brock, president of the Texas Cowboys Association.

A Storm Threat In Tennis

BRISTOL, England (UPI)—The English weather has been a bane on tennis tournament for years. Now it threatens to precipitate a major conflict within the game.

Rain washed out play Wednesday in the Wills $48,000 championship after seriously restricting Tuesday's schedule to only five matches.

The tournament is a world championship tennis (WCT) group event and WCT executive director Mike Davies stated bluntly he intends to keep his stars here until its completed, even if that means extending the tournament into next week.

If he does, the continuing war between WCT and the International Lawn Tennis Federation (ILTF) will heat up considerably for the pros are due to play at Queens Club, London, and Eastbourne next week.

KENT, England (UPI)—Americans Clark Graebner and Jim McManus advanced Wednesday in the second round of the Kent Lawn Tennis Championships. Graebner defeated Peter Curtis of Great Britain, 6-3, 6-3, and McManus beat Britain's Paul Hutchins, 5-7, 6-4, 6-2.

Hockey

MONTREAL (UPI) —Appeals by the Toronto Maple Leafs and the Boston Bruins against fines imposed on them by National Hockey League President Clarence Campbell at the latter part of the season and in the playoffs have been terminated without any formal hearing.

This was part of the main business conducted Wednesday at the annual NHL meetings. The Boston club was satisfied new legislation to tighten up on fights, introduced Tuesday, will achieve their objective. They withdrew their appeal.

Campbell expressed his satisfaction of the tighter laws by reducing the Toronto fine from $5,000 to $2,000. The Leafs were involved in a bench clearing episode during the second game of the playoffs with New York.

Novato Nine Loses, 5-4

Mark Ross singled home two runs in the bottom of the ninth inning yesterday to give Petaluma a come-from-behind 5-4 victory over Novato in an American Legion Junior Baseball League game at Petaluma.

The winning bases-loaded blow came off Dave Judnick who relieved starting pitcher Dennis Buelerin in the ninth after Bueler walked Dan Cader and gave up an infield single to Sam Mesa. Judnick then walked Larry Cristiani to load the bats and Ross followed with his game-winner. Bueler was charged with the loss.

Judnick, while playing in left field before pitching, cracked a home run and triple for Novato while John Kidder with three singles and Jim Thompson with a double and single were other big hitters for the losers.

Toby's, Annex Nab Victories

Toby's Truckers outslugged Terra Linda 10-6 and Annex Motors edged Holiday Magic 5-3 yesterday in Marin County Joe DiMaggio Baseball League games.

Don Bianchini, Jack Stahl and Scott Cozza each had two hits for Toby's with the latter two each driving in two runs.

Kent Heyman with a triple and single, Scott Harrington with two singles and Stan Conte with two singles, including a key two-run blow in the second inning, led Annex.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Expos' 6-Foot-6 Ranko Uses Control, Not Power

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Steve Ranko of the Montreal Expos is finally gaining respect as a pitcher to be reckoned with in National League circles.

The 6-foot-6, 227-pound righthander who has taken much criticism from rival players because he doesn't use his size to overpower hitters, showed that knowledge and poise are more important than size Wednesday night when he one-hit the San Francisco Giants 4-0.

Only a second inning single by Dick Dietz, a ball that Renko said he could have flagged down if he had made an effort, deprived the 26-year-old from a niche in the baseball record book. But, while it was the first one-hitter ever pitched in Montreal's Jarry Park, Renko was rather calm over his sparkling effort.

"I guess I'd have to say that last year, when I threw a three-hitter and shut out St. Louis 80, I was more thrilled. But I'll take a one-hitter or a 10-hitter, as long as it's a victory," he said.

Renko, as usual, did not try to overpower the Giants. He struck out only four and walked five in defeating San Francisco for the first time in his career.

"He's not supposed to try and overpower people. That's not his game," says pitching coach Cal McLish. "He's a control pitcher. He has two different fast balls and the ball is lively. His slider is his best pitch. He throws the slider as hard as he throws the fast ball. Control of these pitches is his secret."

Renko, who boosted his record to 7-4, said he might have made a play on the ball Dietz hit had it been really necessary at the time.

"We played Dietz to pull the ball, but he hit a grounder right by me. I think if I would have tried, I could have knocked it down," he said.

Renko, a former first baseman who was converted to a pitcher when he was with the Mets' organization, also contributed to his own cause with a run-scoring double in the fifth as the Expos handed the Giants their seventh loss in eight games.

In other NL action, Philadelphia beat Los Angeles 9-4, New York beat San Diego 4-2, Atlanta whipped St. Louis 8-3, Cincinnati nipped Houston 2-1 in 10 innings and Chicago defeated Pittsburgh 3-1.

Home runs by Deron Johnson, Byron Browne and Don Money enabled the Phillies to defeat the Dodgers and brought rookie southpaw Ken Reynolds his first major league triumph. Steve Garvey had a homer for Los Angeles.

Bud Harrelson tripled in the tying run and scored the deciding run on a single by pinch-hitter Ken Singleton as the Mets rallied for four runs in the eighth to defeat San Diego.

Zoilo Versalles knocked in three runs, including two during a six-run fifth inning, as the Braves downed the Cardinals. Phil Niekro went the distance for the Braves to record his fourth victory in 10 decisions.

Johnny Bench's 15th homer of the year broke a 1-1 tie in the eighth and gave the Reds a victory over the Astros. Clay Carroll was the winner in relief.

Ferguson Jenkins gained his 10th victory of the season on a seven-hitter as the Cubs beat the Pirates. Brock Davis, a rookie outfielder, drove in two runs and scored another for the Cubs while Willie Stargell hit his 20th homer for the Pirates.

Southpaw Bryant Finds The Answer

MONTREAL — Ron Bryant is the only southpaw starter the Giants have. The way he has been pitching he is the only southpaw starter they need.

The 23-year-old lefty from Davis, Calif., wasn't in the starting rotation when the season opened. Bryant's spring training record wasn't bad but it wasn't good, either. It was so-so, 12 walks in 21 innings and an ERA of 3.43. At least, it showed improvement over last year.

LAST SEASON Bryant's 5-8 record with the Giants was just the way he pitched — 103 hits in 96 innings, plus 38 walks, for a 4.73 ERA. The year before wasn't much better — 60 hits in 58 innings, plus 25 walks, for a 4.34 ERA.

So it was only logical that Bryant would be banished to the bullpen when the 1971 season opened.

On April 19 Bryant emerged from the bullpen when Frank Reberger hurt his arm in the first inning while pitching against the Cardinals in Candlestick Park. There were two Cardinals on base and nobody out. Bryant got all 27 outs in that game but couldn't be credited with a complete game since he hadn't started it. He was credited with a 4-2 win.

FOUR DAYS later in Pittsburgh, Bryant made his first start and this time he brought in his first shutout, 2-0, on a three-hit, no walk, triumph over the Pirates.

Since then Bryant has run his record to 5-2 in nine starts. In 77 innings he has walked 19, struck out 48, allowed 21 runs on 70 hits and trimmed his ERA to 2.45.

Tonight Bryant will make his 10th start. If he is successful in the series finale against the Expos it will be his sixth win, a career high for him in the big time.

NATURALLY, Bryant is elated about his success thus far and so is Charlie Fox. The manager of the Giants can't find enough nice things to say about the young southpaw.

"That young man is one of the big reasons we are where we are today," said Fox. "We desperately needed a southpaw starter and he proved in that April 19 game he was it. His follow-up shutout of the Pirates confirmed it.

"I REMEMBER how his teammates congratulated him in the traditional way after he blanked the Bucs. 'Don't forget how you did it,' they said. He hasn't. I don't mean he's expected to shut out everybody. That's ridiculous. But he hasn't forgotten how to be consistent. His record ever since April 19 has been one of consistency to a new-found confidence in himself and the fact that he has been concentrating on every pitch as he never did before.

"I HAVE a mental picture of each pitch now before releasing it," he said. "I can see it going just where I want it to go."

Marin Race Trio At Laguna

Robert Lusk, Bill Van Horn and Stuart Fisher, all of Marin County, have filed entries for the national championship Olympia Sprints Sports Car Races set for Laguna Seca Raceway in Monterey, June 18-20.

Lusk, of 14 Denise Court, Novato, will see action in the Class F Production division at the helm of an Alfa Romeo. Van Horn, another Novatoite, is scheduled to drive a Ford Anglia in the Class C Sedan race, while Fisher of San Rafael is slated to compete in the Formula Vee division in a Lynx Vee one seater.

The Marin County drivers are hoping to gain valuable national points at Laguna in a bid to represent this region in the fall All American Championship runoffs. A record number of more than 300 entries is expected in the gala sports car racing weekend at the famed 1.9 mile, nine-turn Monterey road racing circuit.

The Laguna race boasts some of the heavyweight factory supported team entries including cars from MG, Datsun, Triumph and Porsche.

Sunday's card of five feature races has also been tabbed as Model Car Day at the track. All children 12 years and under will receive free from the Sports Car Racing Association of the Monterey Peninsula a Johnny Lightning Model Race Car, auto racing decals and a special STP auto race coloring book and pen. The gift package will be handed out at the gate along with other premiums.

Practice and qualifications are scheduled for Friday, June 18. Five final races will be held Saturday and five events are on the Sunday card. Tickets for the Olympia Sprints are now on sale at Macy's and Ticketron locations throughout Northern California.

BOWLING TIPS

The length of slide with the left foot at release is optional. It varies according to the speed and weight of the bowler. But remember — it is important to maintain good balance with whatever slide length you use. This rules out a hop or a sudden stop.

Three-Hitter Paces Softball Victory

Stan Gilstrap pitched a three-hitter to lead Fairfax Shell to an 8-0 rout of Cain's Tires while Bob Phillips led Brandon Tires to a 5-4 victory over The Bar last night in the San Rafael Softball League at Albert Park.

In the second game, Phillips opened the seventh inning with a single, stole second and third bases and scored the tie-breaking run on a passed ball.

Golf Fans Pulling For Hinson

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI)— Local golfers have a champion in the $150,000 fourth annual Kemper Open invitational tournament —27-year-old Larry Hinson of nearby Gastonia.

Hinson, who suffered a bout with polio in his youth which impaired his left arm, scorched the Quail Hollow Country Club course with a seven-under-par 65 in the pro-am event Wednesday, tying the course record.

Hinson's score was worth $500 as the day's lowest and equaled his second-round effort in the 1970 Kemper in which he finished in a four-way tie for second place.

Less than two hours after he cleared the course, rain, which had threatened on and off during the day, fell in a torrential thunderstorm.

Showers or thunderstorms were predicted for the afternoons throughout most of the tournament, but no schedule changes were planned Wednesday.

Hinson, recipient of the Ben Hogan award earlier this year for being active in golf despite a physical handicap, finished late in the day to outshine earlier performances by Lee Trevino and Gary Player.

Trevino, the talkative money-leader of 1970 and wiry little Player of South Africa, both pre-tourney favorites, covered the course with six-under 66s.

Beliveau: From Ice To Office

MONTREAL (UPI) —Jean Beliveau moved behind a desk today in the executive offices of the Montreal Canadiens, ending an awards-filled career which spanned 18 National Hockey League seasons.

Beliveau announced his official retirement from active hockey Wednesday and told newsmen he had accepted the position of vice president in charge of public relations for the club.

Beliveau played 18 years with the Canadiens, 10 of them as team captain. During his NHL career he scored 507 goals. In his final season, he picked up 76 points on 25 goals and 51 assists.

"It was a hard decision for me to make," Beliveau said.

"First of all, I still like the action on the ice, second of all, it's because of the hundreds of letters I received asking me to stay another year or two. Thirdly, because of requests from my teammates to stay.

"But I think I took the right decision because at 40, you have to get closer to your family.

"It was a great honor for me to be captain for 10 years and to be associated with 10 Stanley Cup winners," he added.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. CPC International seems to be standing still in a rising market. Our 420 shares, costing $3,000, are an outgrowth of the Best Foods merger in 1958. From what I can determine the company is in good shape financially with a satisfactory growth rate. We are in our eighties and wish to leave a sound portfolio for our heirs. Can you offer any suggestions? — C.E.

A. The 51 per cent recovery gain in CPC shares is right in line with the rebound in the Dow Industrial Average from the 1970 lows. Although shares have moved sideways since the mid-March recovery high, this is to be expected after a 7-month uninterrupted price climb. Price action for the remainder of the year should be above-average, based on projected operating results for 1971.

In the first quarter of the current year, CPC reported 12.6 per cent increase in sales to $352 million. Strong growth is anticipated in foreign operations which now contribute over 50 per cent to sales and income. Shares should be retained for gradual ppreciation.

Q. I hold Madison Fund and each March receive a distribution which is partly from income and partly capital gains. This year the income dividend was omitted in the March payment. Am I right? — S.W.

A. Since 1968, Madison Fund's March distributions have included a decreasing amount from investment income: 29 cents in 1968, 15 cents in 1969 and 11 cents last year. For those same years, capital gains have totaled: $2.77, $3.11 and $1.43. The 75 cents which was distributed this March is understood to have come from accumulated long-term capital gains. Exact tax status of the distribution will be announced later in the year.

WATCHING OVER BABY

A new sensor device developed by the Codman company sounds an alarm when a baby's breathing stops. The sensor shown above is attached to the ribbed air mattress on which the baby is sleeping. If the baby's breathing stops, displacement of air from one compartment to another in the mattress also stops, tripping a combination sound-light alarm. It is being used in the premature birth ward of a suburban Chicago hospital. (UPI Telephoto)

Packard Report On Lockheed Called Damaging

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Deputy Defense Secretary David Packard came to Capitol Hill to endorse the Nixon administration's save-Lockheed legislation but wound up giving testimony damaging to that cause.

He gave the Senate Banking Committee Wednesday the clear impression that Lockheed is headed for bankrupcy even if the White House rescue operation is enacted into law.

Packard, a former defense contractor himself, was critical of Lockheed's management and warned that approval of the administration's proposed $250 million loan guarantee could be a "dangerous" precedent.

In fact, he said, if he were a senator he would vote against it if Congress, the White House or the defense industry took its approval to mean that big government contractors could look to Washington for help whenever they run into financial troubles.

37 Per Cent Boost

ANAHEIM (BW) — General Automation Inc. has announced third quarter sales of $2,582,000, up more than 37 per cent from sales of $1,882,000 for the like period last year.

Net Income Up

PACIFIC GROVE (BW) — California Health Care has reported it had a 95 per cent increase in net income for the year ended April 30 over the preceding year, and a 70 per cent increase in revenues.

Stocks Up, Turnover Slows Down

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks moved higher through the morning hours Thursday on the New York Stock Exchange. Turnover slowed.

Shortly before noon the Dow Jones Industrial Average of 30 selected blue chips stood at 915.30, up 2.84, and Standard & Poor's 500 stock index gained 0.17 to 100.46. Among the 1,403 issues on the tape, 591 advanced and 438 declined.

One analyst described the trading as a "half hearted rally" and attributed much of the gain to the after effect from the rebound in glamor issues Wednesday. Another felt there was some bargain hunting but said he expected trading to move in a narrow range because some uneasy investors took to the sidelines with speculation that interest rates were about to rise.

Among the day's most active issues were Ling-Temco-Vought up 5-8, Southern California Edison up 1-2, American Telephone up 5-8 and Burlington Industries off 1-8. Bausch & Lomb, also active, lost 1-2.

Oils were firm. Aircrafts soft and airlines mixed.

Resorts International "A" at around 51,000 shares was an active issue on the American Stock Exchange. Prices on the Amex were higher in moderate trading.

$25 Fines Given In Boat Concert

Two persons arrested after a floating musical concert near Sausalito last October have been fined $25 each.

Pamela Marie Massie, 24, of Mill Valley, and Kim Carrigg, 20, of Gate 5, were also placed on probation for one year by Judge Peter Allen Smith after they pleaded guilty to disturbing the peace.

Following the pleas of the two women, similar charges were dismissed against Joseph Benjamin Tate, 30, of Gate 6; Ronald George Breaux, 30, of Gate 5; Eric Allen Butler, 21, and Linda Susan Clearfield, 19, both of Waldo Point.

The group was arrsted Oct. 11 after Sausalito police received complaints of loud music coming from a 25-foot fishing boat anchored off Princess Street Park.

On board the boat were 10 persons with a variety of musical instruments and amplification equipment.

Police put an end to the concert — which continued off and on for four traveling up and down the bay — when patrons of the Spinnaker Reytaurant said the persons on the boat stripped in sight of the restaurant.

Death Claims

TAIPEI (UPI) —The Executive Yuan, the cabinet of President Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist Chinese government, claims that the Chinese Communists killed 47,940,000 persons in China from 1949, the year Chairman Mao Tse-tung captured control of the China mainland, until 1967.

Tenure Hearing Ends For Guitar Player

Kentfield residents want the informal teaching methods of guitar-strumming Joanne Pocta, not the "woodshed and rule of knuckle approach of Mr. (Roy L.) Smith," Miss Pocta's attorney declared yesterday in his closing arguments.

Attorney Jerome Berg, representing Miss Pocta, first grade teacher at Wolfe Grade School, fought for her right to tenure at a hearing in the Civic Center before Paul A. Winton, a hearing officer from the Office of Administrative procedure in San Francisco.

On March 12, Miss Pocta was notified by Supt. Anthony C. Bacich that her contract would not be renewed for the coming school year. Bacich, Principal Roy L. Smith, and former principal Eugene Hendsch testified that Miss Pocta's methods were too loose, lacked a definite plan of action, and she did not deal sternly enough with misbehaving students.

During the five days of hearing, which ended yesterday, about 25 teachers and parents rallied to Miss Pocta's support. They said she did wonders with problem children and used mild discipline rather than loud scolding to win respect and cooperation from pupils.

Miss Pocta testified she used methods like the "free choice period" and the child monitor system where pupils took turns leading the class in activities like reading.

If someone suddenly entered the room during the "free choice period", the class may appear to be in chaos, but there was method in that seeming chaos, she explained. She said she allowed children to express themselves but always retained control.

Assistant County Counsel Richard V. Godino, representing the school district, acknowledged that by sheer number of witnesses, he was outnumbered about 25 to 3. In every similar case, parents and teachers rally to the teacher's support, said Godino. "Her (Miss Pocta's) warmth and feeling for students were certainly recognized, and parents probably reacted to that feeling."

However, said Godino, these parents and teachers were not in a position to evaluate Miss Pocta's teaching methods and effectiveness, whereas the school superintendent and the principals are professionally qualified to do just that.

Berg countered that the school's case against the teacher is "weak, unsubstantiated, and based on flimsy evidence."

"It looks like a cheap hatchet job to me," declared Zerg.

He described Miss Pocta as a person with a "wealth of educational experience triple and quadruple that of Mr. Smith's."

The hearing officer announced he would submit a proposed decision in about two weeks to the Kentfield School District board of trustees, which will determine Miss Pocta's fate.

County Supervisors Ask Action On Welfare, Tax

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — County supervisors yesterday urged the legislature to take fast action on reforming welfare and taxation and said that without such action county property tax rates would climb further.

"If we don't get action, we're going to get significant increases," Alameda County Supervisor Joseph Bort, chairman of the legislative task force of the County Supervisors Association of California, told a news conference called by CSAC.

"Things are not happening in Sacramento," he said.

He said legislative action on issues of welfare, taxes and Medi-Cal has a "75 per cent influence" on county tax rates.

Without state action, taxes in Los Angeles and Alameda counties could go up by 75 cents per $100 of assessed valuation, he said, with rates in large counties going up an average of about 30 per cent.

The counties and Gov. Ronald Reagan have both proposed welfare reform programs, and Senate Welfare Committee Chairman Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills, Tuesday proposed an alternative.

Bort said the supervisors would rather have Beilenson's plan than "no bill at all," but that they do not "think it goes far enough or is significant."

The counties support legislation to turn welfare costs over to the state while opposing closed-end state appropriations for welfare.

Today is Thursday, June 10, the 161st day of 1971. The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Saturn. The evening star is Gemini.

British explorer Sir Henry Stanley was born June 10, 1841.

On this day in history:

In 1898 U.S. Marines began the invasion of Cuba in the Spanish-American War.

In 1940 Italian dictator Benito Mussolini declared war on France and Britain.

In 1967 the Soviet Union broke diplomatic relations with Israel after the Jewish state announced a major victory over Syria as both nations accepted a U.N. ceasefire.

Youth Is Cited For Zoo Bravery

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Bartley D'Alfonso has received a certificate of commendation from President Nixon for bravery in helping rescue a teen-age boy from the San Diego zoo's wolves.

D-Alfonso, 19, of San Diego said Tuesday he had received letters from the White House before because he wrote the President about issues which concerned him, but he said none were like the commendation.

The Presidential letter said, "Your efforts in the heroic rescue of a young man trapped in the wolf pit of the San Diego Zoo have come to my attention. I understand your quick and courageous action in warding off these animals was instrumental in saving the victim's life."

Forget About Women's Lib; Reliable Compass Best Weapon

"How do you stand on the Women's Lib movement?" asks a correspondent. "Do you think that men should play all bridge hands? What happens when the female half of the partnership has the only playable trump suit? Don't forget there are 20 million female bridge players in the United States alone, and they'll all be waiting for your answer."

RIGHT SUIT?

Our correspondent was North in today's hand, condemned to be an innocent but indignant bystander, when South insisted on playing the hand at diamonds.

East overtook the king of spades with the ace at the first trick, partly because West might have had a singleton king. Our correspondent suspects that East, the male half of another mixed partnership, didn't trust his partner to continue the suit.

At any rate, East won the first trick and then took two more spades. West dithered over her discard on the third spade but finally settled on a high heart.

East cashed the ace of hearts, having decided that West surely had a six-card suit since she could have no high cards outside of spades and hearts. East then led a fourth spade.

CAUGHT EITHER WAY

South was caught either way. If he ruffed in the dummy, he wold be unable to finesse through East for the queen of trumps. And if South ruffed in his own hand, which he actually did, West would overruff, which she actually did, and dummy would have to ruff anyway. South couldn't afford to ruff with the jack of diamonds, since then East could afford to cover the ten of diamonds with the queen.

It was very sad. South was down one, and North could have made three clubs without even a finesse. And what is this column going to do about it?

BEING SILLY

Our correspondent is just being silly. It wasn't a question of male or female. Anybody who takes the North seat knows that South plays all the hands in this column. Get yourself a reliable compass and forget about Women's Lib. (Also, get yourself a partner who knows how to pass when he has already said enough.)

The hand is not quite strong enough for a response of two clubs, followed by a show of spade support.

Bus Bid Dies

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Marin Transit Systems Inc. has pleaded unsuccessfully for special legislation to keep itself alive, the Independent-Journal learned yesterday.

The Marin City-based bus firm has been operating since early last year under heavy subsidies from the county and Golden Gate Bridge District. Its future, however, is uncertain after December when the bridge district will get into the bus business.

Officials of the firm appealed for legislation specifically requiring the bridge district to integrate their firm's system into the district's system. They made their appeal in past weeks to the chairman of the special Assembly subcommittee reviewing bridge district transit plans, John F. Foran, D-San Francisco.

The assemblyman confirmed that he had rejected their appeal. "It's up to the bridge board to handle this, not the Legislature," he said. "If the Legislature got involved in this sort of thing, then you might as well dissolve the district and have the Legislature run the bridge," Foran told the I-J.

Foran's rejection of the appeal apparently killed the proposed special legislation since the assemblyman, as chairman of the subcommittee, controls all bills affecting the district.

State Held Divided On Shoot-Out Costs

I-J Special Report

SACRMAENTO — Conflict over whether the state must reimburse Marin County for trying Angela Davis and Ruchell Magee has split the attorney general's office.

A long-awaited opinion to help settle the matter nevertheless will will be issued next week, reported Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

Costs stemming from last August's abortive escape from the Marin County Hall of Justice already have reached some $500,000, and may total $1.25 million according to the county's auditor-controller, Michael Mitchell.

Bagley said "a real split" had divided the attorney general's office on the issue, and that attorneys in the office were "sitting around and debating it like an appellate court. It's that close," Bagley said.

The state Penal Code requires the state to pay trial costs for crimes committed in a state penal institution "or for escape." The Department of Corrections, however, has declined to reimburse the county, claiming that the code did not cover such cases as the shoot-out in which Judge Harold J. Haley was killed.

The department noted that the escape attempt was not initiated by a prisoner, buy by an outside man who brought weapons into the Hall of Justice.

Bagley said a second legal issue was determination of what costs could be reimbursed. The Penal Code calls for reimbursement of "all the costs by the county for the investigation, and the preparation of the trial, and actual trial of such case . . . and all guarding and keeping of such prisoner."

Deep Water Waste Plan For Bay Up For Adoption

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — An $847 million plan to clean up San Francisco Bay is to be adopted at a special meeting Monday by the Regional Water Quality Control Board.

The meeting will be at 2 p.m. in the Assembly Room of the State Building, 1111 Jackson Street, Oakland.

The plan, challenged by sewage dischargers and conservationists, calls for piping treated waste water to deep bay waters. Its critcs argue that $600 million of the total price tag would be for such piping — money that could be used better for upgrading local treatment.

The board's staff, owever, countered that the piping system would be needed regardless of upgraded treatment and future reuse of waste water. The deep water discharge would be neeed to handle wet weather overflows and sewage too poisonous to reclaim, the staff said.

The plan requires Marin and Sonoma dischargers to spend $87 million in he next five fiscal years on projects to be reviewed by the State Water Resources Control Board next Wednesday. That hearing will be at 10 a.m. in the supervisos chambers in San Francisco City Hall.

Hearing On Boat Waste Limits Set

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A hearing on proposed federal standards for sanitation devices aboard vessels will be held on June 18 by the federal Environmental Protection Agency.

The hearing will be from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. in the ceremonial courtroom, 19th floor, Federal Building, 450 Golden Gate Avenue.

The standards require devices to provide approximately the equivalent of secondary treatment for municipal waste facilities.

The standards will become effective for new vessels two years after adoption, and in five years for existing vessels.

Federal law also sllows any state to apply tothe agency for a regulation prohibiting any jischarge from vessels into designated areas of state waters.

Bike Path Legislation Advances

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to create a statewide system of bicycle paths has been approved unanimously by the Senate Finance Committee and sent to the upper house floor.

The bill, SB 265 by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, was opposed by the Department of Finance on the ground it would cost the state $50,000. The department's claim, however, was disputed by Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post, who said the entire cost would be borne by local government.

Ber's bill would enact the Bicycle Recreation and Safety act of 1971, authorizing local government agencies to construct clearly marked bicycle paths along city, county and state roads.

Behr told the committee Monday that "this is the 'year of the bicycle' in California," and that bicycles were "a serious means of pollution-free transportation." He said his bill would encourage their safe use.

Firemen Given 18 Months To Trim Waistlines

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — San Francisco's fire department has ordered its men to fight more than fires. They have 18 months to bring their waistlines under control.

Chief Keith P. Caldren announced the deadline Wednesday, saying each of the firefighters would receive an exercise manual prepared by fireman John Drocco.

"This will cut back on the aging process," the chief said. "Three firemen died last year of heart attacks."

Drocco, who has been exercising heart patients on his own time for the past three years, said the nature of the job-long periods of inactivity and short frenetic bursts of energy — adds about 25 pounds to most young firemen during their first two years.

$3 Million Cut In Dissolution

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The 26-year marriage of actress Donna Reed, 50, and producer Anthony Owner, 64, was dissolved Tuesday in Superior Court.

The couple agreed to divide about $3 million in community property, including profits from the Donna Reed Television Show, produced by Owen.

Owen agreed to pay $350 a month child support for the couple's 14-year-old daughter, Mary. Married in 1945, the couple separated last August.

New Bombings In Northern Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—Bombs damaged two police stations in Northern Ireland and a power station in the neighboring Republic of Ireland overnight. No injuries were reported.

The bombings which authorities blamed on extremists involved in the struggle between Roman Catholics and Protestants came despite heavy security measures ordered after a British paratrooper was killed in Belfast recently.

CALLING ALL CAMERA FANS

GRADUATE TO BETTER PICTURES

One of the nice things about photography is that it can be enjoyed on any level . . . from the simplest family pictures, record of special events, on up to the sophisticated demands of the professional art.

That's why photographic gifts go hand-in-hand with graduation. There's an appropriate gift for the graduate from junior high or high school, college or graduate school on our shelves . . . and there's no better time than these stepping stone days of change to begin a photographic hobby . . . or graduate to a higher level of the art.

Aside from gifts, be sure to make good use of that camera as a record of graduation days, in stills or motion picture film. Here are memories that can fade all too quickly as the young graduates scatter into new lives. Pictures make memories always fresh and green.

For that graduation gift for any young man or woman, boy or girl, you'll find the right selection in our varied displays, from the simplest automatic models to the finest precision equipment for the budding expert.
